BULBS.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times, the Garden Correspondent says: That the bulb season is now in full swing is evident in the lists arriving by every post, and the fine samples of high quality displayed in our seed shops. For those who appreciate spring colour, fragrance and beauty at mid-winter, at a minimum of trouble, with all the charm of growing from start to finish, the first and most important point in success is to start selected bulbs forthwith, for which the bowl and fibre system is facile princeps. The next point to ensure success is to confine one's efforts to those bulbous things best adapted to the purpose, which we limit, in our experience, to specially prepared Hyacinths, the very charming white Roman Hyacinths, if you will, which, alas, are so expensive these post-war days, while the others are cheap and invariably satisfactory, as are the little Cynthellas, or miniature Hyacinths, with the inimitable little Duc Van Thol Tulips.

EGG PRODUCTION.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times, the Poultry Correspondent says:—

Those who have wisely hatched early and have now a promising lot of pullets which have either commenced laying already, or are about to do so, will be expecting a good winter supply, which is the poultry-keeper's best time. The profit obtainable from hens kept solely for egg-production does not depend on the number of eggs laid during the year, though, as a matter of course, a good annual output may be expected from good layers, but the important point is how many of those are laid during the winter. During this year eggs fell in price lower than since before the great war, and many through the country were complaining of the small price they were receiving. But, if a good quantity of eggs is produced from October till April, good prices can be obtained for these six months, and a reduction during the other months will not be felt very much. It should, therefore, be the aim of every poultry-keeper not only to get as high an annual average as possible, but also to keep such hens only as those that lay well in winter.

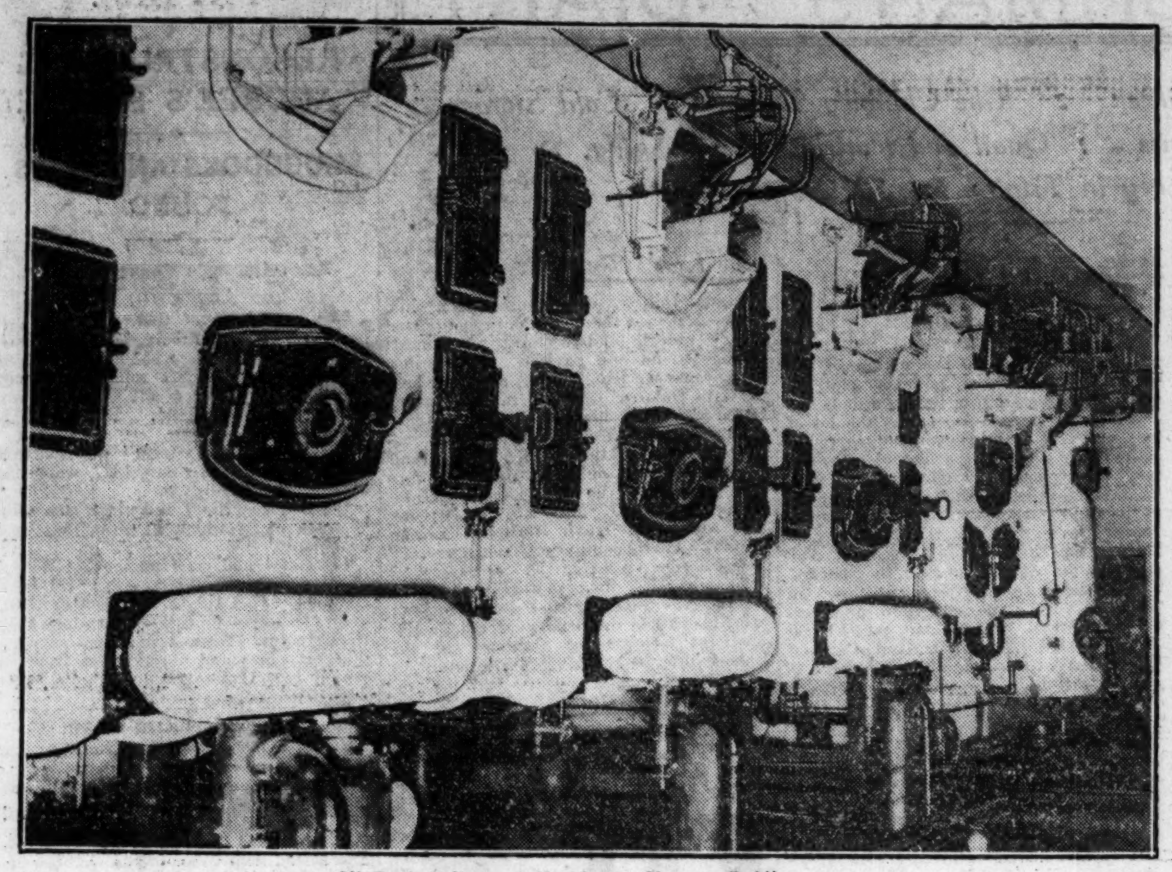
HEATING FROM OIL FUEL



Oil fired Boilers at the Savoy Cinema, Dublin.

DEMONSTRATION IN DUBLIN.

AUTOMATIC CENTRAL HEATING.

Post-war research made possible the utilisation of oil as a fuel for steamships, and to-day, except for the small coasting and "tramp" steamers coal as a steam raiser on board ship is a commodity of the past. Economy of labour, space-saving, dependability, and cleanliness were some of the immediate results of the change over, and so successful did the development turn out that a system of oil burning to provide central heating suitable for all descriptions of buildings has been perfected, and is now being installed to take the place of the open fire.

Absence of smoke, dirt and ashes, the maintenance of an even temperature in buildings and dwellinghouses, and economy of labour are some of the claims made for liquid fuel central heating. When solid fuel is employed the maintenance of an even temperature in a building in face of rapidly changing weather conditions outside is a feat beyond the ordinary capacity of any ordinary boiler room staff. The result is a wide variation in temperature inside the building. In the morning it is usually cold, hot water is conspicuous by its absence, but in the afternoon there is a surplus of hot water while the temperature may reach a point where stuffiness and unhealthy conditions are experienced.

EXPERIENCE IN WORKSHOPS.

It has been found that where these conditions exist in large offices, workshops and factories the detrimental effect on the working capacity of the staff is considerable, and many work hours lost, while on the other hand, a healthy regular temperature sustains mental and physical effort. It will be appreciated that these ideal conditions, which are absolutely impossible to obtain where solid fuel is employed, are attainable when oil fuel is used in conjunction with up-to-date thermostatically controlled oil burners. Dirt and dust are unavoidable when coal or coke is used, and are present from the moment the solid fuel is discharged until large proportions of it are emitted from the chimney in the form of soot and smuts, in addition to which there is the dust and dirt resulting from the removal of ashes and clinker from the boiler and boiler room. It is hard to find any product which disseminates to a great extent than dust from ashes.

The shovelling of coal, banging of firedoors and removal of clinker are those disturbing noises naturally associated with the use of solid fuel, and at night-time these noises are greatly accentuated, particularly so in reinforced concrete buildings with their high sound conductivity. With a properly installed oil firing equipment there is no noise, and this is a great advantage in schools, hospitals, hotels, churches, theatres, and, in fact, all types of building, including private residences. Under ordinary conditions fuel oil cannot be burned, owing to its very high flash point, and, therefore, oil fuel in a storage tank is entirely free from fire risk. It is well known that an unventilated heap of coal is liable to spontaneous combustion, and, moreover, the use of solid fuel and removal of clinker involves incandescent masses inside the boiler-room, which are a constant source of danger.

With a completely automatic oil burner, fuel is only burned to obtain a desired temperature, and when this condition is reached the consumption of fuel immediately stops. This factor, combined with the much higher calorific value of liquid fuel and the very high boiler efficiency obtainable, result in extraordinary efficiency and economy when using liquid fuel

THE DEMONSTRATION.

At the invitation of Shell Mex (Dublin), Ltd., between three and four hundred prominent public officials, architects, heating engineers, and representatives of a variety of interests, attended a demonstration of the method of employing oil fuel for central heating, at the Savoy Cinema, Dublin, yesterday.

Mr. H. St. G. Harpur, Manager of Shell Mex (Dublin), in welcoming the guests, said that to-day oil fuel was the last word in central heating. True central heating was only possible from oil fuel. Already in the Free State a number of large institutions had installed oil fuel central heating, and all of them were realising the claims made for that system—economy, cleanliness and perfect ease in keeping the temperature of the whole house, school or hospital at the required heat. The people of the Free State were very fortunate, because the Shannon Scheme made the adoption of central heating very easy.

The Shell film, "Too Hot, too Cold, or always 62," which was specially produced for the demonstration, depicted how an embarrassed householder, whose central heating system was never satisfactory with solid fuel, overcame his difficulties with the use of fuel oil.

THE SAFETY OF FUEL OIL.

At the conclusion of this picture, Mr. Norman L. Hudson, M.I.N.A., of the Shell Company, London, lectured on the development of oil-fired central heating plants. He explained that fuel oil is not, as is often supposed, crude oil, but is the resultant product after the lighter fractions, which are volatile at low temperatures, have been removed from the crude. This results in the flash point of fuel oil being very high (actually in the neighbourhood of about 200F.), a temperature which never obtained under normal conditions in this country. Fuel oil is, therefore, perfectly safe to handle under all normal conditions, and, in fact, if a lighted match was dropped into a barrel of fuel oil, all that would happen would be that the match would be extinguished.

Before oil fuel could be burned in a boiler it must be pulverised and broken up into small particles, which in turn required to be intimately mixed with air in proper proportions, so as to give efficient combustion. The purpose, therefore, of oil-burning equipment is to bring about the desired conditions, so that the oil can be efficiently burned and controlled.

A POST-WAR DEVELOPMENT.

Mr. Hudson explained that fuel oil for central heating and domestic purposes can really be considered a post-war development, and the types of oil-burning plants used can be segregated under three headings — (1) Hand-controlled plants; (2) semi-automatic plants; (3) completely automatic domestic plants—and an interesting feature was that the progress of development had been in the order of the plants named.

After dealing with the two first-mentioned types, Mr. Hudson proceeded to describe the more recent developments in connection with completely automatic oil-burning equipments as fitted to boilers supplying hot water for central heating and domestic purposes. The particular attraction of this type of burner was its simplicity; usually the whole unit is mounted on a small bed plate, which can be fitted on the front of the boiler, with only slight modification to the boiler itself, and no alteration whatever to the existing installation of piping and radiators. The operation of the equipment is completely automatic, self-starting, self-igniting, self-extinguishing and self-stopping.

SAFETY CONTROLS.

There are electrical controls for starting up and shutting down the burner and safety controls to quickly shut down the plant, if for any reason whatever the flame should fail. By means of a small instrument called a thermostat, fitted in conjunction with the controls of the burner, it is possible to obtain and maintain any desired temperature. A small pointer on the thermostat is set to the temperature required, say, 62 degrees Fahrenheit, the main switch is put in, and then the plant itself will light up and automatically operate, so that when the temperature of 62 Fahrenheit is reached the flame itslf entirely goes out, and the plant shuts down.

When the temperature drops a small amount (say 2 degrees Fahrenheit) the thermostat automatically starts up the plant, the burner commences to operate and continues to do so until the temperature again reaches 62 degrees Fahrenheit, when the flame once more cuts out and the plant shuts down. This cycle of operation goes on day and night without any attendance whatsoever, so long as the main switch is in position and there is oil in the tank.

INSTALLATIONS IN USE.

Mr. M. J. Tighe, B.E., director of the Shell Company's Oil Technical and Sales Department, briefly addressed the gathering, and, with the aid of a number of slides, showed institutions, banks, hospitals, cinemas, churches, factories, greenhouses, hotels, public buildings and small private residences, where oil fuel central heating was installed, and gave details of the different makes of boilers in use.

After luncheon in the Savoy Restaurant the parties were conducted to the boiler house and saw the oil-burning plant, which heats the building and supplies domestic steam and hot water for the restaurant. The visitors were also taken to a Dublin institution, where the completely automatic installation was examined.

SECTIONAL MODELS.

A particularly interesting feature of the demonstration was the exhibition of sectional models of various oil burners, the working of each being explained by a representative of the makers. The exhibits included the following types:—Hardinge burner (Messrs. Maguire and Gatchell, Dawson street, Dublin, agents), electromatic burner (Messrs. Air Vent Heating Co., Ltd., Merrion square, Dublin, agents), oil-o-matic burner (Messrs. Hadens Engineering Co., Ltd., Pearse street, Dublin, agents), Parwinac burner (Messrs Baird, Ltd., Lower Abbey street, Dublin, agents), Urquhart burner (Messrs. Musgrave and Co., Ltd., 19 Eustace street, Dublin, agents).

In addition to Messrs. H. St. G. Harpur and N. L. Hudson, the following officials of the Shell Mex were present:—Messrs. H. C. Blee, assistant manager; J. J. Doyle, do., and J. A. Burns.

GLENGARIFF'S CHARMS.

A SUCCESSFUL TOURIST SEASON.

Glengariff and Bantry districts had a most successful tourist season this year, the number of visitors during the summer being estimated at 20,000. The various hotels in the area were full throughout the season, and at Glengariff especially there was difficulty in securing accommodation. Visitors spoke highly of the catering of the hotels and of the hospitality afforded them everywhere.

The season was particularly notable for the number of English visitors, who brought their own cars and toured the many beauty spots in the district. Many yachts from England visited Bantry Bay, some remaining for long terms, while Glengariff Harbour was pretty well full during the season.

In Bantry great strides have been made by the Town Improvement Committee for the entertainment of tourists. In every hotel there is a special bureau affording visitors information as to directions for bathing, fishing, boating requirements and any other amusements. Bantry House, the seat of the late Earl of Bantry, was open to visitors at a nominal fee, and proved a great attraction.

PEAMOUNT VILLAGE SETTLEMENT.

GOVERNOR-GENERAL TO OPEN NEW WORKSHOP.

A number of distinguished persons have accepted invitations to be present when the Governor-General of the Irish Free State opens the new workshop at the recently inaugurated village settlement for the tuberculous at Peamount on Thursday, 25th inst.

The Marchioness of Aberdeen and Temair, founder and President of the Women's National Health Association, under whose auspices the Peamount enterprise began, will receive the Governor-General. She will be supported by Sir Conway Dwyer, Chairman of the Peamount Committee of Management; Lady Albreda Bourke, Lady Everard, Mrs. Hugh Kennedy, Mrs. Michael Murphy, Mr. P. J. Brady, Alderman J. Hubbard Clark, Mr. L. J. Duffy, Mr. Charles Jacob, Mr. William Fogarty, Clonmel, and Mr. R. G. Riordan, all of whom are members of the various committees concerned in the management of Peamount. Dr. P. C. Varrier-Jones, the founder and medical director of the Papworth Village Settlement in Cambridgeshire, who has recently joined the Peamount Committee of Management, will also be present, and will speak.

In the new report of the Women's National Health Association, it is stated that "this effort is calculated to give an altogether new outlook to tuberculosis work in Ireland," and reference is made to the good fortune of the committee in obtaining the consent of a number of Dublin business men to form an Industrial Advisory Committee to assist in carrying out "this notable enterprise."

The tuberculosis problem in the Irish Free State is best appreciated when it is realised that the deaths from this cause, per 1,000 of the population, in 1928 were 1.37, as compared with a corresponding figure of 0.90 for England and Wales. The tuberculosis deathrate in the Free State is, therefore, half as large again as it is in England and Wales, and the endeavour being made at Peamount to provide permanent after-care on village settlement lines, so that patients, after sanatorium treatment, may live and work and earn under conditions which protect them from fresh developments of the disease, will be watched with considerable interest.

The visit of the Governor-General to Peamount on Thursday will thus mark the opening of a new chapter in the history of the Free State's fight against tuberculosis.

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE.

ISSUE OF NEW ORDER.

The Minister for Education in the Irish Free State has promulgated an Order, known as the School Attendance (Hours of Attendance) Order, 1930, in which he prescribes that the School Attendance (Hours of Attendance) Order, 1926, in so far as it relates to suitable schools (other than national schools), shall cease to have effect, and that the time for attendance of every child to whom the Act of 1926 applies at a suitable school (other than a national school) on every day on which such suitable school is open for secular instruction, shall be such as may be sanctioned by the Minister for Education, either generally or in respect of the particular school.

Sub-Section (1) of Section 4 of the Act of 1926 enacts that the parent of every child to whom that Act applies, unless there is a reasonable excuse for not so doing, shall cause the child to attend a national or other suitable school on every day on which such school is open for secular instruction and for such time on every such day as shall be prescribed or sanctioned by the Minister for Education in respect of such day; and the School Attendance (Hours of Attendance) Order, 1926, prescribed the time for the purposes of Sub-Section (1) of Section 4 of the Act for the attendance of every child to whom the Act applied at a national or other suitable school on every day on which such school was open for secular instruction.

MANNEQUIN PARADES IN DUBLIN.

With the object of showing the beauty and design of Irish manufactured frocks, mannequin parades are taking place in the Theatre Royal, Dublin, every night this week at approximately 9.15 o'clock. Seventy-five per cent. of the dresses worn are made in Ireland, and a change of costume is seen every night.

DUBLIN HARBOUR NOTES.

A MATTER OF WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.

SEEKERS FOR SUMMER.

FROM OUR HARBOUR CORRESPONDENT.

An Irishman who visited Dublin recently after an absence of fifteen years marvelled at the changes which had taken place in his native city. He commented upon the modern appearance of various buildings in Sackville street, the numerous picture-houses and the enormous increase in traffic. "There's one place that will always remain the same," he said, having concluded his survey, "and that is the dear old Liffey." Paradoxical although it may seem, the Liffey, while remaining the same, witnesses greater changes in twenty-four hours than Dublin City does in a year. The never-ending pageant of traffic comes and goes with every tide, bearing thousands of tons on the bosom of its drab-coloured waters.

Where ships are concerned, the word "tons" may be misleading to the uninitiated, as it is a measurement of capacity, no doubt, originally spelt "tuns," and has no reference to the actual weight of the vessel. Gross tonnage, for example, means the number of 100 tons of cubic space inside a vessel, while registered, or net, tonnage is the number of tons of space that is available for earning freight, such as the carrying of passengers and cargo. It is not until one tackles such problems as displacement, which is the actual weight of the ship, and deadweight, referring to the weight of the cargo, that the avoirdupois table can be given its due consideration.

THOSE SATURDAY SAILINGS.

Under such irresistible influences as fate, low freights and marine superintendents, sailors, as a rule, find that their respective vessels are ready to leave port not later than Saturday afternoon, and, in consequence, that the Sunday must be spent in watch-keeping at sea. In such manner time is saved, tides are caught, and the cost of living, including civil servants' bonus, is reduced. Despite this general procedure, Alexandra Basin last Saturday harboured the Dunmore Head, the German Patricia, delayed by engine trouble, and the Charterhaven of Cardiff. The Charterhaven, of 4,315 tons, is in charge of Captain Cockrell, and hails from Rosario and Buenos Aires, with a cargo of maize and linseed.

Work had ceased for the week-end when our representative paid her a visit, and was kindly received by her captain. His courtesy, however, could only be equalled by his reticence—a reticence which, so far as his profession was concerned, was worthy of the Silent Service when the War was at its worst. Subsequent inquiries from other sources revealed the facts that he had been in command in sailing ships as late as the outbreak of war. As he was attached to the Royal Naval Reserve, he then had transferred to the Navy, where he served in various classes of ships, including the now famous Q boats. His list of achievements included the sinking of a German submarine, and, possibly, it was this action which induced the Admiralty to award him with his D.S.O.

SOUTHWARD BOUND.

The North Wall Extension, usually rather quiet on a Saturday afternoon, was disturbed into activity by the arrival of the Alondra, 1,887 tons register, commanded by Captain Scott, belonging to the Yeoward Line, bound on a pleasure cruise for the Madeira and Canary Islands. Her shapely grey-painted hull, her white deck houses and three masts, gaily decorated with bunting, were approved and passed by the quayside critics, while the knowledge that she was bound to a fine weather zone drew more than one sigh of envy from the onlookers trying to shelter from the rain. The eighty passengers from Ireland, who, apparently, regarded summer from much the same standpoint as that which was taken by Mahomet when viewing his mountain, embarked during the afternoon, and the vessel sailed in the evening.

The stars and stripes decorated the sterns of the tanker Queen Tailte, 2,883 tons register, commanded by Captain Inskip, when she called last Friday with oil for the Gas Company, and the Kerhonkson, who arrived on Sunday from New York, via Glasgow and Belfast, with general cargo. Monday brought us the Clan Skene from Durban, with wheat, and the Procris, from Oporto and Cadiz, with wines. The Japanese Tofuku Maru is expected to-day from Portland, Oregon, with wheat, and our old friends, the Orlock Head and Fair Head, from Hamburg, via Cork, with general cargo, should appear to-morrow. Other arrivals expected during the week include the M. V. Lautaro, belonging to the Pacific Steam Navigation Company, from Valparaiso, via Liverpool and Havre, with wheat.

EXHIBITION OF PAINTINGS.

MISS R. H. SHACKLETON'S WORK.

Miss Shackleton's exhibition of paintings (at Mills's Hall, Merrion row) is worth seeing if only because its varied range of subjects is a welcome change from the everlasting landscapes that seem to be the highest flight of the average Dublin amateur. Her exhibition contains a fair amount of good stuff, but the general effect would have been a great deal better if she had taken more care about the selection of her pictures and their framing. An exhibition, after all, is not a mere miscellany of pictures, but a homogeneous thing, designed to please the eye as a unity—and the eye is constantly being tripped up in Mills's Hall this week.

This, however, is a matter that Miss Shackleton will learn by experience, and at the worst it is a venial sin. As regards the work itself, the half-dozen best pictures stand out head and shoulders above the rest. Thus there is one portrait of an old man that dominates everything else in its neighbourhood, and shows that Miss Shackleton has the stuff of the portrait-painter in her. The difference lies in the finish, in this case; but, on the whole, the artist is not too particular about finish. Some of her flower pictures are closer to designs than to pictures, in consequence of a lack of background.

"Night in Phœnix Park" (No. 47) is a very good picture, whose virtues can be appreciated by comparison with another work, very similar in concept, but definitely inferior in composition, "Night on the Scarboro' Road" (No. 49). Two portraits of Dublin slum life, Nos. 5 and 9, have a curious strength that ought to tempt Miss Shackleton to try more of them, in preference to the vases of flowers, in which she seems to take especial delight. A landscape, "Between the Showers in County Kerry" (No. 31), is well conceived, and has something behind it. On the other hand, the artist sometimes fails to make her meaning clear. Take the most conspicuous thing in the room—a portrait of a girl reading. Is the girl's attention concentrated on her book, or has she fallen asleep over it? Some obscurities do not damn a picture, but obscurity of purpose is a mortal sin. In this case the sin is the graver, because the composition and drawing of the picture are quite charming.

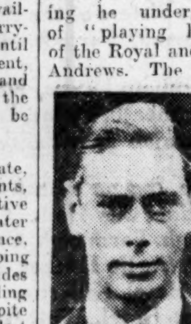
The Eagle Owl.

The Latin nomenclature of the European eagle owl is always a puzzler to me. Bubo Ignavus; why ignavus, cowardly? In their natural state these birds have been even known to attack and kill fawns, while their bold demeanour in captivity is quite daunting. All owls make delightful pets, and the eagle owl is no exception. For all its great size and ferocity, it is tamed easily enough, and soon allows itself to be freely handled. One I was well acquainted with years ago allowed itself to be cuddled like a baby. Its huge appetite was its only drawback: ten sparrows were a mere "whet." At night its deep cry of "hoo, hoo-oo" could be heard nearly half a mile away.

A Trying Ordeal.

All golfers will sympathise with the Duke of York to-day; for this morning he undergoes the trying ordeal of "playing himself in" as captain of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club at St. Andrews. The cynosure of thousands of unseen eyes, he must drive off the first tee, the caddie who captures the ball being rewarded with a guinea. For a modest golfer the ordeal of that drive amounts almost to torture.



THE DUKE OF YORK.

Incidentally, the Duke is following in the footsteps of many of his Royal ancestors; for the club owes its Royal title to King William IV. Since, however, it existed long before this date, it is probable that it was patronised by Scottish kings many years earlier.

In more recent years King Edward VII., then Prince of Wales, accepted the captaincy, but as he knew nothing of the game, the "playing-in" ceremony was dispensed with in his honour.

The Prince of Wales is one of the Duke's more immediate predecessors, and, although at the time he was very moderate, he has since reduced his handicap very considerably. Though the Duke is no match for his brother, he is a useful golfer, and is unlikely to "foozle" his drive this morning.

Drisheen.

The people of the South of Ireland, and Cork particularly, have lost their affection for the delicate dish bearing the name of drisheen. Medical men say that it is most beneficial for those with weak digestions. Drisheen, I believe, is made from blood and milk, with some other ingredients thrown in, and can be used on the table at any meal, preferably though in the morning. It is not sold by weight, but by bulk; by the yard, one might say, for it is made in the shape of the famous German sausage, though not so thickly. It is rarely eaten now by Corkonians; but Americans who come over to Ireland have asked for it and enjoyed it. I have a hidden suspicion that the cooks of the present day really do not know how to prepare the dish to make it appetising, and, more especially, palatable. If that is so, then a heritage possessed by the Cork cooks of years ago has been lost in the years.

The Chimney Doctor.

The number of people who now run their homes entirely by electricity must, no doubt, affect to some degree the time-honoured profession of "chimney doctor." The sweeping of chimneys is an art in itself, and, I am told, is usually handed down from father to son for many generations; but in many districts in the South and West of Ireland this art does not rank as a profession, and the "chimney doctor" is quite unknown. When a chimney requires attention the usual procedure is to tie a rope to a thick "furry bush," climb on the roof-top, and drop the bush down, while somebody else waits below to see that the bush comes the whole way down the chimney. It is then pulled backwards and forwards several times till the flue is quite clean again. Where turf is used as fuel the fire rarely, if ever, goes out, even during cleaning operations. In some parts a still more primitive method is resorted to. A lighted furze bush is held up the chimney till the soot catches fire. When the fire has burned itself out the soot has also disappeared.

Silent Distilleries.

Most of the rural Irish pot-still distilleries are now, I am told, silent; and I am afraid that they will never work again. In pre-war days the distilling industry was in a very prosperous condition, and the majority of the distilleries worked full time from October to May. In the midlands there were the well-known pot-still distilleries at Monasterevan, Tullamore and Kilbeggan. There were also distilleries at Wexford and Galway, but those are now merely a memory in the trade.

Skilly.

"Officers' wives get puddings and pies,
Soldiers' wives get skilly."

So runs the time-honoured bugle call ditty, a monument to the pathos of the simple style. It seems, however, that the correct interpretation of these words is not so simple as it appears, nor is the lot of the wives of "other ranks" quite so pathetically insipid as a diet of thin oatmeal would imply. I am informed that the ditty originated with Irish regiments of the Line stationed in or recruited from County Down, and that the menus reflect the habitual diets of that county. The puddings do not mean that the officers' wives regaled themselves with masses of "spotted dog"; they are those puddings made of bread crumbs and pigs' blood which are still a delicacy Ireland over, and anticipated with relish whenever there is a "pig killing" in a vicinity. Portions of puddings of this sort are sent still as luck gifts to honoured friends of the family whose pig is doomed to become bacon. The skilly, also, has nothing to do with porridge. It is a mess of cabbage, bacon mince and flour—a dish which you may have set before you as a rare treat in any country cottage of Down to this day, and, crede experto, is neither without its relish nor its sustenance. The skilly of Down, if not a fit dish to set before a king, has, at any rate under an alias, often lined an alderman's stomach at a city banquet. In these days of Irish this and Irish that, where is the Irish cookery book for Irish housewives?

The Evil Eye.

A visitor to the West of Ireland, having talked for a while with a somewhat hard-faced woman in a tiny cottage, was surprised to hear afterwards that "the woman of the house" was known to have the evil eye. There was nothing about her to show that such an unpopular gift was hers, though the hardness of her handsome face may have been caused by the knowledge that her neighbours credited her with this ominous power.

In England the first morning glance of an evil-eyed person was thought to be specially harmful, and one reads of a man who conscientiously gazed at a pear tree near by when he got up in the morning, so that the tree, and not the first person he chanced to see, might suffer from the evil power of his eye. The flourishing pear tree dwindled and died, but the very fact of the man's taking such precautions seems to contradict the general opinion of the malign temper of such a person.

A very famous evil eye was possessed by Balor of the Mighty Blows. It was never opened except on the field of battle, where it took five men to raise the lid. One glance could render a whole army impotent, and cause the enemy to flee. Like David of old, a champion was found who slung a stone at Balor, and blinded the evil eye; the rest was easy.

Hiccoughs.

There are few frailties of the human flesh for which more simple antidotes are offered than "the spasm of the diaphragm" commonly known as the hiccough. There are few things for which those antidotes prove more completely useless. The hiccougher is told to hold his breath, which is all very well until the spasm occurs again; he is told to take a long drink of water, or to sip some water very slowly. A well-meaning friend will yell suddenly or leap into the air, or bring a hand down on a table where cups and saucers rattle alarmingly, and the fright caused by this behaviour is supposed to cure the hiccough. Sometimes, however, it gives someone else a hiccough, "with the dint of fear." This last cure is not a new one; hundreds of years ago someone wrote of a sufferer from this distressing spasm, "when he yesketh next tell hym some strange newes, and he shall leave it."

One old cure has happily gone out of fashion. "Wet the forefinger," we are told, "and cross the front of the left shoe or boot three times, repeating the Lord's Prayer backwards."

The Ladies of Llangollen.

One of the most interesting volumes of belles-lettres which the new publishing season brings forth is a volume of the letters of the "ladies of Llangollen." The two ladies were Lady Eleanor Butler and Sarah Ponsonby, both members of well-known Irish families. They formed a romantic attachment and fled from Kilkenny, finally settling in North Wales at Llangollen. Here they lived for fifty years and became famous for their eccentricity. The Duke of Wellington secured them a pension of £200 per annum in 1829.

Charles Mathews, the actor, left a minute description of them in his Memoirs. "There is," he said, "not one point to distinguish them from men; the dressing of their hair; their well-starched neck cloths; the upper part of their habits, which they always wear, even at a dinner party, made them precisely like men's coats, and regular black beaver men's hats." They lived to the ages of ninety and seventy-six.

The King's Tutor.

Canon Dalton, who enters upon his ninety-first year this week, is probably the King's oldest, and certainly his most valued, friend and adviser. He was for many years the King's tutor, and later had the late Duke of Clarence in his charge. He accompanied his two pupils on their first visit to the Colonies.

That Canon Dalton should be a strong Conservative is only natural. In this case, however, the old adage, "Like father like son," does not apply; for his son, Dr. Hugh Dalton, is the present Parliamentary Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs. A lecturer on Economics, he early showed pronounced leanings towards socialistic economics, and after his call to the Bar he entered Parliament as member for Peckham in the Labour interest in the 1924 election.

Hockey in Trinity.

The Dublin University Hockey Club, which opens its season to-morrow, has an unenviable problem to contend with in finding a suitable back line to replace that which has suffered such severe depletions by the absence of F. B. Moynihan, the club's international goalkeeper, and the two full-backs, R. P. McGarrigle and J. E. R. Keyms, last season's captain. Both Mr. Keyms and Mr. McGarrigle are interprovincial players, and, together with Mr. Moynihan, have been the mainstay of the Trinity defence for some few seasons. There is, of course, some promising material among the juniors, and some of the newcomers also may fill a vacancy. In this respect W. Morgan, the C.Y.M.S. custodian, who is reported to have entered College, may prove an acquisition, if he decides to play for Trinity.

MR. J. E. R. KEYMS.

Irish Professor's American Honour.

Professor Michael Joseph Mahony, S.J., M.A., Ph.D., who has been honoured by Marquette University, U.S.A., by the conferment upon him of the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws, is a native of New Burgess, Ballylooby, County Tipperary (where his parents were both well known), and he will this week celebrate his seventieth birthday.

He studied at Mungret College, and took his degree at the Royal University of Ireland in 1885. He passed on to Woodstock College in 1889, and was later at Milltown Park, Dublin. He had previously joined the Society of Jesuits, and, going out to the United States, became Professor of Latin, Greek and English at the St. Francis Xavier College at New York.

He left there in 1905 for the Holy Cross College at Worcester (Mass.), and in 1911 was appointed Professor of Logic and Metaphysics at Fordham University, New York, where he is now Professor of Philosophy and the History of Philosophy.

Quail and Partridge.

A correspondent writes:—Your paragraph on quails reminds me of a curious piece of information I heard long ago; I cannot vouch for its accuracy. An elderly relative with whom I happened to be discussing sport told me that when he was a boy in County Cork he remembered his father bringing home quails. Later, when he was able to accompany his father on shooting expeditions, they often made excellent bags of partridges, and his father told him that since the extermination of the once numerous quail, the partridges had greatly increased. Apparently they and the quail did not agree, and the quail drove the partridges away. In view of the quarrelsome disposition of the quail, this does not seem improbable. Quail flesh has some peculiarly cloying quality, and I have heard of a bet that a man would not devour a quail a day for a month. Two days before the bet fell due the challenged retired, unable to fulfil the conditions, though he was only two birds off the wager.

Cold Storage.

Gourmets that like their game "well hung," whose pheasants are hung up by the tail until they fall to the larder floor, are completely outdone by some Russians, of whom I read recently. Within the last five years or so the Bolsheviks severely punished a Siberian woman for selling mammoth flesh. The great frozen carcass had been thrown up from some river by a flood, as not infrequently happens, and the thrifty dame, with an eye to business, secured a quantity of the meat. How many thousand years it had been buried no one knows. It evidently was quite edible, but I should be interested to learn how it tasted.

BROTHERS RESCUED FROM DROWNING.

ALSATIAN DOG ASSISTS.

Frank Slattery (5) fell into the river at Tullamore. Peter Slattery (10), his brother, who was with him, sent a boy, named Dunne, to give the alarm. Peter then jumped into the river to save his brother. The water was about fourteen feet deep, and the river was in flood. Frank was carried away by the strong current, and Peter getting into difficulties, an Alsatian dog, which accompanied the boys, caught hold of him and helped him to safety.

In the meantime another brother, Thomas Slattery (17), arrived on the scene, plunged into the water and swam after Frank. After swimming a distance of over two hundred yards he came up with his younger brother and brought him to the bank.

The three boys were exhausted. They were attended to at their home by Doctors McMichael, Wade and Moorhead, and now have fully recovered.

OBITUARY.

MR. J. NICHOLL.

The death of Mr. John Nicholl, Assistant Secretary of the Royal Ulster Agricultural Society, took place in Belfast yesterday, after a brief illness. Mr. Nicholl had a remarkable memory for the most minute details in exhibits and kindred matters, and was a veritable mine of information on agricultural and stock matters. He became connected with the old North East Ulster Agricultural Association, with offices at Ulster Bank Chambers, Waring street, Belfast, nearly forty years ago. When the organisation merged into the present Royal Ulster Agricultural Society Mr. Kenneth McRae was the secretary. He was Mr. McRae's right-hand man for many years, and was of invaluable assistance to his successor, Mr. S. Clarke.

Mr. Nicholl lived with his father, Mr. William Nichell, and his sisters at Craignageragh, Cregagh road, Belfast.

LOST EXPLORERS' PAPERS.

RECONSTRUCTING ANDREE'S STORY.

LOGBOOKS AND MAPS FOUND.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

STOCKHOLM, Tuesday.

The committee of three Swedish professors, Messrs. Lithberg, Gunnar Anderson and Ahlmann, who have been investigating the Andrée relics, have published an inventory of all the documents found on Giles Land. These are as follows:—

(1) Andrée's diary from the period from July 11th to October 2nd, 1897, which has already been published.

(2) A second diary of Andrée, consisting of some pages which have not yet been deciphered.

(3) Notes and an almanack of Strindberg, containing short, sporadical notes from the period July 11th to October 10th, with two pages of full observations from the days July 11th to 19th; forty-one pages of short notes and observations from the period July 11th to 15th, and some short-hand notes not yet transcribed.

LOGBOOKS AND MAPS.

(4) A logbook kept by Strindberg from July 15th to September 4th, consisting of 120 written pages in octavo, containing, chiefly, astronomical observations and, at the end of the little book, menus, etc.

(5) Another logbook of Strindberg for the period September 5th to October 2nd, consisting of fourteen written pages, containing astronomical observations, some figures, a map, etc., and, at the end, nine pages referring to the period from July 21st to 31st, not yet deciphered.

(6) Strindberg's calendar from 1896, not containing notes about the expedition of 1897.

(7) Two maps drawn by Strindberg on a small scale, one referring to the balloon voyage and the other to the march over the ice, and a leaflet with a drawing of a bird.

(8) The meteorological journal kept by Fraenkel during the march over the ice on October 3rd, containing twenty-three written pages.

(9) Fraenkel's almanack from 1897, which does not contain notes regarding the expedition.

(11) A collection of private letters to Fraenkel.

The last-mentioned two collections have not been touched by the committee.

THE COMMITTEE'S TASK.

The committee immediately on arrival at Stockholm yesterday started on the work of the preservation and editing of the documents. It is possible that the second diary of Andrée may be rendered decipherable by expert treatment. The chronological summary of the balloon journey is being made the basis of all the documents. The first careful examination of the documents showed that some reports published in the Press regarding the expedition were wrong on important points owing to misreading of the writing.

The committee hopes to be able to get out a preliminary description of the final stage of the explorers' stay on Giles Land. For the compilation of such a description it will be necessary to study the second Andrée diary, which it has not yet been found possible to read, and also to consult experts on Polar journeys who have wintered in the Arctic in conditions similar to those on Giles Land.

THE PRINCE OF WALES.

FUTURE ENGAGEMENTS.

The Prince of Wales, who was expected to return to London by air from Paris yesterday, cancelled his flight, owing to bad weather on the French side of the Channel. Mr. E. H. Fielden, the Prince's pilot, flew the Prince's private aeroplane from London to Paris early yesterday in readiness for the flight. If the weather improves, the Prince may return to-day.

The Prince has a number of official engagements to fulfil after his brief holiday. On October 7th he will attend a meeting at the Mansion House in connection with the Anglo-Spanish Institute. On October 14th he will visit Christ's Hospital School at Horsham, of which he is President, to inspect a new science block. On the 21st, as Master of the Merchant Navy and Fishing Fleets, he will visit Yarmouth; where he will open a new bridge, and be welcomed by fishing fleets gathered in the harbour. On October 23rd he will attend the centenary dinner of the Royal Geographical Society, and on the 30th he will inspect the experimental "Village College," conducted under the auspices of the Board of Education, at Sawston, near Cambridge.

PRINCESS MARGARET ROSE.

THE CHRISTENING.

It was officially announced last night that no detailed arrangements for the christening of Princess Margaret Rose, the infant daughter of the Duke and Duchess of York, have yet been made. The date of the ceremony has not been fixed, and no arrangements for the use of Jordan water or of the christening robe used for the Prince of Wales have been made.

LINER'S RACE AGAINST TIME

TO EVADE CANADIAN TARIFF.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

WELLINGTON, Monday.

The possibility of a race against time to unload 50,000 boxes of New Zealand butter in the Canadian market before the operation of the increased duty gives unusual interest to the voyage of the liner Niagara, which sailed for Vancouver from Auckland to-night. The vessel is due in Vancouver two days before the operation of the higher duties is due to commence. Should the Niagara be delayed, arrangements have been made to unload the whole consignment at Victoria, Vancouver Island. The documents are being sent to Vancouver by aeroplane.

R.A.C. TOURIST TROPHY RACE.

MERCEDES-BENZ APPEAL DISMISSED.

An appeal by Captain Malcolm Campbell against the decision of the Stewards of the Royal Automobile Club Tourist Trophy Race, 1930, excluding the Mercédès-Benz car, driven by Herr Rudolf Caracciola, by reason of its failure to comply with the regulations, was heard by the Stewards of the Royal Automobile Club yesterday. The appeal was dismissed, the protest fee being returned.

The Stewards present at the meeting were:—Lord Cozens-Hardy, Lord Weir of Eastwood, the Hon. Sir Arthur Stanley, Brigadier-General Sir Henry Capel Lofft Holden and Mr. Percy Short.

Caracciola was disqualified at Belfast because the super-charger of his car was not of the standard pattern. He refused to change the super-charger and withdrew from the race.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON'S LOVING CUP.

FUND TO BE CLOSED.

FROM THE PRESS ASSOCIATION SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

NEW YORK, Tuesday.

The fund which was recently opened to present a loving cup to Sir Thomas Lipton as a sign of the great admiration that the American public have for him is shortly to be closed. Mayor Walker stated to-day that more than enough had already been subscribed, and it was probable that any further donations would be returned. A suitable inscription for the cup has not yet been chosen.

Boston started a separate fund to present a cup of its own to Sir Thomas Lipton. At the end of the first day the fund had realised eight hundred and eighty dollars. The subscription list was headed by the Mayor.

SHAMROCK'S RETURN.

Shamrock V. arrived at Bristol, Rhode Island, yesterday, and began to take out the mast to shorten it for the return journey across the Atlantic. The mast will not only have the upper portion removed, but will have a section sawn off its heel, before it is re-stepped. The challenger will, therefore, make the trip home under less rig than she carried to America.

The Shamrock will be commanded on the return trip by Captain George Paul, who was responsible for her navigation to America. Captain Heard is her racing skipper, and not her navigator. Colonel D. Neil denied that there was any truth in the report that Captain Heard had refused to sail back in her, though he is returning to England in a liner, but added that it was true that certain members of the crew had declined, and their places would be taken by volunteers from the Enterprise.

Colonel Neil said that Captain Heard would race the Shamrock for Sir Thomas Lipton next season. Sir Thomas's yacht, Erin, had left New York for Bristol, Rhode Island, where she will wait for about ten days until the Shamrock is ready for her return journey. The Erin will either take her in tow, or act as convoy on the trip back to England.

HOSPITAL READING.

THE CURATIVE VALUE OF BOOKS.

Mr. L. Stanley Jast, Chief Librarian of the Manchester Public Libraries, in his presidential address to the Library Association at Cambridge yesterday, declared that the machine was now lord of man. They were already familiar with the effect of the machine upon the Press.

It was true that literature other than magazine literature and fiction was more resistent to the mechanical formula, but, unfortunately, it was not impervious. The general Press was already standardised, and there were signs of the gradual disappearance of the local newspaper in favour of the localised general Press—a consummation to be regretted; for it would herald a further decay in local patriotism.

The importance of suitable books for hospital patients was touched upon in the later addresses. Miss P. Redmayne, Honorary Librarian, St. Thomas's Hospital, London, said that the harm that could be done in many cases was incalculable, and the actual supply of books asked for might retard a recovery.

Miss Perrie Jones, Supervisor of State Institutional Libraries, St. Paul, Minnesota, said that the curative value of the book was the test for its selection. Doctors regarded selected reading as an important factor in treating nerve and mental cases. Books might be an important therapeutic agent in the hospital of to-day.

The Conference will be continued to-day.

ORDERS ON BANKS.

SCHEME TO HELP BUSINESS MEN.

The Press Association understands that the English banks are considering the extension of a scheme, now in operation, which will considerably reduce the number of cheques passing through the bankers' clearing house. If customers take full advantage of the scheme, it will mean a considerable loss in revenue to the British Treasury.

For many years it has been possible for an individual to pay his insurance premium, his subscription to a golf club or hospital—indeed and regular payment—through an order on his bank. This saves the customer the cost of the twopenny stamp on the cheque and postage. Railways and other public companies always instruct the bank to credit the shareholder direct with the sum due to him. That represents a great saving in stamp duty, and also in clerical work.

PAYMENT OF ACCOUNTS.

The banks now propose that this scheme should be extended to business men for the payment of their ordinary accounts.

"What is good law for the railway companies is good law for the grocer or anybody else," an Inland Revenue official said to a Press Association reporter yesterday. "A specific scheme was put to us by the bankers, and, having seen the documents, we say that under the scheme they are not liable to stamp duty.

"Naturally, the loss to the Treasury will depend upon the extent to which customers of the banks avail themselves of the scheme.

"It has its advantages and disadvantages. Once an order is given to a bank to make a regular payment on your behalf, the first payment must be stamped, but after that the document is good for an indefinite period without any further stamp duty.

"Thus, if a motorist orders his bank to pay his annual subscription to the Automobile Association or the Royal Automobile Club, he only pays stamp duty on the first payment, and saves it, together with the cost of postage, on all subsequent payments."

CHEQUE STAMP DUTY.

In the case of a big business firm, the number of cheques sent out monthly or quarterly might run into thousands. Under this scheme they would merely instruct their bank to make the payments, which would be done by an arrangement which exists between the big banks.

"Of course," said a banker, "this would mean a tremendous saving in actual cost and clerical work. The banks, however, could not transact their business without payment for their services, but the customer would gain a good deal more than he would pay."

Some years ago a scheme was initiated with the object of saving the twopenny cheque duty on all payments of £2 and under. Books of "unstamped receipts," or "chequelets," were to be used, but as the result of a test case it was held that such documents were subject to stamp duty, and the scheme was abandoned.

IRISH LANGUAGE PROSPECTS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—The headings of your report in to-day's Irish Times of the proceedings at the annual meeting of the Ard-Chraobh of the Gaelic League give your readers the impression that the outlook of some of the speakers was tinged with an undue pessimism with regard to the ultimate result of the struggle for the salvation of the national tongue. Such was by no means the case. The headings in question may have arisen from a remark which I made in dealing with the condition of the language in the Gaeltacht. I stated that the position there, as far as I could judge, had not improved during the past year; that nothing effective was being done to stay the decay of the spoken tongue, and, if matters were allowed to drift as at present, there was an acute danger of losing the Gaeltacht altogether.

If, on occasions like this, speakers who realise the supreme importance of the preservation of the Gaeltacht for the success of our struggle express their anxiety regarding its neglect, and sound a note of warning, it is scarcely fair to misinterpret such warning as a signal of despair, as you do. Irish Irelanders in general have no such feeling, and are fully confident of the ultimate triumph of our cause.—Yours, etc.,

WORLD'S BIGGEST AIRSHIP.

INDIA FLIGHT OF R 101.

EXPECTED TO LEAVE NEXT MONTH.

It is probable that R 101 will start on her flight to India early next month. A trial flight lasting twenty-four hours will be made before she sails to test the new bay which has been inserted; also the new reversible engines and the new cover over the main part of the ship.

The new bay has increased the length of the ship by 45 feet and her gas capacity by 500,000 cubic feet.

SURPRISING FIGURES.

R 101 is now the largest airship in the world. The following figures give an indication of her enormous bulk:—

Gas capacity—5,500,000 cubic feet.
Maximum length—777 feet.
Diameter—132 feet.
Maximum height—140 feet.
Number of engines—Five.
Maximum horse-power—2,925.

Previously, with four engines available for forward working, the best speed of R 101 was, roughly, seventy miles an hour. It is expected that this will be increased by five miles an hour.

ALMOST READY.

The work of improvement began at Cardington at the end of July, and is now almost finished.

Lord Thomson, the Secretary of State for Air, intends to travel in the airship to India and back if circumstances permit.

THE FLIGHT TO AUSTRALIA.

CAPTAIN MATTHEWS STILL DOING WELL.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

ALLAHABAD, Tuesday.

Captain Matthews, the English airman, who is flying to Australia in a Puss-Moth machine, arrived here at 4.40 this afternoon from Karachi, thus maintaining his 24-hour lead over the "record" set up by Bert Hinkler.

FRENCH AEROPLANE'S FALL.

DWELLINGHOUSE WRECKED.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

PARIS, Tuesday.

A military aeroplane fell at Neuilly-Plaisance, a south-eastern suburb of Paris, and crashed through the roof of a house.

Both occupants of the machine made safe descents by parachute, and no one was hurt in the house, which was left in such a perilous state that it has been evacuated.

THE TRANS-ATLANTIC FLIGHT.

AIRMEN TO "HOP OFF" TO-DAY.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

CHARLOTTETOWN, PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND, Tuesday.

Captain Erroll Boyd, Canadian air pilot, and his navigator, Harry Connor, who started from Montreal on September 13th on a trans-Atlantic flight via Newfoundland and were forced down here, resumed their flight this afternoon for Harbour Grace, Newfoundland, whence they plan to "hop-off" for England to-morrow.

COLLISION WITH A CAISSON.

H.M.S. Ark Royal, a naval seaplane carrier, met with an accident while leaving Chatham Dockyard for Portsmouth yesterday. As she was coming out of the basin she collided with a caisson, which was damaged so considerably as to be in danger of sinking.

The extent of the damage to the Ark Royal cannot be ascertained until she is in dry dock. It was found necessary to postpone her departure for Portsmouth.

HUNTSMAN'S FUNERAL.

BEARERS IN PINK COATS.

Bearers in hunting pink attended the funeral at Atherstone, Warwickshire, yesterday, of Mr. Gorden Knight, of Hinckley, huntsman to the Old Surrey and Burstowe Hounds, who was fatally injured while cub-hunting. There was a large following of hunting folk at the Service at the parish church, and the coffin was borne on a motor hearse heavily laden with wreaths. The bearers were the first and second whips of Mr. Knight's Hunt and of the Pytchley, with which he was first whip for three seasons.

WEATHER FORECAST.

General Inference.—A complex depression lies off the North-Western and Northern coasts, while secondary disturbances are likely to pass north-eastward across the British Isles. Further rain at times is expected in all districts.

North-West, North-East, South-East and South-West Ireland.—Fresh or strong winds, between south and west, stronger at times locally; cloudy; rain at times; close and humid.

Sea Passages.—Irish Sea and St. George's Channel.—Strong southerly or south-westerly winds, stronger at times; cloudy; rain at times; sea rough.

RUSSIAN CINEMA FIRE.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

MOSCOW, Tuesday.

Twenty-seven people were severely burned and 48 injured in a fire at a cinema held in the school building of the village of Khiting, near Minsk.

BURNED TO DEATH.

INQUEST ON ULSTER POLICE OFFICER.

WITNESS'S STORY OF RESCUE EFFORTS.

BELFAST, Tuesday.

The inquest took place at Newtownards this evening on Lieut.-Colonel Goodwin, C.M.G., D.S.O., Commandant of the Royal Ulster Constabulary camp at Newtownards, who was burned to death in his motor car on Monday evening.

The body could not be identified, but a piece of cloth from his trousers and portion of a pair of braces recovered from the wrecked car were identified, as well as a cigarette case and a bunch of keys.

William Watterson, of Mill street, Comber, the only person who saw the accident, said that he was following behind the car on his motor cycle when he saw a blaze. Flames were rising up and down inside the car, and he then tried to overtake it to warn the driver, who did not seem to be aware of the fire. The car kept a straight course for 100 yards, being carefully driven, and then turned right across the road road and fell over the ditch.

HAND AT WINDOW.

"I threw down my bicycle," said witness, "and jumped into the field. I heard someone moan, and say, 'Oh, oh, oh.' I smashed the back window with my foot. I shouted to the driver to come to the back end, but there was no response for a couple of seconds, and then a hand came up to the window to me.

"I caught the hand and gave it a pull and the skin came off into mine. I could not get at the door of the car because of the flames, and I shouted for help, so that they would hear me at Donnan's farmhouse. In about five minutes a lorry came up and three men got off, but we could not do anything until we turned the car over with a long pole. At the time it would not have mattered whether the car was turned or not."

FIRE BEHIND DRIVER.

In answer to questions, witness said that there was no doubt that the flames were inside the car, and when it went into the ditch they were all over it. When he broke the window they came out and scorched his eyebrows. He thought, in the first instance, that the fire was behind the driver and that he did not know about it.

Dr. J. M. Warnock said that when he saw the remains they were charred beyond recognition. In his opinion the cause of death was suffocation and shock, following burns. His theory was that Colonel Goodwin was suffocated before the car went over the ditch. It was possible for him to have been suffocated when one of the windows was open, and, in fact, Mr. Vernon Balls, in one of the Tourist Trophy races, was practically suffocated in an open car.

SYMPATHY WITH WIDOW.

Mr. Jefferson, who appeared for certain interested parties, expressed sympathy with Colonel Goodwin's widow and child. He said that he was sure he was expressing the feelings of every person throughout the length and breadth of Ulster when he said they all regretted that such a gallant officer, who had had such a brilliant career, and who had been doing such good work on behalf of Ulster and the Empire, had met with such an end.

Mr. McKee, the Coroner, and Captain J. S. Henry, J.P., on behalf of the local branch of the British Legion, also expressed sympathy.

The foreman of the jury said that Colonel Goodwin was a most affectionate man, one who did not readily make friends, but one whose friendship was of great value.

The jury returned a verdict that death was caused by suffocation and shock, following burns, caused by the car's accidentally going on fire.

Five cases of typhoid fever in one of the LIMERICK City districts have been notified to the Corporation Executive Sanitary Officer. Steps are being taken by Dr. Moran, temporary Medical Superintendent Officer of Health, to trace the cause, and prevent the spread of the disease, which, as stated, is confined to one locality.

WEXFORD COUNCIL AFFAIRS.

WIDOWS' PENSIONS PROPOSAL.

At the meeting of the Wexford County Council notification was received from the Free State Local Government Department that a grant of £6,000 was being made for the concreting of the streets in Enniscorthy; also a grant of £1,000 for similar work in Wexford Borough.

A letter was received from the Local Appointments Commission, recommending the appointment of Dr. Christopher Bastable, of Terenure, Dublin, and a native of Midleton, Co. Cork, to the position of County Medical Officer.

The Secretary stated that Dr. Bastable was a brother of the Rev. Dr. Bastable, formerly a professor in St. Peter's College, Wexford.

The Council decided to put the letter of the Commissioners on the agenda for the next meeting.

By thirteen votes to seven the Council adopted a proposition, which was moved by Alderman Corish, T.D.:—"That the Government be asked to speed up the matter of providing pensions for widows."

In the course of a discussion which arose on correspondence dealing with the matter from Mr. J. P. Dunne, Hon. Secretary of the Mothers' Pensions Society, Colonel R. P. Weymss Quin said that they were all in favour of that proposal, but where was the money to provide the pensions to come from?

The Chairman (Mr. M Doyle) said that it was not the business of the County Council.

Alderman Corish said that the matter was raised in the Dáil last November, and they were entitled to infer that in principle it was agreed to. It was referred to the Department, but no report had been made since. The Council, he suggested, should ask the Government to provide pensions for widows.

It was a terrible hardship that a widow of a man who had given his best for the State should be, with her family, left to depend on charity.

A motion was considered to rescind the suspension of a rate collector, Patrick Donohoe, and asking the Free State Local Government Minister to consent to the termination of the suspension.

In regard to the motion, a letter was read from the Local Government Department stating that an examination of the records of the collector showed that he had been a most unsatisfactory officer. The Minister confirmed the suspension of the collector, and removed him from office, pursuant to Article 99 of the Public Bodies Order.

A memorial was read from the Blackwater branch of the Farmers' Union stating that they regretted the collector's suspension, and pointing out that it was the clean, honest and straightforward manner in which he discharged his duties that prompted them to ask for the removal of the suspension order.

Mr. Jordan, T.D., said that the order made by the Council was too drastic altogether. The collector had been directed to lodge £150 rates a week. Everyone knew the difficulty of complying with such an order in consequence of the state of the country at the present time. Potatoes were rotting, corn was in a bad state and the price of pigs low, and he supposed the collector had not the heart to go and seize a man's cow.

Colonel Gibbon said that he admitted the farmers had not got the money, but he did not like the suggestion that it was very hard to get in the rates, and that it was quite legitimate for the collectors not to collect it. The first duty of the Council was to strike a rate which the farmers could pay.

The motion, with the addendum, "That the collector be placed on probation for six months," was carried by eighteen votes to three.

UNEMPLOYED CINEMA MUSICIAN COMMITS SUICIDE.

"Curse civilisation! curse humanity; finish me off if I fail to die." was a passage in a letter left by Leonard Clayton (22), a cinema orchestra musician, who had been unemployed for some time following the introduction of talking pictures.

At an inquest upon him at Leicester yesterday his brother said that Clayton had often said, "Curse the talkies."

BIG LEGION RALLY IN DUBLIN.

Arrangements for the reception of Earl Jellicoe when he visits Dublin on October 12, new schemes to ensure a better collection on Poppy Day, and the importance of well-defined boundaries for the various areas were among the matters considered at a conference of the Irish Free State branch of the British Legion of Ex-Service Men, held at the Mansion House, Dublin, yesterday, Mr. A. P. Connolly presiding.

Mr. W. Taylor (National Headquarters, London) mentioned that the last Poppy Day collection for Britain and Ireland was £598,000, of which the Irish Free State contributed £10,400. So great was the distress here, however, that the Central Fund had to return a much larger sum.

MASCOTS FOR CARS.

For the coming Poppy Day Mr. Taylor proposed that poppy mascots be made for cars, and suggested that the members of the various branches interview the motor salesmen in their areas, and urge them to keep such mascots for sale to their customers. These mascots would cost 2s. 6d. each.

Mr. Taylor regretted that house-to-house collections were not being organised in many areas. He thought these collections of the greatest importance, owing to the many people who, through sickness or other reasons, were unable to leave their houses on Poppy Day. He thought, too, that they were not getting as much from church and chapel collections as might reasonably be expected.

"The Legion," said Mr. Taylor, "supports every creed, because it is carrying out the principal tenets of all religions—faith, hope and, above all, charity."

NEED FOR MORE MONEY.

The need for money, the speaker continued, would be greater than ever during the coming year. A large number of ex-Service men were being forced to abandon their employment owing to ailments contracted in the trenches, while of the great number who had been discharged from the Army, owing to tubercular affections, two out of every three had died.

Miss Cockwell (Women's Section, London), urged the importance of the setting up of sub-committees for recruiting and welfare work generally. Where entertainments were organised by those committees she thought it most desirable from a public viewpoint that balance-sheets should be issued. She advocated the employment of orphans of ex-Service men at school-leaving age by the women members of the Legion. She further advocated thrift clubs and the establishment of funds for medical and dental treatment.

THE RELIEF SYSTEM.

Mr. J. Nolan (Legion Relief Fund, Dublin), spoke on the changed and improved system of administering relief. Formerly a man seeking relief applied through his committee to the Central Fund for a grant. By the new system the applicant applies for a voucher, which, when presented to a shopkeeper in his area, entitles him to food or clothing. The Legion now has 600 shopkeepers registered.

Mr. Nolan warned Irish ex-Service men against seeking work in England or Scotland. He paid a tribute to the work of the committees in the Dublin area, which, he said, was reflected in the auditor's yearly report.

THE PRESIDENT'S VISIT.

Mr. Connolly said that it had been represented to him that very many were interested in the arrangements they were making for the coming of their President, Lord Jellicoe, to Dublin. They had made arrangements for his reception, but they were merely provisional, and full details would appear later in the Press. It had been definitely fixed that Lord Jellicoe would leave Belfast on the morning of October 12th. He would arrive at Amiens street Station at 1.15. He would be met by the Dublin Area Council, and they were getting in touch with the Government and other bodies, who possibly might like to participate in the welcome to the distinguished sailor.

ADDRESS OF WELCOME.

"After inspecting a guard of honour at the station," said Mr. Connolly, "he will drive by College Green and up Dawson street to the Mansion House. The intention is to present an address of welcome to him, to which he will reply. We are going to make use of the day to give an unprecedented welcome to our President, and to rally the greatest number of ex-Service men that has ever been seen in Dublin."

Continuing, Mr. Connolly said that they would get in touch with the various country areas, and, having made arrangements with the railways, they would get every ex-Service man and every ex-Service woman they possibly could to come to Dublin. It would be a fitting reception for their President, and would be wonderful propaganda for the Legion. No better propaganda could be had as far as recruiting was concerned. It would be hard for eligible members to stay outside, and, after all, if the Legion was good enough for the Royal family, surely it was good enough for them. The Legion were arranging for a banquet and dance at the Plaza Restaurant.

Mr. Connolly said that he wished to make it clear that the rally was not intended as a show of force or as a parade for the benefit of the public.

Sixty-six delegates were present from Queen's County, Westmeath, Carlow, Dublin, Wexford, Wicklow, Louth, Meath, Monaghan, Kildare and King's County.

Major Tynan, D.S.O., was also present.

NO LIMERICK VISIT.

It was announced some time ago that Earl Jellicoe would visit Limerick next month on his tour of British Legion clubs in Ireland. He has now intimated that he will be unable to do so, and that his Free State visit will be confined to Dublin.

THE CHURCH OF IRELAND.

The chancel of Loughgall Parish Church has been remodelled and panelled in oak in memory of the late Rev. Canon F. B. Sowter. At the Dedication Service the sermon was preached by the Primate. A silver alms dish was presented in memory of the late Dr. J. G. Allen and Mrs. Allen by their family.

The parish church of Killowen (Diocese of Derry) has been celebrating its centenary. Its history dates back to 1288. The present church was erected and consecrated by Bishop Knox in 1830. A former Rector, the Rev. Robert Hezlett, officiated in the parish for fifty-four and a half years, and was an alderman of the borough and Mayor of Coleraine on several occasions. The day of the anniversary was observed as a gift day, and the thankofferings at the Services not only defrayed the entire cost of repainting and decorating the church, but exceeded the amount by several pounds.

Cavan Parish Church has been re-opened after undergoing thorough repair and painting.

A new holy table has been presented to Anatrim Church, Parish of Offerlane, in memory of the late Mrs. F. F. Roe by her daughters.

The Rev. Treasurer Willis, Rector of Gorey, has been appointed Chancellor of Ferns Cathedral. The Rev. Canon Fry succeeds to the Treasurership, and the Rev. W. G. Squires, Incumbent of Monart, has been appointed to the canonry thus vacated.

The Rev. Edward Nevill, Incumbent of Fenegh, has been appointed to a canonry in Leighlin Cathedral.

The Rev. Dr. White, Regius Professor of Divinity, will conduct a quiet day for the Cork Clerical Union on Tuesday, October 7th.

The Rev. W. J. Mitchell has been appointed to the curacy-in-charge of Derrylane, and the Rev. W. G. Coleman has been appointed diocesan curate of the United Diocese of Kilmore.

The Archbishop of Dublin will hold an Ordination in St. James's Parish Church, Dublin, on Sunday, September 28th, at 11.30, at which George Holmes Gibson Bolton, B.A., T.C.D., will be admitted to the Holy Order of Deacon for work in St. James's Parish.

BRITAIN'S UNEMPLOYED.

The Secretary to the British Ministry of Labour states that the number of persons on the registers of employment exchanges in Great Britain on September 15 were 1,386,241 wholly unemployed, 618,511 temporarily stopped, and 78,681 normally in casual employment, making a total of 2,103,413. This was 36,158 less than the previous week's total, but 955,894 more than that for the corresponding date last year. The total on September 15 comprised 1,485,019 men, 60,489 boys, 502,961 women, and 54,944 girls.

WORLD TRANSPORT WORKERS.

PRESIDENT AND GERMAN ELECTIONS.

LONDON CONGRESS.

The Transport Workers' Federation Congress in London yesterday divided into various sections to consider questions of particular interest to delegates from the thirty-five countries representing seamen, chauffeurs, dockers, and railwaymen.

The president (Mr. C. T. Cramp) said that reaction had lifted its ugly head in several countries. In Germany the recent election, he said, had strengthened the position of the opponents of social democracy, and in Finland violent methods were employed to weaken the ranks of the organised workers. The International must oppose any tendencies and endeavours to force the workers into servitude.

LOANS IN LABOUR CONFLICTS.

One of the most important items on the agenda of the Congress was a proposal from the Danish, Swedish, Norwegian, and Finnish Transport workers and seamen to raise the regulation contribution to the International, the largest proportion to be allocated to a fund for assisting unions by grants or loans in labour conflicts.

It was further suggested that a special committee should consider the question of financial support and mutual sympathetic movements in labour disputes.

The dockers' section of the Congress yesterday carried a resolution of the Dutch Transport Workers' Union, calling upon the Secretariat to make an inquiry into the situation in the chief ports of various countries in respect of the offer and demand for dock labour, and the steps to be taken to secure its regulation.

A special committee was appointed, consisting of Messrs. Bevin (Great Britain), Rudolph (Germany), Kievit (Holland), and Eds. Fimmen (general secretary) to draft a questionnaire to be sent to the different organisations.

At the railwaymen's group a resolution calling for the general abolition of level crossings was referred to the motor drivers' sectional conference on Thursday with representatives of the railwaymen.

ALLEGED SECRET DOCUMENT.

AUTHENTICITY DENIED.

With reference to an alleged secret Polish document which has been published in England regarding the policy of the Polish Government towards the German minority in Poland, Reuter's Agency has received the following official statement from the Polish Embassy in London:—

(1) The document is dated December 22nd, 1929, which was a Sunday, a day on which Polish public offices do not transact any business.

(2) The heading of the document, which purports to be signed by the Governor of Polish Pomerania, is false. Letters signed by the Governor are headed simply "Governor of Pomerania," without any indication of any particular department. A letter bearing the sub-heading of "Department of Security" would be signed by the head of that department, and not by the Governor.

(3) The headings of letters signed by the Governor do not mention the place name of his office twice, as was the case on the forged document.

(4) The reference number given in the forged document is fictitious. The only letter, No. 3471, sent from the "Department of Security" in 1929 has no "Reference No. 3471/5PE," but is marked, 11.—E3471/29, is dated June 14th, 1929, and has reference to the demise of a policeman.

(5) The forged letter is supposed to be addressed from the office of the Governor of Polish Pomerania to the President of the District Land Office in Grudziadz (Graudenz). The forger was obviously unaware of the fact that this and all District Land Offices are directly responsible to the Minister of Agrarian Reform in Warsaw, who is the only competent authority for the issue of any instructions to these district land offices.

(6) The Political Committee of the Cabinet to which the document refers as being the source of the instructions issued on September 6th, 1929, has ceased to exist since the assumption of power by Marshal Pilsudski in May, 1926.

EXPLOSIONS IN A HOTEL.

PANIC AMONG GUESTS: NINETEEN INJURED.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
BUCHAREST, Tuesday.

Nineteen people have been seriously injured owing to the explosion in a hotel cellar at Galatz of containers of carbonic acid gas.

A fire, originating in a neighbouring glass works, spread to the cellar, and caused four explosions, which created panic among the guests and staff of the hotel. One visitor jumped from a second floor window and was seriously injured.

Firemen, hotel employes and spectators were among those who were injured by the flying fragments of steel. One fireman is dying from his injuries, and another fireman and a tram driver have been disfigured for life.

It is alleged that the fire at the glass works was of incendiary origin, and the proprietor, who is said to have been hard hit financially recently, has been arrested.

DUBLIN MOTOR CAR ON FIRE.

NARROW ESCAPE OF TWO OCCUPANTS.

Two men had a narrow escape when a Rover six-cylinder touring car overturned and burst into flames on the Conyngham road, near Chapelizod, Dublin, last evening.

The car, which was owned by Messrs. Hornsby, dealers in musical instruments, Dublin, and which was being driven by the traveller, Christopher Sylvester, Cumberland street, was coming from Galway to Dublin. The road was in a greasy condition, and when the driver "pulled out," apparently to pass another vehicle, the car skidded on to the embankment on the right-hand side of the road and turned over.

The driver and his passenger, Mr. P. Pask, of Salthill, Galway, who was getting a "lift" to Dublin, were thrown clear on to the road.

The car burst into flames and was completely destroyed, as were a number of musical instruments which were in the vehicle. A section of the fire brigade from Tara street attended and, with a first aid jet, extinguished the flames.

Mr. Sylvester and Mr. Pask were taken in a private motor car to Steevens' Hospital, where they were treated for minor injuries.

MARKING OF COASTS.

LISBON INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE.

From the 6th to the 15th October next an International Conference on buoying and illuminating of coasts is to be held in Lisbon, according to Reuter's Lisbon Correspondent. Various outings have been arranged to entertain the delegates to the Conference, among them a banquet offered by the Minister of Foreign Affairs, to be held at the Avenida Palace Hotel on the 8th October; an excursion to Cintra on the 9th, and a visit to Oporto and its neighbourhood on the 11th, with lunch at the Palace da Bolsa.

NEWS FROM ALL IRELAND.

UNLICENSED BULL.

Joseph Mooney, Kinnitty, was, at ROSCREA District Court, last Monday, fined £2 and 15s. expenses for keeping an unlicensed bull.

PRICE OF PIGS.

The price of pigs at TULLAMORE yesterday was 51s. per cwt., live-weight; bonhams 30s. to 42s. each.

COUNTY WEXFORD STRIKE.

Over thirty men employed at Gorey Hill quarry by the Pioneer Road Reconstruction Company, the contractors for the steam-rolling of Gorey-Courtown road, struck work last Monday for increased rates of wages, the present rate of 8½d. per hour being deemed insufficient. Thirty-five men working at the steam-rolling have come out in sympathy with the quarry workers. A conference has been arranged with a view of settling the dispute.

THE WRECKED CELTIC.

Severe gales recently experienced off QUEENSTOWN have caused further extensive damage to the hull of the wrecked liner, Celtic, and all work on the vessel has been temporarily suspended. The vessel has been shifted inshore, and the ship's side split down the centre, causing a number of boilers to be exposed. For the past week a large quantity of timber, part of the ship's internal fittings, has been washed into the harbour, where it has been eagerly collected by townspeople of the poorer class.

RUSH WATER SUPPLY.

At yesterday's meeting of the BALROTHERY Rural Council, Mr. H. M. Dardis presiding, a joint report from Messrs. P. H. McCarthy and E. M. Murphy, engineers, on the question of a water supply for the town of Rush was considered. The Chairman said that he did not think the matter should be considered by the Council, as they were going out of office. The engineers said that the water would be sufficient for the normal population of 1,700 or so, but what about the summer visitors, who would bring the figure well over 2,000? No action was taken in the matter.

DERRYGONNELLY WATERWORKS.

The first lot of tenders received for the construction of Derrygonnelly Water Works were rejected by the ENNISKILLEN Rural Council because they exceeded the estimate. Yesterday a second batch of tenders was received, and these again were in excess of the estimate. The engineer, Mr. F. G. Townsend, explained that a large increase in the price of material had taken place since his estimate had been made out. The lowest tender—£3,708, from Messrs. John Jeffers, Enniskillen—was accepted, and it was decided to apply for an additional loan to meet the increased cost.

TYRONE ACCIDENTS.

Andrew Williamson, BENBURB, while on a shooting expedition, was knocked down by his dog, which was engaged in chasing rabbits. Williamson fell on his gun, the stock of which was smashed, and he had two ribs fractured. Alexander White, Tullysarren, while pulling apples from a tree, fell from a branch and sustained a fractured right leg. He was removed to Armagh Infirmary. A pony shied at a passing motor bicycle at Eglish, near Dungannon, yesterday, and, mounting the ditch, dragged the trap, in which there were four occupants, into the Eglish River. Fortunately, the vehicle did not overturn, and the occupants were rescued by passers-by.

A TIPPERARY APPOINTMENT.

At SOUTH TIPPERARY Board of Health meeting, the report of Professor Cooney, who examined the candidates for the position of shorthand typist in the Secretary's office, was read. Miss H. Fitzgerald, the acting typist, was first on the list, and the examiner called attention to the exceptional proficiency in shorthand and typewriting of that candidate, and another, Miss M. O'Connor. A Miss O'Ealloran, who was fourth on the examiner's list, and had passed, was the only candidate proposed, and she was unanimously elected. Mr. O'Sullivan objected to the examiner's note as to the exceptional proficiency of two candidates. It was unfair, he said, and proposed its deletion. Mr. Morrissey objected, but eventually Mr. O'Sullivan's motion was passed. The examiner claimed a fee of £20 and was allowed £15.

RATE COLLECTORS' SALARIES.

At the meeting of the BALROTHERY Rural Council last Monday Mr. Dickie said that the Council should pass a resolution protesting against the action of the Dublin County Council in increasing the salaries of the rate collectors by fifty per cent. They should, he said, ask the Free State Local Government Department not to sanction these increases. Mr. Curran said that if Mr. Dickie had read the proposal of the County Council he would not have made the statement that the salaries of the rate collectors were being increased by £200. After discussion, it was resolved unanimously to protest against the increasing of the salaries of the officials, and to call on the Local Government Department not to sanction the proposed increase of the salaries of the rate collectors in County Dublin. Before the resolution was passed Mr. Curran left the meeting.

POSSESSION OF A COTTAGE.

An unusual case was heard at DROGHEDA District Court yesterday, before Justice Goff, when Christopher Kennedy was charged with forcibly taking possession of a house at Upper Rathmullen, Drogheda, the property of James Monaghan. James Monaghan, farmer, Donore, deposed that he owned a cottage at Rathmullen, and the last tenant in it was Joseph Guilfoyle, a workman employed by him; he left it four or five years ago, and since then there was no tenant there. Witness did not know whether the cottage was locked up or not. Joseph Guilfoyle deposed that on August 23rd he saw smoke issuing from the chimney of the cottage, as a result of which he went to the door, which was open. The defendant, whom he knew certain eight or nine years, came out, and witness asked him how he had got in, and defendant said that he had got in all right, but had done no harm. He also said that he could not step on the side of the road, and that he had no place to go. He said that his wife was not well, and that he could not stay in the place he was in last on account of rats. The Justice returned the defendant for trial to Trim Circuit Court on his own bail of £10, and strongly advised him to leave the place. Defendant—"I wish I could; I cannot get a house."

RAILWAY ACCIDENT IN STALINGRAD.

FOUR PERSONS KILLED.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
MOSCOW, Tuesday.

Four persons were killed and fourteen injured, four of them seriously, in a railway accident at Stalingrad to-day. A goods train collided with an engine and hurled it against a passenger train which was passing on a parallel track.

ROOF OF HOUSE FALLS.

CHILDREN BURIED IN DEBRIS.

An eight-year-old boy, George Mitchell, of Duke street, Glasgow, lay for half-an-hour with his leg pinned under a huge slab of concrete when the roof of a house caved in in the East End of Glasgow last night. Five other boys were injured in the mishap, and all were removed to hospital.

Hundreds of occupants of adjacent buildings were alarmed by the fall of the roof, which echoed over a wide area. The children were buried in the débris. Men and women rushed to their assistance, and the fire brigade and ambulance were summoned. The fireman had to use crowbars and pickaxes to extricate the children.

TIRED BUT HAPPY

The Electric Water-Heater gives a constant supply of hot water. No need to plan ahead—no need even to strike a match. Just turn the tap and there is all the hot water you want. And the special water-heating rate of ½d. a unit for current makes the Electrical way of water-heating the cheapest way.

WHY NOT HAVE AN ELECTRIC WATER-HEATER?

Call at our Showrooms and ask for full particulars. We can supply water-heaters in sizes from 1½ gallons upwards, on very easy Hire Purchase Terms. They can be easily and economically fitted to existing hot water systems.

JACK DIAMOND IN COURT.

ONE HOUR TO LEAVE PHILADELPHIA.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
PHILADELPHIA, Tuesday.

Jack Diamond, who was arrested here, was brought before the magistrate this morning and given one hour in which to make himself scarce. He was afterwards escorted outside the city by the police.

Diamond was the centre of enormous interest during the brief hearing of his case, and dozens of detectives crowded into the court room to-day in order to get a good look at his face from every angle. He was wearing a brown suit, obviously of Broadway cut, with a brown shirt and black tie. His hair was sleek and glossy, but his face bore obvious signs of those "third degree" methods which are a distinctive feature of the American police system.

As Diamond pushed his way out of the court a detective shouted to the assembled crowd:—"Mind your pocket-books, boys! The pickpockets are here to-day."

FINGER PRINTS TAKEN.

During his confinement in the police station last night, Diamond was photographed and his finger prints taken, and he was subjected to a rigorous cross-examination.

His present destination is unknown, but the police believe that he is likely soon to come within the range of gangdom's guns. It is known that a powerful ring of New York beer-runners are anxious to "put him on the spot," and that their guns are already being oiled up in readiness for his return to New York.

After his ordeal in the court was over to-day, Diamond asserted that he feared neither police nor gunmen, but he was anxious regarding the reception his wife would give him, especially after the papers had published that he had been seen with "a blonde cabaret dancer" in Berlin.

Russian "Dumping."

The heavy fall in wheat prices, which has been disturbing the world's exchanges of late, is a strange commentary on the organisation of modern society. There is a glut of wheat everywhere; yet bread continues to be comparatively dear, and millions of people throughout the world are living on the brink of starvation. Last year the Argentine exported enormous quantities of wheat to Europe, with the result that prices fell heavily; and this year the situation has been complicated by a new factor which is causing the gravest concern to the wheat trade. Soviet Russia has begun to take a hand in the game. The Bolshevist Government is in sore need of credits and ready cash. There is widespread poverty in Russia, where bread queues are common, despite bumper harvests of grain during the last few years; and the Soviet has decided to raise money by hook or by crook. To that end it has chartered about 170 ships, some fifty of which are British, in order to despatch large cargoes of unsold wheat to European ports. These cargoes will be sold on arrival at such prices as they may fetch. The traffic will continue for several months, as many of the vessels have been chartered until next March; and the experts reckon that by next August some three million tons of wheat will have been exported from Russia. The grain is being sent by river from the heart of Siberia to ports on the Black Sea. Russia's starving millions are being forced to watch this export of their food supplies.

About one-quarter of the total exports will be sent to British ports, and the effect on the grain trade will be very serious. Already prices are falling rapidly; the market is so nervous that business has come virtually to a standstill. Of course, the consumer will welcome cheaper bread; but, from the broader standpoint of British agriculture and trade in general, the advent of Russian wheat in such large quantities cannot be regarded with equanimity. Furthermore, the Dominions take a most gloomy view of the situation. Australia especially is alarmed, because she is depending almost entirely on her wheat and wool crops to extricate her from the financial morass into which she has stumbled. The Australian wheat harvest, which will be ready for shipment at Christmas, will amount to some 250,000,000 bushels. Last month wheat quotations in the Commonwealth fell from 37s. to 31s., and, if the ports of Britain and other European countries are overwhelmed with Russian supplies, prices by Christmas will have fallen almost to vanishing point. Canada is in a like case. Her plight is made worse by reason of the fact that the Russians propose to dump not only wheat, but timber. Enormous quantities of lumber are being prepared for export at ridiculously low prices, and the Germans, Poles and Czechoslovaks, as well as the Canadians, anticipate the temporary ruin of their timber trades.

Russia's policy is "dumping" in excelsis. Russian coal is being sold in Strassburg at prices which are below the costs of production and transport. The Bolsheviks are prepared to do anything to obtain money, and, as they control forced labour, they are not interested in such economic niceties as costs of production. It seems also that they have a political purpose. They know that by the export of huge quantities of primary commodities at the lowest possible prices they can disorganise the entire economy of the so-called capitalist States; and they are applying themselves to their latest task with glee. Yesterday in Chicago prices on the wheat market fell to the lowest point since 1906. Some of the smaller States of Europe are showing signs of panic, and a Rumanian delegate to the League of Nations has foreshadowed the inevitable reply to every kind of economic aggression—namely, higher tariffs. Britain at present has no defence against the Russian plan of campaign; she has no tariffs, and the suggestion of an Import Board finds little favour in the country. We may be sure, however, that Australia and Canada will make strong efforts at the Imperial Conference to secure the protection of their interests in the British market. Both have imposed high tariffs on British manufactured goods, and thus will have good bargaining counters if they seek to check imports from Russia.

Roads and Traffic.

The vision conjured into being by a study of the plans for new roads for motor vehicles in Britain is magnificent and intriguing. According to the Special Correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, the main arteries will be at least forty feet wide, with "super-elevation at bends to reduce skidding." Along each side footways, screened by hedges and trees, will minister to the comfort of pedestrians. Every crossing will be controlled by automatic signals, and, in the words of our informant, "arc lights at frequent intervals will render night travel almost as easy as by day." In short, a country "crossed in all directions by wide, silent and beautiful roads" is envisaged. While we respect and extol the width and the silence, we may be pardoned if we are dubious about the beauty. A countryside rendered glaring by neatly spaced arc lamps does not appear attractive in our eyes; but, perhaps, this extremity of efficiency is not intended. Yet we must admire the enterprise that is toward. Since 1914 the amount expended upon these vital channels of communication has soared from £18,000,000 to £60,000,000 annually. Already more than two million licensed vehicles use the roads, and the majority of these vehicles are concentrated in certain localities. Thus the development of arterial outlets from large cities and industrial centres has become a paramount necessity. Soon London will be ringed completely by an arterial circuit which will be connected with the main roads to the provinces by a system of by-passes. Citizens then will be able to drive to their destinations with a minimum of delay, while local traffic will suffer little dislocation. The vista, on the whole, is delightful, but caution must be exercised. There is a tendency to pander to speed under the name of safety, and already evidence exists which, if not conclusive, at least suggests that arterial roads, when they are prolonged unnecessarily into rural districts, invite the "road hog" to produce his worst characteristics. Certainly every year the toll of these whited sepulchres becomes heavier and heavier, and we are sufficiently cynical to doubt whether any system of automatic signals, unless it were reinforced by an expensive police supervision, would moderate the habits of some drivers. Nevertheless, in the Free State, Britain's example might be copied with advantage. It is true that Irish motor traffic scarcely has reached a point where a large outlay on arterial roads could be justified, but such a time approaches, and no apparent effort has been made to prepare for it. With one or two exceptions, the roads leading north, south and west from Dublin are a succession of corners of a sort that experience has shown to be the most dangerous. These places ought to be remedied at once, even if the occasional demolition of a few houses is involved. Unhappily, since the Free State Government has not seen fit to appoint a Minister for Transport to co-ordinate work and responsibilities of this kind, local authorities are not likely to take adequate steps to protect their fellow-countrymen.

Ireland's Waterways.

Foul weather and the twilight of Wall street have combined to disappoint the rosy hopes of those who expected that this summer would have been a "record" tourist season for the Free State. Yet the good work done by the tourist agencies is not vain; for it has laid a sound foundation for the traffic of future years. At this time we would suggest to the agencies and to the public in general that they should look around for fresh and original schemes for the attraction of the tourist. One such scheme occurs to us immediately. Ireland is honeycombed with canals, which lead through districts of the most varied beauty, and, connecting with the large rivers, traverse the country from coast to coast. At present the canals are employed solely for the transport of goods by lighter, and the eyes of the voyageur have not been opened to their possibilities as routes for a pleasure trip On the Continent—in France and Holland notably—the waterways are used extensively, and quite a respectable revenue is made from toll-charges, while enterprising residents who have suitable vessels for hire reap a private profit. The scheme involves certain difficulties. For example, soundings must be taken, and the figures published, that prospective visitors may know whether their boats can fit in the canals at all parts of their route, though the depth of water that suits a lighter ought to be enough for all save the largest motor launches. At all events, the scheme is worthy of investigation, and there can be no question of its attractiveness. A journey by motor boat across Ireland, down the Shannon, and back to Dublin by another waterway, would be a worthily spent holiday, and there could be no more effective way to "see Ireland."

The Largest City.

So many generations of schoolchildren have been instructed that London is the world's largest city that the news of New York's challenge comes as the shattering of a tradition. Dr. Walter Laidlaw, an American census expert announces, according to the New York Correspondent of The Times, that "there will never be within twenty miles of Charing Cross a population so great as was enumerated this year within nineteen miles of New York City Hall." We do not know precisely the premisses on which the expert bases his calculations. What bounds, for example, does he set to either city? Where does city end and country begin? Apart from these considerations, Dr. Laidlaw claims that the 1930 Federal census will show a population for "circled New York" of 9,900,000, while, even at the highest reckoning, the total number of London's swarming city minions will be 1,400,000 less. Thus perishes another of the Old World's cherished superiorities before the American onslaught. Once we laid claim to the world's longest river, but the United States lessened our pride by a subtle conjunction of the Mississippi with the Missouri. The New World has the largest lakes, and, disregarding the Zambesi Falls, points proudly to Niagara as the waterfall par excellence. Let us rejoice that at least the world's highest mountain remains on this side of the Atlantic, although the United States yet may produce a pile to rival Everest from some obscure corner of California. Then, in truth, we may bow the diminished head, and acknowledge ourselves inferior, when magnitude is the measure of all things.

LONDON LETTER

FRENCH RENTES AND BRITISH HOLDERS.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
TUESDAY NIGHT.

It is stated with authority to-day that the British Government in July last sent a Note to the French Government calling attention to the claims of British holders of French Rentes that the interest and redemption moneys should be paid at the original value of the franc, and not at its present value. This Note was prepared by the Treasury on Mr. Snowden's instructions. Much to the general surprise, no reply has been received. British holders of the bonds are becoming anxious, since some of them will lose large sums if the various bonds are redeemed at their present valuation. They are 5 per Cent. Rentes, issued at £3 4s. per 100 francs in 1915; 5 per Cent. Rentes, issued at £3 4s. 6d. per 100 francs in 1916; 4 per Cent. Rentes, issued at £2 10s. 6d. per 100 francs in 1917, and 4 per Cent. Rentes, issued at £13 12s. 4d. per 500 francs in 1918. The London issue prices in respect of these loans were fixed on the basis of the rate of exchange at which the franc stood at the time—that is to say, at nearly tenpence. Since then the franc has been stabilised at 124.21 to the pound, or a value of only 2d., and consequently the value of the Rentes has dwindled in proportion.

The Baby Princess.

The Duke and Duchess of York have made a notable departure by the christening of their infant daughter with only two names—names, too, so simple as Margaret Rose: for in the past it has been the custom to give children of Royal birth a list of seven or eight names. These names frequently were given in order that the association of the Royal House of Great Britain with the reigning Houses of other countries might be maintained; but things have been changed since the War, and when the King decided that his family name should be Windsor the announcement heralded a return to simpler conditions. The Prince of Wales has no fewer than seven Christian names; Princess Mary has four, while the Princess Elizabeth has three. That Princess Margaret Rose will bear only two marks a further change, which, doubtless, will continue in the naming of Royal children. The Archbishop of Canterbury, who baptised Princess Elizabeth, will perform the like office for her sister.

Lord Hardinge.

It is almost unprecedented for a Viceroy of India to return to the scene of his rule, but Lord Hardinge, who is now seventy-one, has been invited to be present at the inauguration of Delhi, the great capital city, for whose conception he was responsible when in office. Lord Hardinge was one of the most popular of Viceroys, and it is reported that when he embarked for home a number of princes who had assembled to see him off burst into tears. Delhi has mournful, as well as pleasant, memories for Lord Hardinge; for it was during a State entry into the city that a bomb was thrown, striking the howdah of the elephant which he was riding and killing his confidential attendant, while he himself was wounded badly. Lady Hardinge escaped injury, but suffered severely from shock.

Motorists' Eyesight.

An open space in front of the Ministry of Transport was thronged with motor cars to-day, when a conference, attended by representatives of the British Medical Association, the motorists' organisations, the police, local authorities, and the Pedestrians' Association, was held in order to discuss that portion of the Road Traffic Act dealing with the licensing of drivers and their physical fitness. The Minister of Transport, Mr. Herbert Morrison, was not present. The proceedings were conducted in private, and it is unlikely that any public statement will be made. That they were interesting goes without saying; for the results are likely to be far-reaching. It is understood that a maximum standard of eyesight may be included in the declaration for a driving licence; for, while there is no mention of eyesight in the text of the Act, it is made clear that an applicant for a licence must declare whether he is suffering from any physical disability. So many people suffer from more or less defective eyesight that there will be considerable relief that any compulsory test is unlikely, though it is possible that a declaration may have to be made that the vision of the applicant is not below the normal.

Irish Labour in England.

It was stated yesterday in the Middlesex Sessions Court, when three labourers from County Cork were punished for breaking into a public-house, that a number of Irishmen had been brought to England by the Government to do road work. Inquiries at the Ministry of Labour failed to discover that there was any such Government scheme, and the officials remarked that there must have been some misunderstanding. It is thought that the detective possibly referred to some road work that was being carried out by contractors who might have employed Irishmen. At the same time, it was stated definitely that there is nothing to prevent the engagement of Irish labourers in this country, since they are British subjects.

The Tourist Traffic.

The organisers of the "Come to Britain" movement have been casting their bread upon the waters, and their enterprise is likely to meet with a substantial reward in the course of time. Arrangements have been made with the United States' wireless stations, numbering as many as seven hundred and fifty, whereby the amenities of this country will be explained to the American public over the wireless system. Talks, every one of fifteen minutes' duration, will be given from as many stations as possible, and the speakers will be chosen carefully, so that they may be able to give a good description of the country. It is said that the Italian tourist agencies have been broadcasting a similar inducement to visit their country in the English language, with some success.

The Price of Bread.

Following upon the announcement that there will be a reduction in the price of petrol, the announcement is made to-day that a meeting of the Bakers' Association has been called for to-morrow to consider what steps can be taken with regard to a reduction in the price of bread. It is highly probable that the meeting will agree to reduce the price of flour, and in that event the cost of the loaf will come down next Monday.

A Warm "pe".

London continues to suffer from sunless and showery weather, but last night was the hottest late September night ever known in London. The maximum temperature was eight degrees above the mid-summer normal and two degrees higher than any previously registered in the last ten days of September since records began sixty years ago. It is explained to-day that the exceptional warmth was due to an inflow of air from the neighbourhood of the Azores, drawn here by a big storm centre beyond the north-west coasts. The low clouds hanging over the country prevented the earth from radiating the heat into space throughout the night.

WORLD FACING A GOLD SHORTAGE.

DEMAND INCREASING : SUPPLY DECREASING.

NOT ENOUGH FOR MONETARY PURPOSES BY 1934.

WARNING BY COMMITTEE OF LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

THERE is serious danger of a shortage in the world's supply of gold within the next ten years, according to the interim report of the Gold Delegation of the League of Nations which has just been issued. The report predicts:—

Increasing demand for gold.
Gradually decreasing supply.
Not enough for monetary purposes by 1934.
Drop of £6,800,000 in output from 1930 to 1940, and thereafter at an accelerated rate.

While stating that the probable trend of future prices must occasion some anxiety, the report declares that remedial measures can be found which, at least during the next decade, will correct the apprehended developments. The discovery of new mines to replace those which are being worked out, of course, would ease the situation.

The report concludes by declaring that the situation calls for a concerted and sound policy, prudently pursued, and advocates the adoption of the gold standard by countries which have not yet stabilised their currencies.

REMEDIAL MEASURES SUGGESTED.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
GENEVA, Tuesday.

The Gold Delegation of the League of Nations' Financial Committee has just issued its interim report. It deals with the fluctuations in the purchasing power of gold over various periods, and goes into the question as to whether the course of prices results from changes in the relationship between the supply of gold and the normal increase in production, or from other causes.

The report opens by recalling that the question submitted to the Gold Delegation was to ascertain whether the current and prospective production of gold and the normal increase in the world's production and trade were such as to raise or depress the general trend of prices over a number of years. The present world production of gold, according to the report, amounts to about eighty million pounds annually, and this amount is likely to be increased during the next three or four years.

GOLD "LOST" IN THE U.S.A.

The gold reserves of banks of issue and treasuries at the end of 1928, it is stated, amounted to about £2,007,000,000, to which must be added a further sum, estimated at about £183,000,000, representing gold in circulation in a few countries, gold in commercial banks, and hoarded coins, etc., outside Asia—a total, therefore, of £2,190,000,000.

Of this £183,000,000, the sum of £79,000,000 lies in the United States, and the report says: "We consider it probable that a considerable part, at any rate, of this latter sum is permanently lost for effective monetary purposes."

The provisional figures at the end of 1929 showed an increase of £45,000,000 in the total gold stocks.

UNLESS—

Dealing with the monetary demand for gold generally, the report says that "it may reasonably be expected that the future requirements of gold will tend to increase as production and trade expand unless methods of payment undergo important changes."

The report gives an elaborate statistical table showing the estimated gold position annually for the next ten years, based upon varying assumptions, and this table shows that the supply of new gold available for monetary purposes will be inadequate by 1934 unless measures are taken to alleviate the situation in time.

MINES BEING WORKED OUT.

The report estimates that the gold production for 1930 will amount to £80,800,000, and that production will decline every year to £74,000,000 in 1940 unless new and unexpected sources of supply are discovered. The decline in output is likely to continue at an accelerated rate after 1940, as the South African mines, which account for over half the present production, become gradually exhausted.

"The probable trend of future prices must occasion some anxiety," says the report, "but remedial measures can be found which, should, at least during the next decade, correct the consequences feared."

REMEDIAL MEASURES.

The report expresses the opinion that the minimum legal gold cover against notes is largely based upon traditional and conventional grounds, and that, if the current accepted minima were reduced, a considerable economy of gold could be effected without in any way weakening the general credit structure. Such action would require international agreement, but the difficulties in the way of it should not be insuperable.

The report suggests the extended use of cheques and the replacing of bank notes of small denominations by subsidiary coins.

ADVICE TO THE NATIONS.

The situation, the report continues, calls for "a concerted and sound currency policy prudently pursued," and it advocates the adoption of the gold standard by countries which have not yet stabilised their currency.

HINDENBURG AND GERMANY.

CONFIDENCE IN LAW AND ORDER.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
BERLIN, Tuesday.

The Reich's President, Marshal Hindenburg, has authorised the Chancellor, Dr. Bruening, to state that he fully shares the Chancellor's view that there is no danger of a putsch in any part of Germany, and that, moreover, the forces of the Reich are absolutely sufficient to restore law and order within the shortest time.

The President adds that the Government intends to make every effort to carry through measures of financial reform in the interest of German trade and industry, and that the people will find full support in their President, who, trusting to the sound common-sense of the populace, expects that, despite the unusually difficult situation both at home and abroad, these great tasks can be accomplished within the sphere of the existing Constitution.

THE WORKLESS.

Since the end of August the number of unemployed in Germany who receive public relief again increased by 15,000 to 1,952,000 on September 15th. The total number of unemployed on the latter date was estimated to be 2,983,000, which is 100,000 more than at the end of August.

HERR HITLER'S POLICY

WHAT FASCISTS MAY DEMAND.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
BERLIN, Tuesday.

Politicians in Munich, who are well informed as to present conditions and happenings in the Hitler camp and who are in close contact with the Fascist leaders, state that Herr Hitler knows very well that he would get into sharp conflict with theory, as opposed to practice, if he were asked to join the Government. He himself did not reckon on such a success at the elections as the National Socialists secured. The question of participating in a new Government will not be decided by the party, although the party leaders will meet probably at the end of the week in Berlin. This meeting may be on the eve of the big Fascist parade at Potsdam, and the conditions that the Fascists will insist upon in case their participation is required will be discussed. One of the conditions will be that the Ministry of the Interior shall be entrusted to them. The Ministry of Defence will not be made a sine qua non.

FOREIGN POLICY.

So far as foreign politics are concerned, Herr Hitler is well aware that for the present the Young Plan cannot be abolished, but he and his followers are optimistic enough to believe that the revision of the Versailles Treaty and the Young Plan cannot be refused for ever to a Government which is under the strong influence of the Fascists. As a proof of this the Hitler people point to comments which have appeared in the foreign Press on the outcome of the elections. They are, it is added, not dreaming of an aggressive policy of liberation, which, in view of the internal dissension of Germany, they consider to be impossible.

In the meantime, the Cabinet has begun its deliberations on the reform programme to-day, and these will continue till the end of the week, when, it is stated, the Chancellor will take up the discussions of his programme with the party leaders, in order to find on which parties he can rely for support.

OFFICERS ON TRIAL.

HITLER AS WITNESS.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
LEIPZIG, Tuesday.

In view of the success of the National Socialists (Fascists) at the elections for the Reichstag, unusual importance is attached to the trial which began in the Supreme Court here to-day of two young artillery officers—Lieutenants Schelinger and Ludien, and ex-Lieutenant Wendt, who were charged with high treason, it being alleged that, in concert with the National Socialists, they attempted to sow discontent among the junior officers and to enlist them in a plot to overthrow the Constitution by an armed revolt.

Schelinger said that they had become convinced that the whole of Germany, except the Nationalists, was against the Army. They could not have any confidence in the Government because of the dismissal of General von Seeckt, who, they declared, was a symbol of the Army, and against whom the propaganda began as soon as the newspapers commanded it. The Reichswehr was not political before the resignation of General von Seeckt, Schelinger added, but it had become political.

Ludiem, another of the accused men, said that General von Seeckt's dismissal was inexcusable in the eyes of the Army. Their confidence in the Government was shaken when the Minister of Defence resigned.

Major Theissen, of the Ministry of Defence, in reply to a question put by the President, said that the duty of the officers was to remain outside politics.

HITLER TO BE SUMMONED.

Towards the end of the day the solicitor for the defence requested the Court to summon Herr Hitler, leader of the Fascists, as a witness, as it was Hitler who was in a position to confirm the contention that the National Socialists had no intention whatever of bringing about a change of the Constitution by illegal means.

The Court agreed, and Herr Hitler, who is at present at Berchtesgaden, will be summoned as a witness, to appear on Thursday next.

The Court then adjourned till to-morrow.

BRITISH TRADE WITH PERSIA.

RESTRICTIONS RESENTED.

Reuter's Agency understands that some concern has recently been caused to British firms trading with Persia, by restrictions placed on foreign goods by the Persian Government. As a result of these restrictions British trade with Persia has been very seriously affected.

The position has been aggravated by the issue of a law by the Persian Government exempting Russia from all such restrictions. Thus Russia, which has always been one of England's keenest competitors in the Persian market, is placed in a very favourable position, and is able to import its goods into Persia, and to dump Persian goods received in exchange in those countries which are debarred from direct trade with Persia. It is gathered that the whole position is engaging the attention of the British authorities.

SOVIET DUMPING POLICY.

SCARE IN CHICAGO WHEAT PIT.

LOWEST PRICES SINCE 1906.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
CHICAGO, Tuesday.

A scare, originating from an anonymous Winnipeg report that the Canadian wheat pool is in difficulty, sent wheat in the Chicago pit to-day crashing down to the lowest prices since 1906. September wheat touched bottom at 77⅞c. per bushel; last [illegible] was 80⅜c.

Though the rumour was promptly denied, the wide circulation that it obtained had for a time a staggering effect on the market.

The actual report was that the Canadian Provincial Governments might take over the pool, and that the banks had called in twenty-eight million dollars of loans from the pool.

Meanwhile the United States Grain Administration and the Business Conduct Committee of the Chicago Board of Trade have started an inquiry to determine the origin of the rumours.

The competition of Russian grain exports was also a bearish factor.

Mr. Legge, Chairman of the Farm Board, continues to hammer away at the American farmer in an effort to induce him to absorb the American surplus by feeding cattle on wheat instead of maize.

Though great excitement is displayed in Government circles, following on the Secretary of Agriculture's statement concerning Russian wheat manœuvres in Chicago, in Wall street and international banking circles the matter seems to be regarded rather as another "Red bogey." Thus the Journal of Commerce says:—"The Government must feel hard pressed, indeed, to explain the failure of their farm-relief programme to hold wheat prices in line, or else they must feel an urgent need of justifying some of the anti-Russian agitation that has recently been occurring."

AUTHORITIES TAKE ACTION.

INQUIRY TO BE OPENED.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
WASHINGTON, Tuesday.

As word reached Washington to-day of a further decline in the American wheat market, three agencies—the Department of Agriculture, the House Special Committee on Soviet Propaganda in the United States and the Chicago Board of Trade—have been making preparations to press an intensive investigation of the alleged bear operations of the Russian Government in the American grain market.

The Propaganda Committee will open an inquiry in New York on Saturday, calling as first witnesses the heads of three prominent Commission houses, who are reported to have sold seven and a half million bushels of Russian wheat futures.

CANADIAN PRICES ALSO TUMBLE.

LOWEST LEVEL FOR TWENTY-FOUR YEARS.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
WINNIPEG, Tuesday.

Wheat export prices, influenced by early nervousness, due to false reports that the wheat pool was in financial difficulties, which might possibly necessitate Government intervention, again tumbled to-day, reaching the lowest levels for 24 years. Net losses on futures were from two to three cents a bushel, despite the prompt repudiation of bear rumours and continued large export shipments to China and Europe.

Officials of the Grain Exchange are taking action to trace the source of the message which was sent out reporting that the wheat pool was in difficulties, and punitive legal action may follow.

The Government of Manitoba and the Governments of two other prairie provinces are conferring with the banks, transportation companies and grain marketing interests with a view to stabilising, as far as possible, the marketing conditions and aiding the growers over a precarious situation, in which the net prices now being received show no margin of profit on production costs.

Reports of the dumping of Russian grain have also had a bearish effect on the market during the past two days, and the whole outlook for the marketing of this year's Canadian crop is darkly clouded.

SOVIET GRAIN DUMPING.

THOUSANDS OF TONS FOR WESTERN EUROPE.

Numerous vessels were again reported on the Baltic Exchange yesterday to have been chartered for the Black Sea grain trade, says The Times, both at monthly rates and for voyages. It is estimated that since August about 200 vessels have been secured for this trade, and in addition to these about 18 steamers, which were fixed for the timber trade from Northern Russia, are believed to have been dispatched to South Russia to load grain.

The terms of charter for ships to load in the Black Sea ports provide for the option of loading a variety of grain besides wheat. They also provide for a variety of optional ports of discharge; for many of the cargoes are brought forward unsold. The tonnage to be loaded with grain during the next few weeks is now so great that owners will not be surprised if delays occur through serious congestion in the ports.

WORLD TRAFFIC IN NARCOTICS.

PLAIN SPEAKING BY CHINESE DELEGATE.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
GENEVA, Tuesday.

In the Fifth Committee to-day the discussion on the traffic in dangerous drugs was resumed.

The Indian delegate said that the poppy crop in India had decreased considerably, as well as the consumption of opium. He urged that measures against illicit traffic should be adopted by manufacturing countries, and expressed concern at the development of manufacture in States which were not members of the League.

The Chinese delegate, Chao Chu-wu, said that China had not ratified the Geneva Convention, because she regarded it as in some respects retrograde. The Chinese Government had obtained satisfactory results in their efforts to control the opium traffic, though they had been hampered by the system of international concessions. He welcomed the forthcoming conference on the limitation of manufacture, but proposed that all States should be asked to investigate thoroughly the problem in their own territories.

Mrs. Hamilton, M.P., declared the League could count on the whole-hearted co-operation of the British Government in the conference on limitation as the first practical step towards solving the drug problem.

THE BACKWARD PEOPLES.

LEAGUE DISCUSSES MANDATES.

IMPROVEMENT REPORTED.

GREAT BRITAIN'S SACRED TRUST.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
GENEVA, Tuesday.

The report of the work of the Permanent Mandates Commission since last year's session of the Assembly was satisfactorily disposed of this morning at a meeting of the Sixth Committee.

Mr. Frank Brennan (Australia) described the juridical aspects of the New Guinea mandate, the responsibility for which rested on the Commonwealth Government, who were carrying out their duties to the best of their ability, though the difficulties in the way of the mandate should be realised by the members of the League, he said.

Mr. C. R. Buxton, the British delegate, alluded to the interest that Great Britain, particularly the Labour Government, took in the proper working of mandates and her interest in the backward peoples of the world. "Our Government," said Mr. Buxton, "treated the Mandates Commission with the greatest respect, and realised that the Commission had carried out their duty in criticising the happenings in Palestine."

BRITAIN'S TRUSTEESHIP.

With regard to the scheme for the formation of an administrative union of Tanganyika, Uganda and Kenya, Mr. Buxton declared that no decision would be taken in the matter without consultation with the Mandates Commission.

He congratulated the Commission on its efforts to deal with the liquor question, and hoped that the signatories of the Treaty of St. Germain would give the matter their serious consideration.

Speaking of the trusteeship of the mandated territories, he said that the trusteeship extended to the Colonies, adding that it was a sacred trust, which would be carefully watched.

NEW ZEALAND'S REPORT.

Sir Thomas Wilford (New Zealand) spoke of the improved condition of the territories under the New Zealand mandate, and said that New Zealand fully realised her responsibilities under the mandate. He added that the Minister for Home Affairs, who would be attending the forthcoming Imperial Conference in London, would attend the meeting of the Mandates Commission in November, when he would furnish fuller information to the Commission.

Signor Bonin Longare (Italy) offered his congratulations on the changed situation in Palestine, thanks to the wise measures of the British Government, and noted with satisfaction Mr. Buxton's assurances with regard to Tanganyika.

M. André Poncet (France) associated himself with the views of Mr. Buxton with regard to the conception of mandates, and expressed his satisfaction with the improved conditions in Palestine.

SOUTH AFRICA'S DIFFICULTY.

Dr. Kochweser, the German delegate, also alluded to the question of the Union of Tanganyika, Kenya and Uganda, and reminded the Commission of the statement of the late Dr. Stresemann to the League Council that the Tanganyika Mandate should be considered as an independent unit. He noted the British assurances in the matter.

The South African delegate spoke of the extreme difficulty of the Union Government's task in the mandated territory of South-West Africa, but said that his Government was firmly resolved to carry out their mandate both in the spirit and the letter.

Sir Robert Borden, the Chairman of the Committee, congratulated the speakers on the lofty ideals they had expressed in the course of the discussion.

THE QUESTION OF SLAVERY.

After disposing of the Mandate's report, the Sixth Committee took up the question of slavery, the Liberian member protesting against certain Press statements to the effect that slavery existed only in Liberia, whereas it existed over the whole of Africa. He added that the Commission of Inquiry into slavery in Liberia would shortly forward its report to the League. As regards the formation of an International Slavery Office proposed by Great Britain, the Liberian Government opposed the idea unless the office were to possess merely the character of an information department.

Mr. Buxton explained that this permanent office would have no supervisory function, but would receive communications and reports concerning slavery, and would refer them to the Council.

The Spanish delegate suggested the convening of a Slavery Commission, while the French delegate doubted the usefulness of another permanent Commission.

THE FEDERATION OF EUROPE.

INVESTIGATING BODY TO MEET IN JANUARY.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
GENEVA, Tuesday Afternoon.

A meeting of representatives of twenty-seven European countries in connection with M. Briand's proposal for a Federation of European States to-day elected M. Briand, the French Foreign Minister, as Chairman of the Committee of Investigation which is to examine the replies to the French proposal. The name of M. Briand was put forward by Mr. Henderson.

The Committee will be composed of two members from each country, and will meet next January during the session of the Council of the League. Sir Eric Drummond, Permanent Secretary-General of the League, who opened the meeting, was appointed secretary of the new committee, thus emphasising the association of the French scheme with the League of Nations.

The reason for fixing January for the next meeting of the Committee of Investigation is because it is desired to await the results of the November Economic Conference. The Committee will also decide whether European non-members of the League should be invited to participate in the deliberations.

AID FOR STATES ATTACKED.

The Third Committee to-day adopted the text of the draft convention for financial assistance to States victims of aggression, as revised by the Drafting Committee.

Sir Robert Borden said that he must refrain from voting, and he explained that the new Canadian Government was preoccupied with urgent domestic problems, and had had no opportunity of considering the matter, which he would bring before them at the earliest possible moment.

RESCUED GREEK CREW.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
GIBRALTAR, Tuesday.

The British tanker British Advocate reports by wireless that she is putting into here to-morrow to land the captain and crew of 27 of the Greek s.s. Theodoros Bulgaris, which was abandoned in the bay.

THE PROPOSED CORK "SWEEP."

MINISTER OPPOSED TO SCHEME.

STATEMENT BY THE PROMOTERS.

In connection with the proposal to hold a hospitals sweepstake in aid of four Cork hospitals, independently of any that is being run in aid of the Dublin hospitals, a deputation from Cork waited upon Mr. FitzGerald-Kenney, Minister for Justice, at Government Buildings, Dublin, yesterday.

The delegates were:—Messrs. D. F. Doyle, South Infirmary; Frank Simcox, South Infirmary, and P. J. Keily, North Infirmary.

They were introduced by President Cosgrave, deputy for Cork City, and had a lengthy discussion with the Minister on the question of hospital sweepstakes generally, with special reference to the organisation of a southern sweepstake in aid of the Cork Fever Hospital, the North and South Cork Infirmaries, and the Erinville Lying-in Home.

When seen by an Irish Times reporter after the interview, the delegates and some members of the Charities' Guild, which is interested in the promotion of a southern sweepstake, were not very hopeful of getting the Minister's permission. They were not told definitely that a southern sweepstake would not be sanctioned, but they expressed a sense of grievance that the provisions of the Hospitals Sweepstakes Act should not be extended without question to their efforts to help the hospitals in Cork.

MINISTER'S ATTITUDE.

The Minister for Justice, seen after the interview, stated that he had a perfectly open mind on the subject. Before he could give his sanction under the Hospitals Sweepstakes Act to any sweepstakes outside that already being promoted in aid of the Dublin hospitals, a very strong case would have to be presented.

It seemed to him that the Cork hospitals would stand to gain more by taking part in the Dublin sweepstakes than by forming a separate one. Generally, he was not in favour of having rival sweepstakes organised. If a good case were submitted, he would consider it, but a strong case would be necessary to ensure the obtaining of a licence.

He had not given any decision to the deputation from Cork, as the matter had been only discussed generally.

No arrangements have been made for any further deputations from Cork.

PROMOTERS' STATEMENT.

PROTEST AGAINST MONOPOLY.

The following statement was issued yesterday by the directors of the Charities' Guild:—

"The Act under which sweepstakes were conducted distinctly provided that any one or more hospitals could conduct a sweepstake if they complied with certain conditions. The Cork hospitals had entered into and signed an agreement with the Charities' Guild whereby the hospitals would be immediately paid the sum of £5,000 each, and this money was lodged by the Guild in the names of Senator J. C. Dowdall, Mr. Charles Daly and Mr. Daniel O'Connell, three of Cork's leading merchants.

"A deputation from Cork to-day was informed that, despite the Act, they would not be permitted to avail themselves of the offer of the Charities' Guild. Cork thus loses £5,000 for each of its hospitals, and is compelled to take less than a fifth of this sum.

"A BETTER DEAL."

"It is significant that President Cosgrave, who introduced the deputation to the Minister for Justice, tried to convince the deputation that the hospitals in Cork would be making a better deal by taking a fifth of the money that was lodged and offered to the Cork hospitals. The deputation refused to believe this, and the position now is whether the Cork hospitals will be forced to go in with the Hospitals' Trust.

"The Hospitals' Trust have only offered to all the hospitals a guarantee of £20,000, and the Charities' Guild has offered this amount to Cork City alone, and is prepared to lodge £5,000 each for every other hospital in the Free State.

"The Act never contemplated a monopoly being given to any one company of promoters, and the Charities' Guild will, within the next few days, have completed agreements with approximately eight of the principal Free State hospitals.

"Many of the principal citizens of Cork are up in arms against the idea of a private company monopoly."

PETROL PRICES.

THE TEXAS COMPANY'S REDUCTIONS.

In common with other oil companies in the Irish Free State, the Texas Company (of Ireland), Ltd., 43 and 44 Lower O'Connell street, Dublin, have reduced the price of petrol by twopence per gallon, and of kerosene (lamp oil) by one penny per gallon in the Irish Free State.

THE NEW PRICES IN THE NORTH.

A SAVING OF £130,000 PER ANNUM.

The reduction of 2d. per gallon in the price of petrol will save Northern Ireland motor owners and motor lorry users £2,500 per week, or £130,000 per annum. Number 1 petrol will be sold in the Belfast zone at 1s. 5½d. ex pump and 1s. 8½d. per tin, and in the rest of Northern Ireland at 1s. 6d. per gallon ex pump and 1s. 9d. in tins.

One large omnibus company will save £125 per week by the reduction.

The Belfast Corporation, which uses about 200,000 gallons of petrol annually for motor omnibuses and in other ways, will save about £1,600 per annum.

PROTECTION OF PARTRIDGE.

A CLOSE YEAR.

The Dublin Gazette announces that, in exercise of the power conferred upon him by Section 6 of the Game Preservation Act, 1930 (No. 11 of 1930), the Minister for Justice has made an Order, entitled Game Birds Protection Order No. 1 (Statutory Rules and Orders, 1930, No. 75), prohibiting the killing or taking of partridge in any part of Saorstat Eireann for a period of one year from the date of the Order, viz., 19th September, 1930.

Copies of the Order will be on sale at the Government Publications Sale Office, 5 Nassau street, Dublin.

BIG OPIUM SEIZURE.

BY ARRANGEMENT WITH "THE TIMES."

The Customs authorities at Marseilles seized 930 kilogrammes—2,051lb.—of opium on board the Italian steamer Brasile from Constantinople yesterday. The drug was concealed in ten large parcels, declared to contain tar.

LATE NEWS.

BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH "THE TIMES."

RUSSIAN FOOD EXPORTS.

AN EXPLANATION.

The Times to-day says:—Public attention in every part of the world has been stirred by the great effort now being made by the Soviet Government to swell the volume of its exports. It would, indeed, be strange if people did not feel the need of some explanation when they hear of a Government chartering huge fleets to carry wheat to foreign ports, when its own people are living on the verge of starvation. Many theories have been suggested, but there seems no need to look for any further explanation than that which the internal situation of Russia itself suggests. Ever since the five-year plan for the industrialisation of Russia was introduced two years ago, the whole nation, as a recent writer puts it, has been living in the future tense. It has had, and has to endure, privations which would long ago have driven a less patient people to desperation and revolt, but it has been told, and, indeed, to some extent has been persuaded, that these privations are but a temporary inconvenience, that the wonderful five year plan is being carried out according to schedule, and that when the programme is complete, with all the factories working and all the equipment to hand, there will be an easier and happier time for everybody.

All the organs of propaganda at the disposal of the Communist leaders—the Press, the broadcasting system, the itinerant cinemas and lecturers, and the party "cells" in factories and villages—have all harped ceaselessly and insistently upon this note. Much real enthusiasm has been aroused for the plan, and even where the workers were too tired and depressed to feel any enthusiasm the hope of a better time to come helped to mitigate discontent. So much has been made of it that the fortunes—indeed, one may say the very existence—of the Communist organisation have become bound up with its success. Progress has been made—in some respects, very great progress—but so far with but little improvement, if any, in the general condition of the people, and, moreover, at an enormous cost in money, in effort, and in human suffering.

Whatever the expense, the programme has to be kept going; for that is a matter of life and death to the Government. Whatever the money required, it has to be found, and the only way of finding it is to export more and more even of the very things, for lack of which the people of Russia are starving.

A STATUTORY DOLE.

NATION'S REPUTATION DAMAGED.

The Times observes to-day in a leading article:—When at the close of last session the Government asked for, and obtained, an Inter-Party Committee to review the system of unemployment insurance, their action was taken to be a welcome confession that the system could not stand the spirit of administration which, in obedience to the principles of "Labour and the nation," they had done so much to create. The effect of their Unemployment Insurance Act, which confounded unemployment benefit with poor relief, and abolished the moral without restoring the actuarial qualification for benefit, has been seriously to damage our reputation as a nation of statesmen and workmen. Everyone who has discussed this subject with foreigners knows the amazement with which other nations contemplate the folly of a statutory dole, and the deduction—so hard to dispute—that, in this country, we set a premium on idleness.

One simple step would, clearly, do much both to restore a proper spirit of administration and to rescue the fund. The fund, as already stated, only bears the cost of benefit payable to those who have made thirty contributions during the past two years. Nevertheless, although the Government have made the taxpayer reinforce the income of the fund by an extra £3,500,000 a year, it is running into debt at the rate of about £29,000,000 a year. The irresistible conclusion is that the actuarial basis of the fund is unsound. That basis has so often been varied that it possesses no contractual sacrosanctity, and if the Government is unwilling either to increase contributions or to lower the rates of benefit, it is clear that nobody should be allowed to draw benefit unless he has paid the full number of contributions which the finances of the fund require.

PROTECTING THE FUND.

The protection of the fund by such a strict actuarial test would at the same time protect it by an adequate moral test, because no one could draw benefit without a considerable period of work. Some means must be found to prevent those who take work in uninsured employment from falling out of insurance. The compulsory insurance of trades now uninsured would be manifestly oppressive, but it might be possible to secure that the offer of work in such a trade constituted an offer which the insured person was bound to take by continuing his insurance therein upon a compulsory or even a voluntary basis. One of the chief tasks of the Committee must be to remove existing obstacles to the mobility of labour.

HITLER MAY BE TRIED.

ON CHARGE OF HIGH TREASON.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
BERLIN, Wednesday.

According to several of the Berlin morning papers, it is stated that the Attorney-General has opened an inquiry which may lead to a charge of high treason being brought against Hitler and Goebels, the leaders of the National Socialist Party.

The newspapers concerned reveal this information in the course of their account of the trial at Leipzig of the three Reichswehr officers who are accused of carrying on National Socialist propaganda in the Army. The State Attorney himself refused to make a statement in the Leipzig Court to-day on the subject, but the principal solicitor for the defence, who is an intimate friend of Hitler, confirmed the report that action is being taken against Hitler.

It is added that the Attorney-General took action at the request of the Ministry of Defence.

AMERICA'S BUSINESS FAILURES.

YEAR'S 1,000,000,000 DOLLAR LOSS.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
CHICAGO, Tuesday.

Mr. William Fraser, President of the National Association of Credit Men, addressing its directors to-day, said that America's loss through bankruptcy in the current year would probably amount to 1,000,000,000 dollars. "The annual loss," Mr. Fraser said, "has been approximately 750,000,000 dollars for the last few years, but, judging by the increased rate of business failures, it will probably reach 1,000,000,000 dollars for 1930."

SPANISH AFFAIRS.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
SAN SEBASTIAN, Tuesday.

General Berenguer told newspaper men to-day that there was not the slightest truth in the reports of the resignation of the Duke of Alba.

The Minister for Foreign Affairs, speaking to reporters, himself, said—"I am still a Minister, in spite of reports to the contrary. I have never even thought of a formal contradiction being sent out to such a report."

NO POLITICS AT CORK HILL.

CONSTITUTIONAL GROUP'S AIM.

DEVELOPING THE CIVIC SPIRIT.

COMMISSIONERS THANKED.

A meeting of the residents of No. 1 and No. 4 Areas of Dublin City was held last night in the Mills Hall, Merrion row, for the purpose of promoting the candidature of the representatives of the Constitutional Group for the two areas who are seeking election on the new Dublin Corporation.

For No. 1 Area the Group's candidates are: Mr. Patrick Joseph Cahill, 64-65 Aungier street; Dr. Myles Keogh, T.D., Lower Mount street, and Mr. J. J. Reddy, 2 Dawson street.

CANDIDATES' PROGRAMME.

The candidates stand for a Corporation free from party politics, and for continuing and developing the good work of the City Commissioners.

Their programme contains promises to solve the housing problem, the clearance of the slums, the proper care of the poor, no wasteful expenditure, and the reconstruction of Greater Dublin on carefully-planned and far-seeing lines.

THE CHAIRMAN.

Mr. George O'Connor, who presided, having referred to the position of each of the candidates, said that they felt confident that they would receive the votes of the ratepayers who desired the business of the Corporation to be carried out in a strictly business-like manner. The task of the candidates was not an easy one. They had to follow in the lines that were laid down by the City Commissioners, whose work had raised Dublin from a dirty condition into a condition which gave it a position not second to that of any city in the world. (Hear, hear.)

The candidates who now sought the votes of the electors were not going to dabble in politics, and were not going to allow the Council Chamber to be turned into the old gas-house that it was before the Commissioners came in.

CARRYING ON THE GOOD WORK.

Mr. J. J. Reddy said that the Constitutional Group had been formed in the best interests of the citizens of Dublin in the hope that the new Council would follow up the good work which the Commissioners had done for the city during the last six years. They had done work for the city which most people thought was almost impossible, they had given the citizens a clean city. The Constitutional candidates, if elected, would try to live up to the example set them by the Commissioners. As a body they would try to get the new Council to give preference to Irish material in any work that was to be undertaken, but they would not give that preference unless the goods were value for the money that would be paid for them.

Every contract should be on a competitive basis, and the work would be carried out on the strict lines of efficiency and economy. Politics would be excluded from the Council Chamber. There was plenty of room for political discussion in Leinster House. The candidates expected that the ratepayers would take more interest in the work of the new Corporation than they did in that of the old Council; for it was their duty, and it would be to their interest to stand behind them and guide them, advise them and help them. The city wanted a body of men who would be capable of going into the estimates of the rates and dealing with them as keen business men, and who would do their best for the citizens.

THE CLEANING CONTRACT.

The candidates were pledged, irrespective of political or religious views, not to allow questions of religion or politics to find a place in the new Council Chamber. Whatever the electors would do next Tuesday they would have to put up with it for three years, no matter what Government was in power.

A Voice—What about the Frenchman?

Mr. Reddy—The Frenchman came to Dublin because his method of cleaning the streets was better than ours, and because his work was done more economically. (Hear, hear.) The Frenchman can be disposed of—and I have no doubt will be disposed of—when the proper time comes. He has shown that he knows how to do his job. (Hear, hear.)

THE MARINE LAKE SCHEME.

Mr. P. J. Cahill, as one of the candidates, said that Cork Hill was no place for politics. As a native of Dublin, every interest of the city was his. In the matter of the proposed Blue Lagoon, he thought, having discussed it with various people, that it would be a distinct advantage to Dublin. If they had to spend £55,000 on this work much of it would be spent on workingmen's wages. There were stones at Howth and sand at Raheny which could be purchased moderately, and the lake would be a great asset to the city.

As to unemployment, he had, he said, done something in his own way to relieve it, because when there was unemployment the people could not buy his goods. If anyone should discuss politics in the new Corporation he would be among the first to put a stop to it.

THE NEW SPIRIT.

Mr. Peadar S. Doyle, T.D., a candidate, said that the primary object in the promotion of the Greater Dublin Constitutional Group was to emphasise that a new beginning was being made in the government of the municipality. The conduct of the Government of Greater Dublin must be above reproach. A new civic spirit must be developed, and it was to organise that civic spirit that their group was formed.

It was realised that the greatest danger to the development of this spirit which the new Council would have to face was the intrusion of politics. Any attempt to impede the vast amount of business, involving the complete reorganisation of the city, by political discussions would, undoubtedly, be disastrous. As a member of the Constitutional Group, he would say that the interests of the citizens of Greater Dublin must be given the most impartial and unprejudiced discussion on municipal matters only, and he would ask the citizens of Dublin to ban politics in the Chamber of the new Council by voting solidly for the Constitutional Group.

Mr. Munro, auditor and accountant, Grafton street, proposing a vote of thanks to the Chairman, candidates and the City Commissioners, said that they owed thanks to the candidates for giving them so much informative guidance. There was only one way in which they could thank the candidates, and that was by voting solidly for them. They believed that these candidates were going forward to do something for the city, and to carry on the good work of the Commissioners.

As a ratepayer, he sincerely thanked the Commissioners, first of all, for having reduced the rates, and also for having done some noble work in the building of houses and the cleansing of the city. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. John Homan seconded the motion, and endorsed what the previous speakers had said with regard to the work of the City Commissioners. The people who had been against the appointment of Commissioners were now the strongest in their favour, and asked why they should be dispensed with now. There was, however, a difference of opinion on this matter. A city ruled by Commissioners was not quite the same as one ruled by the representatives of the people. This gave people a civic spirit, people who take a pride in the city.

The Chairman, in replying, thanked the speakers for what had been said about the City Commissioners.

THE CITIZENS' INTERESTS.

Mr. Batt O'Connor, T.D., said that the men in the Constitutional Group were men of all trades and of all politics and religions, and that was a good thing that should be considered. The candidates in the group were all able and busy business men, with a stake in the city. It was most important for the citizens to see that men were returned who would be careful of the rates and careful of expenditure, and no one could see to that better than business men. It was in the interests of the citizens to come forward and help in the campaign.

Mr. John Costello appealed to the electors to overcome their apathy, and to make up their minds to go to the polls at any trouble.

Mr. F. Fitzpatrick appealed to motor-car owners to lend their cars for the transport of voters to the polling stations on Tuesday next.

COASTAL BOROUGH.

MEETING IN DALKEY.

Mr. P. D'Arcy, an ex-Councillor, of Dalkey, presided last night at a meeting in Dalkey, held in support of Fianna Fail candidates for seats on the Council of the Borough of Dun Laoghaire.

FIANNA FAIL'S INTENTIONS.

Mr. John Maguire, Barrister-at-Law, said that the Fianna Fail party stood for the development of the whole of the country and for the development of each of its component parts, of which Dalkey was one. That was why the Fianna Fail Party, unlike Cumann na nGaedheal was putting forward official candidates for the Coastal Borough. They intended to build forty-six houses at a maximum rent of 8s. a week. It was their intention to re-open the Dalkey quarries, where once hundreds of men were employed, and to secure a proper water supply for all parts of the town, and that also meant work for men. They would also establish a fully-equipped technical school in the town. They wanted the park put in a proper condition, and it was also their intention to extend the Marine Parade, Dun Laoghaire, right through Dalkey to Killiney.

Referring to the abolition of the Dalkey Urban Council, Mr. Maguire, who was formerly chairman of the Council, said that the Local Government Ministry sought to compel the Dalkey Council to pay off a thirty years' old debt. That meant a rate increased by 10s. in the £. The Council refused to put a burden on the ratepayers, and were told they would be fired, and so they were. He advised Dalkey to vote for the local candidates, and let Killiney, Dun Laoghaire and Dalkey look after themselves.

Mr. S. Moore, T.D., also addressed the meeting.

CHILEAN REVOLT.

HUNDREDS ARRESTED.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
SANTIAGO DE CHILE, Tuesday.

Statements issued by the Ministers of the Interior and Foreign Affairs describe the whole country as tranquil. They add that the attempt of two ex-soldiers and two civilians to make a regiment mutiny has failed, and that all reports to the contrary are unfounded.

ANOTHER ASPECT.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
NEW YORK, Tuesday.

Persistent reports are in circulation that the Chilian insurrection has been far more serious than is admitted by the Government, which maintains that the situation is completely in hand, says the Associated Press Correspondent at Mendza, in the Argentine. Hundreds of persons are believed to be under arrest in Southern Chile, owing to the attempt of the Chilian Government to suppress the revolutionary movement which developed on Sunday.

Reports from Concepcion reveal that it was only the merest chance which prevented the two exiled military men and the three civilians who accompanied them from succeeding in their purpose of lighting the flame of revolution. They were discussing the intended coup with officers of the garrison, when General Barcelo, the commandant of the garrison, appeared, and instantly realised what was going on. He drew a revolver and fired three times at one of the conspirators, who replied with his revolver. Half a dozen shots were exchanged, and the revolutionaries then fled to a room in the garrison quarters, but surrendered after General Barcelo had threatened to blow up their position with a piece of artillery.

One of the three civilians among the conspirators is reported to have fled, the other four being arrested. The aeroplanes used in the venture and their pilots are being detained. About twenty officers of the regiment stationed at Concepcion are said to be implicated. All those arrested there have been transferred to the destroyer Almirante Uribe.

DISPUTE ENDS IN DEATH.

RAILWAY DIRECTORS SHOOT EACH OTHER.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
BALTIMORE, MARYLAND, Tuesday

Mr. Maxwell C. Byers, President of the Western Maryland Railway Company, was found shot dead, and Mr. Dudley Gray, Vice-President, seriously wounded, in the railway executive offices to-day.

It appears that the two men had been at loggerheads for some time about some litigation in which the company was engaged, and that a hot argument between them developed into a gun battle, in which five shots were fired. Mr. Dudley Gray died afterwards.

WATCHMAKER FOUND DEAD IN FLAT.

NEW ZEALAND INQUEST ADJOURNED.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
AUCKLAND, N.Z., Tuesday.

The inquest on Mr. Charles Henry Wallis, the twenty-five-year-old Englishman, who was found dead in a flat here yesterday, revealed that Wallis was a watchmaker, employed recently as a travelling jeweller, and that he left England nine months ago for Sydney, Australia. He had only lately arrived in New Zealand. His family is not known here.

A gas tube led from the kitchen to the room where the body was found.

The inquest was adjourned.

INDIAN BOYCOTT.

WIDESPREAD LOSS TO NATIVES.

RECRUDESENCE OF SALT CAMPAIGN LIKELY.

The report of the Government of India on the state of the country down to September 20th, issued by the India Office last night, states that in a district of the United Provinces "the type of Congress volunteers has deteriorated, and now largely consists of out-of-work tenants and other persons of even lower status brought in from the villages."

Referring to the activities of the Congress in connection with the elections to legislative bodies, the report states that there is a device in some places to put up for the legislative bodies persons of the lowest castes, their object apparently being thus to bring discredit on the legislatures.

The boycott of foreign goods and the widespread loss it had caused to Indians was alienating from the Congress the sympathy of an important section of the Hindu middle classes, on whose support the Congress programme largely depended.

There were already signs of a recrudescence of the salt campaign.

DECLINING TRADE.

BOMBAY SUFFERING.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
BOMBAY, Tuesday.

The tale of trade depression here still continues.

According to statistics just issued by the Collector of Customs, the aggregate value of the foreign trade of Bombay for the month of August shows a fall of 1 per cent., as compared with the corresponding month of last year.

The value of imports has decreased by 42 per cent., this decrease being largely due to the decrease in cotton piece goods, which have fallen by nearly 25½ million yards, or a value of £560,000.

Exports fell by over 20 per cent., and the collections from import duty amounted to £547,000, as compared with £770,000 for August of last year and £625,000 for last month.

THE CONFERENCE.

GREAT PUBLIC INTEREST.

FROM "THE TIMES" CORRESPONDENT.
SIMLA, Tuesday.

All except one of those mentioned in the official list recently issued as having been invited by His Majesty to attend the Round-table Conference as representatives of different Indian parties and interests have accepted the invitation. Some eight or nine other representatives have also accepted invitations, and their names will probably be published before the end of this week.

The subject of the Conference is gradually absorbing the whole political interest of the country. Compared with it the general elections recently held for the Central and Provincial Legislatures are hardly noticed in the political Press.

Public discussion in political circles all turns on the same topic, and, as was foreseen, the chief interest is in the personnel of the representation.

THE SIMON REPORT.

INDIAN GOVERNMENT'S DESPATCH.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
DELHI, Tuesday.

The Government of India has sent a unanimous despatch to the Home Government this week concerning the Simon Report and recommendations.

Mr. H. G. Haig, the Government of India's delegate to the Round-table Conference, has been requested to furnish any explanations that may be necessary concerning the despatch in London.

POLICE STATION BOMBED.

HEAD CONSTABLE WOUNDED.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
KHULNA (BENGAL), Tuesday.

The police station was bombed this evening. The head constable was dangerously injured and the sub-inspector slightly injured.

The assailant escaped.

ALIPORE JAIL DELIVERY.

MAYOR OF CALCUTTA FREE.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
CALCUTTA, Tuesday.

Two releases from Alipore Central Jail took place to-day. One was that of Subhas Chandra Bose, serving a twelve (since reduced to nine) months' sentence passed on him in January for sedition.

The other was that of Sen Gupta, Mayor of Calcutta, who was given a six months' sentence in April for sedition and conspiracy.

NORTH-WEST FRONTIER.

SUBMISSION OF TRIBESMEN.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
SIMLA, Tuesday.

The Hajikhel and Khawajak sections of the Chamkannis, on the Kurram border, have made complete submission, surrendering their rifles and handing over the hostages demanded.

FINANCIAL POSITION IN AUSTRALIA.

AN OPPOSITION OFFER TO THE GOVERNMENT.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

At the annual conference of the Nationalist Federation to-day, Mr. Latham, Leader of the Opposition in the Commonwealth Parliament, said that the Opposition was prepared to support the Labour Government in the unpopular things which it must do to carry out the resolutions of the recent financial conference.

Unfortunately, however, added Mr. Latham, the Government appears to be doing nothing. Action must be taken—and immediately.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
PERTH, Tuesday.

The Premier and Treasurer, Sir James Mitchell, in the course of his Budget speech in the Western Australia Legislative Assembly to-day, announced that the financial year had shown a deficit of £1,518,000, compared with an estimated surplus of £1,050,000, which is chiefly due to the loss on the State railways.

CYCLIST'S LEG FRACTURED.

Mr. Draper, Kingston Lodge, Rathfarnham, Dublin, had one of his legs fractured yesterday afternoon, when the bicycle on which he was riding collided with a motor car on Bushy Park road. He lies in Adelaide Hospital.

THE INVASION OF CHIHLI.

MANCHURIAN FORCES IN PEKIN.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
SHANGHAI, Tuesday.

It is now becoming increasingly apparent that the Manchurian invasion of the Province of Chihli was totally unexpected in Nanking, where Nationalist officials are now on tenterhooks regarding the possibility of the Manchurian War Lord, Marshal Chang Hsue-liang, demanding the reorganisation of the National Government and the retirement of all military leaders involved in the civil war.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
TIENTSIN, Tuesday.

Some thirty thousand Manchurian troops are on their way to Peking. A further forty thousand have arrived, or are arriving, here. The situation continues to be most peaceful.

The question of future official appointments is, however, agitating local political circles in view of the fact that not only Mukden, but also the Nanking cliques, will have to be taken into consideration.

"TO BRING PEACE."

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
PEKING, Tuesday.

The Manchurians have issued various proclamations declaring that they have come to maintain order and eventually to bring peace throughout the whole of China.

They also declare that they will not requisition any goods, but will pay fully for everything that they require. Not only do they not intend to impose any fresh taxes, but they mean to abolish excessive taxation.

Manchurian forces are now taking up positions in the suburbs of Pekin, and a few have actually entered the city.

A GENERAL RETREAT.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
NANKING, Tuesday.

The Nationalist Government has received a telegram from General Headquarters stating that the Kuominchun forces began a general retreat on all fronts last night. They are apparently planning to take up positions north of the Yellow River.

Government troops, it is stated, have captured Lanfeng, and expect to enter Chengchow—until recently the headquarters of General Feng Yu-hsiang—in a day or two.

It is announced here from an authoritative Chinese source that Sir Miles Lampson, British Minister to China, and Dr. C. T. Wang, the Chinese Foreign Minister, yesterday evening signed the agreement regarding the disposal of the Boxer Indemnity Funds.

Sir Miles Lampson left at noon to-day, returning to Shanghai, and no date has yet been fixed for his next meeting with the representatives of the National Government.

SEAPLANE IN GRIP OF TIDE.

SWEPT TOWARDS MILL RACE.

A naval seaplane and its crew of three had a narrow escape in the estuary of the River Lossie, Moray Firth, yesterday.

The 'plane, a scouting machine from the cruiser Norfolk, landed in the estuary to await the coming of the fleet. After about an hour the crew discovered that they were in the grip of the fast-flowing tide. They made an effort to escape by taking off, but could not start the engine. As a desperate resort the crew tried to beach the machine on the East Sands, but the strength of the current made this impossible. Finally they dropped an anchor, which held the machine in the middle of the river.

A motor fishing boat stood by, and efforts were again made to start the engine, when a new danger developed. The 'plane dragged its anchor, and, driven by wind and tide, was swept, with rapidly-increasing speed, towards the mill race at the mouth of the river. Here it collided with the breakwater, and was at once secured by ropes, and towed up river by the crowd and berthed. The machine was damaged by its contact with the breakwater.

CHICAGO GANGSTER'S DEATH.

A NEW THEORY.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
CHICAGO, Tuesday.

One of the eight bullets which were responsible for the death of Jack Zuta, the gang leader, at Delafield, Wisconsin, at the beginning of August, was fired from an automatic pistol belonging to Danny Stanton. The latter is another well-known "gangster," and was the first man to be arrested when the Chicago police rounded up the "public enemies of the city" some time ago. This fact has been established after a microscopic examination of the missile, and, if the view of the experts who made the examination is accepted, the police will have to abandon their original theory that Jack Zuta was killed by members of the Maraniello band, of which he was the leader.

DUBLIN GIRL'S DEATH.

INQUEST ADJOURNED FOR FURTHER INQUIRIES.

An inquest, opened yesterday in Steevens's Hospital, Dublin, by Dr. L. A. Byrne, City Coroner, on Miss Mary McMahon (22), of 106 Kickham road, Kilmainham, who was injured in a tramcar accident on Sunday night at Conyngham road, was adjourned pending further inquiries by the police.

Dr. L. J. Brough, Steevens's Hospital, said that when Miss McMahon was admitted to hospital she was suffering from extensive injuries, and was in a collapsed condition. In his opinion death was due to shock and hemorrhage, following injuries.

Mr. T. J. Greene (Messrs. Roger Greene and Sons), who appeared for the next-of-kin, said that all the facts relative to the girl's death should be stated. He understood that the tramcar driver had not been charged.

Mr. E. H. Burne (Messrs. G. Byrne and Co.), who represented the Dublin United Tramways Company and the driver, said that nothing would be gained by going into the matter at present, and that a charge would undoubtedly be made.

John McMahon, father of the dead girl, said she had been employed at the White Heather Laundry for the past eight years.

BRITISH INSURANCE FIRM IN IRAQ.

IMPORTANT DECISION REVERSED.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
BAGHDAD, Tuesday.

The Basrah Court recently fined the Motor Union Insurance Company £1,500, and its local agents have been fined in a like amount, because the company was not registered under the Iraq Companies Act. This decision has now been reversed by the Baghdad Court of Sessions on the ground that the agent's office does not constitute a place of business within the meaning of the Act.

This decision is regarded as being of great importance to all companies trading in the East. The section of the Act under which the company was prosecuted is similar to certain provisions of the Indian Companies Act.

BIG LINER GOES ASHORE.

CREW OF 64 TAKEN OFF.

RESCUES BY BREECHES BUOY AND LIFEBOAT.

The crew of the Ellerman liner City of Osaka, which went ashore early yesterday on the rocky Aberdeenshire coast between Cruden Bay and Collieston, were rescued by means of the breeches buoy and by the Peterhead lifeboat.

The City of Osaka, a steamer of 6,614 tons, left Newcastle on Monday evening for New York, and shortly after five o'clock yesterday morning she reported that she was lying close to the cliff, with water in three of the holds and the engine room. The Peterhead and Collieston lifeboats put out to her assistance, and the British destroyer Walker also proceeded to the spot.

HAULING THE CREW ASHORE.

In the meantime coastguards erected the rocket apparatus on the cliffs, and as the vessel began to settle lower in the water a line was cast over her, and a crowd of fisher men and farm servants assisted in hauling members of the crew ashore in the breeches buoy.

The City of Osaka carried no passengers, and of her crew of sixty-four, four British and thirty-six foreign seamen were thus rescued. The foreign seamen, Japanese and Lascars, were taken by motor 'bus to the Sailors' Home in Aberdeen. The remaining twenty-four members of the crew were taken off by the Peterhead lifeboat and landed at Peterhead, the last man leaving the ship about 4.30 p.m.

MANY BRETON SAILORS DROWNED.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
CONCARNEAU (BRITTANY), Tuesday.

Poignant scenes continue to be witnessed on the mole at Concerneau, where the whole of the population of fishing folk gather with anxious eyes to see what is left of the fishing fleet, as the boats, many of which are a disentangled mass of wreckage, struggle into port.

Concarneau is the headquarters of at least 500 tunny fishing boats. Yesterday seventy were unaccounted for; to-day fifty are still missing. Eight naval vessels are now out searching for the missing smacks.

One crippled boat helped by another had no masts or sails left, and one of the crew had been decapitated by the falling mast under the eyes of his son. The skipper's wife when she realised that her husband was safe fainted.

AN ALL NIGHT VIGIL.

All the men and women remained at the mole all night following from time to time the receipt of messages from other ports.

Three boats were announced to be safe at Douarnenez and one at Plymouth. Concarneau mourns eighteen dead up-to-date, and Lorient thirty, but the list is likely to become much larger; for many boats are still unaccounted for.

TEN LOST IN SINKING VESSEL.

SURVIVORS DRIFT FOR 72 HOURS.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
NORTH SYDNEY, NOVA SCOTIA, Tuesday.

Six survivors of the crew of the Newfoundland steamer Caranza, which left here on Thursday for Newfoundland, report the loss of eight passengers and two members of the crew, when the vessel was struck by lightning, sinking shortly afterwards.

The six survivors, in a small dory, with scarcely any food or water, and only two oars, battled desperately in the stormy weather for 72 hours. Their feeble cries for help were at last heard through the darkness of Sunday night by the watchman aboard the schooner Viginette, which rescued the party.

The men had rowed and drifted to within 75 miles of Miquelon Island.

The dead were all from Newfoundland, and included the captain of the Caranza, Mr. Matthews.

GERMAN DOCTOR FOR TRIAL.

SEQUEL TO BROKEN ENGAGEMENT.

Alleged to have attempted to shoot his former fiancée and her mother, Herbert Pistor, a young German doctor, whose address was given as that of a London hotel, was charged at Ashford, Kent, Police Court yesterday with having in his possession an automatic pistol and seven rounds of ammunition, with intent to endanger life at Charing on September 8th. Mr. Christmas Humphreys defended. The accused man was committed for trial at the Central Criminal Court.

Miss Evelyn Mary King, of Seaview, Charing, said that she first met Pistor about two and a half years ago aboard ship. They became engaged, but the engagement was subsequently broken off. He afterwards wrote to her saying that he thought he had acted rather hastily, and hoped to be able to make it up again.

NOTE FROM MOTHER.

On September 8th, she added, Pistor visited her unexpectedly at Charing. While she was talking to him at the back of the house her mother sent a note telling him to go. He did not go. Suddenly Pistor saw her mother coming towards them, and said: "There is Mrs. King coming. I will shoot her." He put his hand towards his pocket, but she threw herself on him and held his hand. Mr. and Mrs. Morris, in whose house she was staying, rushed to her assistance, and Pistor was overpowered.

Mrs. Moore King, a widow, said that Miss King was her adopted daughter. When she found Pistor had come to the house she sent him the following note:—

"I object to you forcing yourself on us and our friends, and making our lives miserable and unhappy. I ask you to leave and trouble us no more, as any gentleman would. We have distinctly shown you our feelings."

He did not go, however, and as she went out to him she saw her daughter throw herself on Pistor.

PISTOL FULLY-LOADED.

Joseph Morris, Seaview, Charing, said that he heard Miss King shout: "Morris, Morris, revolver!" He went up to Pistor, who had his hand on the pistol, which was half-way out of his pocket. He held him while Miss King took the pistol. Pistor said: "You have me now, but I will have you and them later." A police constable said that there were six rounds of ammunition in the magazine and one in the breech of the pistol. The safety catch was then at safety. When asked why he carried the pistol, Pistor said: "When one is down a ' has been up, and when one has worked in the mines and factories, and has loved two or three years, and it has all been for nothing, it is the finish quick."

ACCIDENT TO JACK DEMPSEY.

ARM INJURED BY MOTOR CAR.

NEW ORLEANS, Tuesday.

Jack Dempsey, the former heavy-weight boxing champion, was injured to-day by a motor car, when he was returning from a reception held in his honour. He was removed to hospital with an injured arm, which necessitated several stitches. Dempsey's own comment on his injury was: "That won't bother me. It's nothing."

Dempsey was crossing the street, when a motor car swung round the corner with its door open, and caught his arm between the door and the side of the car.

Yesterday Dempsey acted as referee at a fight, and after his arm had been dressed, he left for Alexandria, Louisiana, to referee at another contest to-night.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)
NEW YORK, Tuesday.

Very irregular movements featured early dealings on the Stock Market, influenced by the weakness in wheat, which sold at the lowest price for years. Later, however, support placed behind seasoned dividend-paying issues, which was reputed to be by important financial interests, made bears cautious and facilitated rallies. Coppers and Oils were early liquidated rather freely, the former on unfavourable dividend prospects, many touching new low levels for the year, including Anaconda Copper, Kennecott Copper, Standard Oil of New York, Prairie Oil and Ohio Oil. With German Bonds rallying on the London and New York markets professional bears were not disposed to make capital of foreign situations, which were subject to rumour yesterday. A more active demand for market leaders later resulted in numerous gains of from 1 to 3 points. The omission of the Republic Iron and Steel quarterly dollar dividend had been expected, the stock rallying on short covering after the announcement. A little irregularity featured late trading, but the trend was generally upward and the market closed steady. New York Consolidated Gas, American Waterworks, American and Foreign Power, American Telephone and Telegraph, Bethlehem Steel, Vanadium, National Biscuit, Westinghouse Electric, Johns Manville and American Can rose from 2 to 5 points, while Baltimore and Ohio lost 1 and Union Pacific 2 points. Government Bonds quiet; Railroad Bonds steady. The day's sales totalled 1,918,000 shares.

WHEAT at the opening was barely steady, and ⅛c. to ½c. lower. Reports, which were later denied, stated that the Canadian wheat pool were in difficulties. The market was depressed by weakness at Liverpool and Buenos Aires, advices of favourable rains in parts of Santa Fe, and bearish crop news from Australia. TWO MEN ESCAPE FROM JAIL.

SUDDEN DASH FOR LIBERTY.

Two prisoners escaped from Nottingham Jail last night. They were James Watson (22), a miner, whose last address was Loom street, Carlton, Glasgow, and Harold Knowles (22), whose last known address was Chariot street, Openshaw, Manchester.

Watson, who was serving a term of eighteen months' hard labour, passed at Durham on March 4 this year for housebreaking, was known by several names. Two of his aliases are Hugh Mallin and Hugh Mallow. He is described as 5ft. ¾in. in height, sallow complexion, auburn hair, blue eyes, spare build, oval face. He is a native of Blantyre, Scotland. Knowles was undergoing a sentence of thirteen months', passed at Manchester City Sessions on June 14 for larceny. His description is as follows:—Height 5ft. 4½in., sallow complexion, dark brown hair, hazel eyes, proportionate build, oval face, deformed left leg. He is a native of Glasgow. They were both wearing prison garb, which consists of grey cloth suits, grey shirts, brown ties and no hats.

SUDDEN DASH FROM RANKS.

The men, who were members of a party of about a dozen prisoners engaged in digging potatoes in a field adjoining the prison, made a sudden dash for liberty when they were returning to their quarters. They were marching together, with armed warders at the head of the column and behind, when suddenly they dashed from the ranks, ran to a near-by road, and disappeared in the direction of Daybrook. They obtained a good start, and successfully eluded their pursuers. The alarm bell was immediately rung, and squads of warders armed with rifles sent out in all directions. An official description of the men was issued at all the police stations in the district. Despite a thorough search, the men were still at large at midnight.

A TRAINING CENTRE.

Nottingham Prison was recently selected as a training centre for male offenders between the ages of twenty-one and twenty-five years for the North of England who have failed to make good on more than one occasion. For some time convicts at the jail have been paid for working in the various "shops," the maximum wage being 1s. 6d. a week. Part of this has to be saved, but the remainder can be spent on cigarettes, newspapers, cake, jam, or any other articles sanctioned by the prison Governor. Since the scheme was introduced the output of work is said to have increased seven times.

PREVIOUS PRISON ESCAPES.

In April, 1928, there was a dramatic escape from Dartmoor. A young man, who was working in a locked bathroom in Princetown Prison, climbed through the window, entered the prison blacksmith's shop, and stole some tools. Later he found some ladders, tied them together, and by this means scaled the prison wall. He then broke into a garage belonging to a Roman Catholic priest, who was conducting a Serive at the prison, took a motor car, and drove into the country. He was recaptured the following day. The last escape took place at the end of June, when two men attempted to break out of Wandsworth Jail. One succeeded, only to be recaptured shortly afterwards.

Other prison escapes during recent years are as follows:—January, 1930—Man escaped from Walton Jail, Liverpool. August, 1929—Man escaped from Birmingham Prison; housebreaker escaped from Exeter Jail, and was recaptured after a short period at large. July, 1929—Man escaped from Parkhurst Prison, Isle of Wight. May, 1929—Man escaped from Strangeways Jail, Manchester. December, 1928—Young man escaped from Wormwood Scrubs. November, 1928—Two men escaped from Barlinnie Prison, Glasgow. September, 1928—Man escaped from Wandsworth Prison, and was recaptured after two months' liberty.

APPLE FRUIT FLY.

IMPORTATION FROM U.S.A. PROHIBITED.

The Department of Agriculture has made an Order restricting the importation of raw apples into the Free State from the United States of America. The Order prohibits the importation of such apples from the United States between the 7th July and the 15th November in any year unless the apples are accompanied by a certificate showing that they are of one of the following grades, as recognised by the United States Department of Agriculture:—For Barrel Apples—U.S. Fancy, U.S. (No. 1). For Boxed Apples—Extra Fancy, Fancy.

The Order has been made in consequence of the discovery of the apple fruit fly in consignments of apples imported into Great Britain from the United States of America, and with a view to preventing the introduction of this pest into the Saorstat.

GOSSIP FROM THE COURSE

AERIAL FLIGHT AGAIN.

FROM OUR TRAVELLING CORRESPONDENT.
BRIGHTON, Tuesday Night.

None of the racing here this afternoon rose above plating class, and the nine events were for the most part monotonous. The two chief races of the afternoon, the Brighton Autumn Cup and the Hove Nursery, were won respectively by Invermark and Ye Olde Leather Bottel, both of whom had made their last appearances in selling plates. These were the two races chosen for the new totalisator daily double, and one fortunate man picked the correct combination and took the whole, receiving £123 6s. for his half-sovereign investment.

When Invermark won a seller here last month W. Nightingall was able to buy him in for Mr. Richards for 145 guineas. He had since run unplaced in a seller, but to-day, after starting at 10 to 1, he made every yard of the running for the Cup, and won with great ease by two lengths from John Silver, who improved a good deal from the distance, but never really threatened danger to Invermark.

The old horse, who passed into the Epsom stable out of a selling race some five years ago, is now nine, and he retains his form extraordinarily well.

A HOT FAVOURITE BEATEN.

Mrs. Whitburn's Clove Hitch was a hot favourite for the Hove Nursery, but, after being in the lead at the distance, he died away, and finished in the ruck, while Ye Olde Leather Bottel drew right away and won by four lengths from Alexander the Great.

Another promoted plater to win in the course of the afternoon was Denison, a son of Soldennis, who, after winning a selling race at Hurst Park a month ago, was bought by Mr. Cottrill for 380 guineas. Mr. Cottrill's son rode him in the Preston Park Welter, and, drawing away in the straight, he won by six lengths and three lengths from Orange Tip and Lemonetta.

In the Palace Handicap Mr. E. A. Wigan's Ann Bridget was a strong favourite, but after being in the lead all the way she stopped in the last furlong, and was beaten a length and a half by Archimedes, a son of Wavelet's Boy, trained by Sones near Ascot for Mr. W. I. Waldron.

The Vencedor filly Aerial Flight, who had won at Windsor on Saturday, came on here to run for the Beach Maiden Plate, for which she started favourite, and which she won easily by two lengths and a half from the Aga Khan's Bibi Tella, a Blandford filly, who made the running for four furlongs, and Milltone.

THE SELLING RACES.

None of the selling races was interesting. The Aquarium Handicap fell to H. Smyth, the trainer of Ye Olde Leather Bottel, with Lonesome, a six-year-old gelding by Loch Lomond; and his brother Victor won the Hassocks Selling Nursery with Nahma, a little French-bred filly owned by Mr. V. P. Misa, who stuck it out very gamely under pressure to win by half a length from Tuscania.

For the third selling race, the Pier Handicap, Mr. Fred Phillips, of Newport, sent Paint Box all the way from Worcestershire, and the daughter of Tullyfoyle, won by a length from Marden, being sold after the race for 155 guineas.

The disqualification of Grizzly in favour of Adne in the last event was anticipated by everyone who watched the race closely.

SELECTIONS.

There should be good racing both at York and Gatwick to-morrow. Brumeux, a greatly-fancied candidate for the Cesarewitch, has not been sent north to run for the Rockingham Plate, and Richborough may not be ready yet. I choose Brumeux's stable companion OLETTA to repeat her success in the Prince Edward Handicap.

SIR ANDREW will be making an interesting reappearance in the Malton Plate, which he should win, while LIVID may atone for a defeat at Ayr by winning the Chesterfield Handicap.

At Gatwick I like best the chance of SYNOT in the Stayers' Handicap. LADY HAINE should win the Crawter Nursery, and POPOTTE II. the September Plate.

Kean, a four-year-old colt by Teddy, out of Sarah, trained by F. Pratt at Lambourn, has been destroyed, after being found unfit for further racing.

Not Under Starter's Orders.

While at the post for the Autumn Selling Handicap at Leicester yesterday, Gate Crasher got rid of his jockey, J. Dines, and bolted. The gelding did not come under the starter's orders.

Why Meredith Did Not Run.

Meredith was to have been saddled for the Leicestershire Handicap at Leicester yesterday. His owner, Mr. Somerville Tattersall, stated that the colt did not run because he was found to be coughing that morning.

Betting on the Cambridgeshire.

Lord Glanely's Grandmaster and Major Dixon's Tullycross were laid in the North yesterday for the Cambridgeshire. Tullycross is trained by S. Darling. Major Dixon also has Ballyferis in the race.

Death of Old-Time Jockey.

One more link with racing in the 'eighties and 'nineties has been severed by the death, in his eighty-second year, of "Billy" Daniels, an old-time steeplechase jockey, who won the Grand National in 1887 on Mr. E. Jay's Gamecock.

The Leicester Tote Double.

The races chosen for yesterday's double at Leicester were the third and fifth, and several backers took the winner of the third, Fore-Topsail, in combination with other horses. The success of Trochee in the Loughborough Handicap upset their calculations, and only one backer successfully coupled the two winners. The double worked out at £271 7s. to 10s., or just over 542 to 1.

Death of Racehorse Owner.

Mr. F. J. Benson, the banker and racehorse owner, whose death was announced yesterday, had been actively interested in racing for more than twenty years, and was also a keen hunting man. His colours were carried at Brighton yesterday afternoon by a two-year-old colt, L'Abbe Epais, in the Beach Maiden Plate. Although at the time of his death he had only eight horses, he had spent a lot of money on thoroughbreds, both before and immediately following the war, but his success as an owner was hardly commensurate with his enterprise and expenditure.

MULLINGAR.

A FAVOURITES' DAY.

TREBLE EVENT FOR MADDENSTOWN.

A WALK OVER.

The weather looked to have taken up yesterday morning, and as the special train left Broadstone for Mullingar the sun was shining. Before Mullingar was reached, however, the rain had come on again, and throughout the racing hours it poured down almost without cessation.

Owing to Acting Master being indulged with a walk-over for the three miles steeplechase, the card was reduced to five races, and backers were only once astray in their attempts to name the winner. Mr. J. J. Parkinson carried off the chief honours, and of the four horses he saddled three proved successful — namely, King Louis, Black Monday and Cointreau. King Louis had only Lark Lass and Jassiona in opposition for the Newbrook Plate, and the odds of 3 to 1 laid on Captain H. T. Musker's horse were landed in the easiest style. It was not so with Black Monday, who had to be ridden hard to dispose of Pucka Shikari. The pair was renewing their Tramore battle over the same distance of ground, and now Black Monday, though at a disadvantage of 6lb., confirmed the placings, but again it was a near thing, only a neck dividing them at the finish. Both are in the Irish Cesarewitch, and yesterday's win entails a 5lb. penalty for Black Monday, which brings her weight to 7st. 13lb., and she will be in receipt of only 4lb. from Pucka Shikari, as compared to 7lb. in yesterday's race.

MR. J. J. PARKINSON.

Carmenita was saddled for the Stand Steeplechase, instead of the Westmeath Plate, and so we were deprived of the opportunity of seeing the pair thrash out the much-debated point as to which should have won the three miles steeplechase at Naas, had not there been some interference at the finish. She was opposed by Initiation and Sea Fisher, and there were prospects of a fine race when the three raced together for nearly a mile and a half. At this stage Initiation made a bad mistake, which spoiled her chance, and Sea Fisher, who had been in the lead from the start, had no difficulty in holding Carmenita at bay when the latter delivered a challenge in the straight.

The Maddenstown Lodge sequence of wins was continued in the Lough Ennel Plate, when Cointreau, served by a quick beginning, led all the way to win in runaway fashion from Prudent Ross and Lonely Gypsy. All three of Mr. Parkinson's winners were ridden by different jockeys. Hopes were entertained that Sabre might add to the stable's successes by appropriating the Clonhugh Plate, but he was well beaten by Sir Thomas Dixon's Bwana, who thus gained her first win.

The catering for the meeting was carried out by Mrs. Lawlor, of Naas.

LIMERICK.

TO-DAY'S SELECTIONS

The renewed rivalry of East Galway and Bayview in the Limerick Handicap Steeplechase at Limerick to-day will be a most attractive item in a programme which promises to provide very fair racing. In the Galway Plate East Galway put up a smashing performance when, after overcoming untold difficulties, he beat the Southern-trained horse by three lengths. Bayview was short of a few gallops prior to that race, and now, meeting Mr. Shepherd's crack on 5lb. better terms, she may well turn the tables. Bayview was since beaten by Emly, to whom she was conceding 3st., whereas East Galway has not run. One cannot get away from the merit there was in East Galway's achievement at the Western meeting, and though there are possibilities about Cold Punch on some of his running the obvious choice for the race is

EAST GALWAY.

OLETTA'S GOOD CHANCE.

CARAQUETTE FOR THE CHESTERFIELD.

Although the York Autumn Meeting is not so attractive as the summer fixture, there will be some tip-top racing for the two-day gathering. The first day's card includes the Rockingham Handicap, which is a miniature Cesarewitch trial over one mile and seven furlongs. Gordon Richards will ride Oletta, who represents S. Darling in preference to Brumeux and Coligny II., and as Oletta is fresh from her recent success in the Prince Edward Handicap at Manchester she is certain to take a lot of beating. Richborough, who runs instead of Cap-a-Pie, comes well into the calculations on the form he showed when second to Bonny Boy II. in the Ascot Stakes, and Highbury is fancied to take advantage of some lenient handicapping. He has not won since the first week of the present season, but he can be relied upon to stay every yard of the distance, as he divided Servus and Jugo in the Great Metropolitan Stakes over the Epsom two-and-a-quarter miles last April. I prefer Oletta.

There will be a useful field of second-class youngsters in the Middleham Nursery, and the issue is fairly open. Pomme d'Argent failed only by a neck behind St. Koscie in the Prince of Wales's Nursery at Doncaster, following an easy victory at Lewes, and she is not overweighted with 8st. Venturer showed up well when third to Banned and Alexis at Doncaster, and Craig Bhan has a pull of only 4lb. on that running, and should again be safely held. Mots d'Or filly has an obvious chance on her recent form, but not more so than The Nile, who has an allowance of 2lb. for the short head Doncaster difference. I prefer Mots d'Or filly.

The Chesterfield Welter Handicap is another open sprint affair, and may be won by Caraquette, who won over the course last May.

YEARLINGS FROM BALLYLINCH STUD.

Eight yearlings, the property of Major Dermot McCalmont and Lady Helen McCalmont, yesterday left the Ballylinch Stud, Thomastown, Co. Kilkenny, where they were bred, for Chattis Hill, Stockbridge, to be trained by Mr. H. S. Persse. They include an own sister to Mr. Jinks, an own brother to Lampeto, a half-sister to Lindos Ojos and Empire Builder, a half-sister to Ojala, and a half-sister to Queen of the Nore, all of whom have earned much distinction. Mr. D. Ruttle, the stud groom, is going over this week to bring back Mr. Jinks, who will take up stud duties next season at Ballylinch. The following are the yearlings:—

Gr. filly by Spion Kop—Fourfold.
Ch. filly by Bachelor's Double—Dursilla.
B. filly by Bachelor's Double—Astraea.
B. filly by Tetratema—False Fiety.
Br. filly by Gainsborough—Queen's Double.

Ro. colt by Tetratema—Hesperia.

A NOD TAKEN FOR A BID.

There was a touch of comedy about the auction of Lonesome, the winner of the Aquarium Selling Handicap at Brighton yesterday, and unwittingly a racegoer became the technical owner of the winner for a few minutes, in spite of the fact that he had no intention of buying the gelding.

The winner had been entered to be sold for 50 sovs., and George Poole, the Lewes trainer, had bid 90 guineas when the auctioneer accepted from another man what he took as a bid of 100 guineas. Subsequently the man who was thought to have made the bid of 100 guineas explained that he was merely nodding to a friend, and was not bidding at all.

The matter was accordingly submitted to the Stewards, who ordered Lonesome to be submitted to auction again after the next race, when he was purchased by Mr. W. Hutchinson for 100 guineas.

GATWICK TO-DAY: PROBABLE STARTERS AND BETTING.

BOSS OF THE SHOW FOR CHIEF EVENT.

At Gatwick to-day the Crawter Nursery will take a lot of winning, but Lady Haine, who was backed down to a short price when failing at Doncaster, is well expected again, and it may pay to give her another chance.

The Stayers' Handicap is assigned to Boss of the Show, who ran Oletta to a head in the Prince Edward Handicap at Manchester; and in the Charlwood Handicap, over five furlongs, a chance is afforded to Canfield, who as a winner at Doncaster a fortnight ago is just about at his best. Heartsease appears to have a fairly easy task in the September Plate, which does not look as if it will take a lot of winning.

GREYHOUND RACING.

GOOD PERFORMANCE BY WINSOME AND WELL.

Backers of first favourites had a bad time last night at Harold's Cross Park, for not one of the last choices scored in a programme of seven events. The racing was, nevertheless highly interesting, and a large gathering witnessed the sport.

The best performance was that put up by Winsome and Well, who, in winning the Metropolitan Hurdle, came from behind his opponent, and, jumping cleverly, passed the line one and a half lengths to the good. Details:—

GOLF.

VETERAN'S FINE SUCCESS.

SANDY HERD IN THE SECOND ROUND.

BIG "PRO." TOURNAMENT.

The closing event in the professional fixtures of the year began with the final stages of the £1,040 tournament on the Oxhey course, near Watford, yesterday. This tournament stands in the calendar of the Professional Golfers' Association as virtually the British Professional Championship, and the men who had reached the major competition were representative of the strength of British professional golf. There were 64 of them, and they had reached this stage by their prowess in medal play in the various territorial competitions.

DUNCAN DEFEATED.

There were two dramatic surprises in the defeats of George Duncan and Ernest Whitcombe, each of whom had been first prize winner in the past. Duncan first became famous by his success in this tournament more than twenty years ago, and he won it in 1913. Duncan used his spoon for his second shots with characteristic accuracy against J. Seager, but the better known man's putter seemed to be unwieldy in his hand. Seager's success came as the result of delightful accuracy in the playing of chip shots. One typical instance at an important part of the match was at the sixth hole. Duncan had to hole out in two from five yards to win, and he could not do so. He turned four down to Seager. Duncan's resistance was futile afterwards.

Ernest Whitcombe went out also to a Leicestershire professional, P. F. Weston, of Birstall. To summarise the events in this game, Whitcombe struck one of those patches which have caused the downfall of golfers at least as great as himself.

SANDY HERD'S SUCCESS.

Sandy Herd achieved a surprising success. Now beyond sixty years of age, Herd, although sometimes out-driven, played brassie shots against the more youthful J. J. Taylor's irons with such effect as to justify a win. Archie Compston had little difficulty in disposing of A. H. Monk, an Eastern Counties golfer; but Henry Cotton had one of the best matches of the day before he beat Stewart Burns, a former Scottish champion. Abe Mitchell, last year's winner, gained one of the easiest victories of the day. He dominated the play in a one-sided match against the Western professional, C. H. Corlett, to win a string of holes for an 8 and 6 margin to qualify for the second round.

"BOBBY" JONES AGAIN.

NEW YORK, Tuesday.

"Bobby" Jones, with a second round of 73, again leads the field in the qualifying stage of the American Amateur Championship. He set a hot pace when he did the first nine holes in 36. He required 37 home, and his 73 gave him a total of 142.

Jones's total of 142 equalled the record for the qualifying competition in the championship. In 1924 D. C. Corkran, on the same course, created the record with that figure, and in 1927, at Minnakada, Jones equalled Corkran's figures. The missing of a seven feet putt on the last green prevented "Bobby" from beating the record. However, Jones won the medal by one stroke from Von Elm. Cyril Tolley took 38 for the first nine holes, and needed par figures for the last nine in order to qualify.

WALKER CUP PLAYER OUT.

Several prominent players had jeopardised their chances of qualifying for the match stages, and when the second of the two qualifying rounds were begun on the Ardmore course, Pennsylvania, the position was extraordinarily interesting. Roland Mackenzie, the American Walker Cup player, was definitely eliminated, when, after taking 43 for the first nine holes, he retired from the championship. Brigadier-General A. C. Critchley, one of the English golfers, played indifferently in the second round to-day, and, totalling 167, spoiled his chances of qualifying. E. Tipple, the twenty-one years old Britisher, had a round of 79, and aggregated 160. Harrison R. Johnston, the defending champion, retrieved his position after a very poor round of 83 yesterday with a second round score of 70.

VON ELM'S RETIREMENT FROM AMATEUR GOLF.

Von Elm announced at the conclusion of his round that he would retire from amateur golf at the end of the current championship. He said that he would not join the Professional Golfers' Association, or give lessons, but would accept prize money and face professionals on a common basis. "It cost me ten thousand dollars to play in amateur golf this year," said Von Elm, "and I can't afford to devote my income to the game, however fascinating." This means, of course, that Von Elm will not again appear in the American Walker Cup team against Britain.

DUKE OF YORK AS CAPTAIN.

PLANS FOR ST. ANDREWS TO-DAY

The Duke of York, after playing himself into the office of captaincy of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club at St. Andrews to-day, will return to his hotel for breakfast, and, at 10 o'clock, will set out in partnership with Lieutenant-Colonel Skene, his predecessor in office, to compete for the different awards. The Duke has been given a handicap of nine. He is on this mark in view of the fine form he has been showing on the links near Glamis Castle.

The old course at St. Andrews, following so much rain, is on the slow side; otherwise it is in perfect order. There are 177 entrants for the Royal Medal—three fewer than a year ago. The Royal Medal goes for the best scratch return, the Gold Medal for the next best score, and the Queensland Boomerang for the best return under handicap.

BOXING.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE COUNTY DUBLIN BOARD.

The annual convention of the County Dublin Board Irish Amateur Boxing Association was held last night at the headquarters of the Association, Emerald Chambers, Middle Abbey street, Dublin, Lieutenant D. Phelan, vice-chairman, presiding.

Prior to the convention the ordinary meeting of the Board was held, when the chief business was the consideration of a letter from Mr. J. J. Healy, the Chairman, who resigned at the previous meeting, and was requested to reconsider his decision. Mr. Healy now wrote that he regretted he could not reconsider his decision, as he found that he could not devote the time to a sport which he greatly loved.

The meeting accepted the resignation.

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

The Secretary, Mr. P. J. Kilcullen, in his annual report to the convention, stated that from an administrative point of view the Board enjoyed a very successful season. Permits were granted for sixteen tournaments. Financially, too, the season was successful.

There was, however, one cause for complaint, and that was the lack of support of some clubs. Week after week found precisely the same clubs represented at the meetings. Tournament after tournament found the same clubs supplying a majority of the boxers engaged.

The following officers were elected:—Chairman, Captain Harry Cannon; hon. secretary, Mr. P. J. Kilcullen (re-elected); hon. treasurer, Mr. W. Carroll, junior. Delegates to Leinster Provincial Council: Lieutenant D. Phelan, Mr. P. J. Kilcullen and Mr. J. Comerford.

Delegates to annual convention, in addition to the delegates directly representing the Board, a representative for each three clubs in the county is allowed, and to fill five vacancies under this regulation there were eight candidates nominated. On a ballot the following were elected:—Staff-Sergeant Drew (D.M.G.), Sergeant Savage (Islandbridge), Mr. J. P. Coleman (University College), Captain Gunn (Collins), Mr. C. Gallagher (Corinthian).

Representatives of the following clubs were present:—St. Andrews, Corinthian, University College, Dublin University, Islandbridge, Collins, Portobello, Dun Laoghaire, Avona, and Dépôt B.C.

A vote of thanks to the Press for the assistance given to amateur boxing was proposed by Lieutenant D. Phelan, and Mr. J. P. Coleman, seconding, said that the help given by the Press had much to do with the great success of the year past. Mr. Kilcullen, secretary, and other members associated themselves with the vote of thanks.

A vote of thanks to Mr. J. J. Healy, the late Chairman for his work during the year was unanimously passed.

NEW CLUB FOR WATERFORD.

At a largely attended representative meeting, presided over by the Mayor, at Waterford Town Hall, it was decided to start a boxing and athletic club and affiliate with the I.A.B.A. Chief Superintendent Leahy, Civic Guards, stated that an excellent gymnasium in the old military barracks, now occupied by the Garda, would be placed at the disposal of the club. The Mayor was elected President, Chief Superintendent Leahy, Dr. V. J. White, T.D.; Messrs. Peter O'Connor, solicitor; M. S. Breen, Richard Hearne and George A. Nolan, solicitor, Vice-Presidents; Sergeant McNeill, Civic Guards, hon. secretary; John Tierney, Provincial Bank, hon. treasurer, and representatives of various clubs in the city elected on the committee.

CUTHBERT BEATS BERESFORD.

Johnny Cuthbert (Sheffield), the British featherweight champion, easily defeated Roy Beresfrod (Burslem) in a fifteen rounds' contest at Manchester yesterday, the latter's seconds throwing the towel into the ring in the eighth round, after Beresford had twice been floored.

ANGLING.

WATERVILLE, COUNTY KERRY.

Weather conditions were very bad last week for angling, as most of the days were cold and stormy, with heavy rainfalls, but, in the circumstances, sport was fairly good. The Waterville and Inny rivers have done excellently this season, the salmon takes on both being the best for years. Results of salmon and sea trout takes from 13th to 19th inst. (inclusive) are:—Commander Pilkington-Woods, R.N., 6 salmon (four one day for his third time, making his total of salmon got since 1st August, 27); Mr. Harry Leader, 2 salmon, 11 sea trout; Mr. McCormick, 1 salmon, 9 sea trout; Mr. Davis, 2 salmon, 16 sea trout; Messrs. Daunt and Murdock, 16 sea trout; Messrs. W. T. Day and McKechnie (Cork), 27 sea trout; Professor P. T. O'Sullivan and Miss O'Sullivan (Cork), 39; Mr. F. Blake, solicitor (Cork), 40; General and Captain Russell, 14; Captain Cohen, 17; Colonel Knaggs, 11; Commander Atkins, 9; Dr. McDonnell, 10; Mr. Scott, 8; Dr. Pelly, 7; Mr Ashe (Dublin), 11; Mr. Ashe (Cork), 9; Mr. Mulligan (Dublin), 8; Mr. B. B. Hopkins, 6; Dr Jerry Murphy, 10; Mr. Thompson, 8; Mr. E. Lyons, 25; Colonel Mansfield, 3; Captain and Dr. McDougal, 6.

Mr. L. M. Kaye, 1 salmon, 1 peal and 9 sea trout; Major Churchyard, 11 sea trout; Major Arnold, 8; Mr. Elgar, 7; Mr. Wright, 10; Messrs. Stokoe, 17; Mr. Fagan, 8; Hon. Mrs. Captain Coke, 10; Mr. Dickenson, 5; Dr. McClure, 14; Miss Vere, 12; Captain Thomas, 10, and Rev. Mr. Armstrong, 13 sea trout (largest 3lb.).

NORTHERN RIVERS.

In the North the floods came in good time to sweep out the last of the flaxwater pollution, which does such harm at this time of the year if it be dry. Comparatively little damage was done this season. The Moy gave some very good salmon fishing lately, when it was in order, some thirty fish—mostly grilse—having been killed. Among the most successful anglers were:—Mr. Wright, Captain Landale and Mr. A. J. Walker. One day last week Mr. T. Y. Noore, fishing the Erne, killed six salmon and grilse from 6lb. to 14½lb.

On Lough Conn Mr. and Mrs. Morgan killed 169 trout in twenty angling days. Lough Conn holds a big head of sea trout, and the prospects would be very fine if the weather were more propitious.

SWIMMING.

GUINNESS S.C.

The newly-formed Guinness's Swimming Club (a branch of the Guinness's Athletic Union) will hold their first annual swimming gala at Iveagh Baths to-morrow evening at 7 o'clock. There are two open events—a 66 yards boys' handicap and an 88 yards men's handicap, and eight confined events. There will also be a water polo match.

THE QUEEN OF THE PACIFIC.

BIG MOTOR SHIP LAUNCHED AT BELFAST.

HIGHEST OUTPUT SINCE 1919.

Lady Kylsant launched from the East Yard of Messrs. Harland and Wolff, Ltd., Belfast, yesterday the Reina del Pacifico (Queen of the Pacific), a magnificent 17,300 ton motor passenger ship, built for the Pacific Steam Navigation Company, of which Lord Kylsant is chairman.

The following telegram was received from Lord Kylsant:—"In my unavoidable absence I desire to express my appreciation of the good work done by Messrs. Harland and Wolff on the new motor vessel, Reina del Pacifico, which is to be christened to-day by Lady Kylsant, and should prove a valuable addition to the fleet of the Pacific Steam Navigation Company, which company was incorporated by Royal Charter granted by Queen Victoria ninety years ago. I wish this four-screw passenger motor ship a long and successful career as the largest and fastest vessel ever employed in the mail service between this country and Chile, Peru and West Coast of South America."

Among those present at the launch were Mr. Wm. Lewis, general manager; Mr. Lee Wood, superintendent engineer; Captain Kelly, marine superintendent; Mr. McMeakin and Mr. Oxburgh, representing the owners, and Mr. F. E. Rebbeck, chairman, and Mr. Charles Payne, managing director of Messrs. Harland and Wolff, Ltd.

THE SHIP DESCRIBED.

An outstanding feature of the vessel is the propelling machinery, which consists of four sets of supercharged airless injection trunk piston Diesel engines of the Harland-B. and W. type, and may be said to represent the latest word in marine engineering practice. Apart, however, from the up-to-date type of motors, the ship is of exceptional interest on account of her size, the excellence of her passenger accommodation, and the fine modern lines upon which she is designed. Accommodation will be provided for 880 first, second and third-class passengers. As regards the design of the rooms generally, these in the main have been based on Spanish work of the Moresque and Colonial periods, thus retaining a continuity of design right through the ship, which adds greatly to the charm of the modern liner. The principal rooms are arranged on "E" deck, of which the grand hall, placed at the forward end, claims chief interest. Provision has been made for the fixing of a cinema screen at the forward end, and there is a polished oak parquet dancing floor in the centre of the room. Adjacent to the grand hall is the verandah promenade, and, on the port side, the long gallery, with the library and writing rooms. On the starboard side there is, first, the shop, with plenty of showcase space, and further aft on the same side is the gentlemen's library. The style of this room is reminiscent of work in England during the later part of the seventeenth century.

A special feature is a swimming pool. Electricity is used extensively thoughout the vessel, and a band repeater equipment for broadcasting the band and gramaphone records throughout the vessel is provided.

NINE MONTHS' OUTPUT.

The launch of the Reina del Pacifico completed the launching programme at the Belfast shipyards for the nine months, and the tonnage output for the period is the highest since 1919.

Twenty-one vessels were launched during the nine months, with a total tonnage of 138,000. The figures for the corresponding period last year were 14 vessels of 107,000 tons.

Another interesting event in Belfast shipbuilding circles yesterday was the preliminary trials of The Winchester Castle, the first of the pair of 20,000-ton motor passenger liners built by Messrs. Harland and Wolff for the Union-Castle Steamship Co., of which Lord Kylsant is also the chairman.

The Winchester Castle will return to Belfast towards the end of the week.

MAN SHOT DEAD IN MOTOR VAN.

A ROADSIDE CRIME.

Scotland Yard has been asked to take charge of the investigations, and Chief Inspector Berrett and Detective-Sergeant Harris left London yesterday afternoon for Nottingham. These two officers had charge of the investigations into the Gutteridge murder, which resulted in Browne and Kennedy being hanged.

A BAFFLING FEATURE.

The most baffling feature of the discovery is the manner in which the man met his death. The police, it is understood, discount the possibility of suicide. No weapon has been found, and it is known that Wilson had never been in possession of a firearm.

Was he the victim of a hold-up? If so, his assailant decamped without robbing him; for the money in his possession when found (£6) tallied exactly with the entries in a book he carried.

Another possibility is that he was accidentally shot by a sportsman in the vicinity, a theory which receives some support from the post-mortem examination, which revealed that the wounds were caused by a shotgun fired at close quarters, and not, as previously assumed, by revolver shots. Pellets were found in both wounds, and there were powder marks and burns near them.

A CASE OF MURDER.

Marks on the road indicated that the car took an irregular course before stopping on the grass verge. The brakes were fully applied.

A later message states that the police are definitely of the opinion that it is a case of murder. There were no bullet holes in the wind screen or side screens of the car, and the police believe that the assailant stood on the running board and pushed the gun under the flap of the side screen.

TEMPERANCE CAUSE.

IRISH BODY AND PROPOSED TRAFFIC BILL.

The monthly meeting of the Executive of the Irish Association for the Prevention of Intemperance was held in the boardroom, 4 Eustace street, Dublin, Mr. Frederick T. Eason, Chairman, presiding. There were also present:—The Rev. J. J. Kennedy, P.P.; the Rev. T. W. O'Ryan, P.P.; Mrs. Lindsay, Mrs. Eager, Miss Tisdall, and Messrs. J. Doyle and T. Harrison. Apologies for non-attendance were received from Mrs. R. White and Mr. W. R. Wigham. The minutes of last meeting were read and signed, and a report on the financial state of the Association was submitted.

Among matters considered at the meeting was the Government's decision with regard to the reduction of licences, and it is intended to take action in the matter. It is also intended to take action with regard to the proposed Traffic Bill, in so far as it deals with drivers of motor cars, etc., under the influence of alcohol.

The following were appointed to represent the Association at the annual meetings of the United Kingdom Alliance, to be held in Manchester on Wednesday, the 22nd October, 1930:—The Rev. T. W. O'Ryan, P.P.; Mrs. Eager and Mr. W. R. Wigham.

A letter was read from the Secretary of the Ulster Women's Christian Temperance Union, Derry, stating that during Derry Civic Week (7th-11th October, 1930) that body intends to hold a temperance window similar to that held in Dublin in June last, and asking for information and suggestions with regard to it.

GOLD PRODUCTION IN WALES.

INQUIRY INTO POSSIBLE DEVELOPMENTS.

The British Mines Department announces that the possibility of developing the production of gold and other minerals in Merionethshire has been referred to Mr. E. Shinwell, Secretary for Mines.

Mr. Shinwell has under consideration the position of the metalliferous mining industry generally, and though he is doubtful whether the Government itself will be able to take any action with a view to assisting the development of these industries, he has appointed Professor Henry Louis to hold a local inquiry. Professor Louis is President of the Iron and Steel Institute.

'BUS DESTROYED BY FIRE AT CLONMEL.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.
CLONMEL, Tuesday.

A 'bus was completely destroyed by fire in the early hours of this morning on the road near Kilheffernan, Kilsheelan, Clonmel.

The 'bus was being driven from Dublin to Messrs. O'Gorman Brothers' motor works in Clonmel for overhauling, when, nearing Kilheffernan, between 2 a.m. and 3 a.m., flames burst out under the driver's seat, due, it is thought, to a short circuit.

The driver immediately stopped the 'bus, sprang to the ground, and attempted to put out the flames with an extinguisher.

The flames, however, made such headway that before assistance could be secured the 'bus was completely destroyed. It burned for several hours.

THE UNEMPLOYMENT PROBLEM IN BRITAIN.

Miss Margaret Bondfield, British Minister for Labour, speaking in her constituency at Wallsend on Monday night, said that unemployment had enormously increased through new machinery and new powers superseding human labour. On top of that there had been the unforeseen collapse of the money markets of the world. The question of finding work was one of extreme difficulty.

Miss Bondfield suggested that the only possible solution of the problem was a reform of their methods of selling, so that prices in the markets of the world would be fair.

The Labour Government, she said, had done more effective practical work for the community as a whole than any Government of modern times. She could give no promise of immediate improvement in the present position, but said that they would do everything to bring about improvements.

FLOODING AT CLONTARF.

CORPORATION'S STEPS TO STOP IT.

Senator Alfred Byrne has received the following reply to a letter which he addressed to the Town Clerk of Dublin yesterday in reference to the recent flooding at Clontarf:—

The Town Clerk's Office,
City Hall, Dublin.
23rd September, 1930.

DEAR SENATOR,—

In reply to your letter of to-day's date, I have to inform you that owing to the flooding which took place last year at Marino, the Corporation have provided money in the present year's estimates to construct two storm culverts—one at Fairview and the other at the Malahide road end.

This work has been in hands for some time past and is expected to be finished within the next two months approximately.

It is anticipated that when these culverts are completed and in operation the flooding which has been experienced for some time in this neighbourhood will not recur.—Yours, faithfully,

(Signed) GERALD J. SHERLOCK,
Town Clerk.

Senator Alfred Byrne,
23 Dartmouth square, Dublin.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND NOTES

TONE AND COMMENT.

DUBLIN ERRATIC.

COATS FIRMER.

Slack and dismal markets were again reported from the other side, with more or less further concessions to be faced in prices, and little or no consistent investment support available; but in local things outside a few leading Securities, the prevailing trend was in some cases distinctly favourable. Quiet dealing conditions obtained for both British and Local Funds. Dublin Corporation New 5 per cent. (1950-70) Inscribed Stock still continues to appreciate, and the fact that the premium on the recent issue price is now no less than 5⅝ is not without significance. Banks were slack all day, with a few irregular changes. Guinness Ord. eased a trifle, but the Pref. were carried up further and now yield at present price just under 5 per cent on money invested. British and Irish Steam Pref. were quietly steady. Cables, etc., were reported again depressed from the other side, and the Pref. were also adversely affected. Dealing in Rails was limited, with mostly weaker prices on limited sale pressure in a market bare of support. Dublin United Tram issues were again stagnant. Alliance Gas was once more supported. There were many unfavourable movements in prices of leading counters in the Commercial and Industrial section, while among a few local securities the increased prices bid had no effect in bringing supplies on the market. Leading Tobaccos especially British-American issues, were again on sale and dull. Courtaulds shrank still further, and business could only be effected in Dunlop Rubbers, Imperial Chemicals and others at reduced levels. Coats Ord. were in request, and the price tended to recover from the previous day's dulness. Irish American Oil Pref. were harder, if anything, despite the fall in price of petrol. Irish Times Pref. were in demand at a higher level, but no shares offered, even at a considerable rise. Alex. Thom 4½ per cent. Debs. were bid up 2½ to 3 points over last marking, but, as usual, no supplies became available. Johnston Bakery Ord. were lifted to 55s.

LONDON WEAKER.

EXCITED DEALINGS IN UNITED MOLASSES.

Interest remained on a small scale in the London Stock markets generally yesterday, and in view of the continued lack of support the tendency was to depress values still further, the bulk of the list of movements recorded at the close again being against holders, many of the depreciations being of a substantial nature. The feature of the day was the excited dealings in United Molasses, which, following Monday's heavy loss, commenced at a still lower level, and in the course of the day touched as low at 23s. 9d. before rallying towards the end. Distillers also fell sharply on the proposed exchange of shares between the company and United Molasses, but they also rallied later in the day.

Rather easier conditions characterised the gilt-edged section at the outset, but subsequently some recovery took place, and for the most part the overnight levels were repeated. Foreign Government stocks, although remaining extremely quiet, displayed a firmer front. Chinese issues made ground smartly, and German Bonds rallied, but otherwise little alteration was shown. Home Rails presented a steadier appearance, though the few movements recorded were again adverse to holders. Among Colonial and Foreign Rails the Buenos Ayres issues went off afresh, and "Can. Pacs." dropped back 3 points to 186½. Dull conditions again characterised the Industrial sections, and with only a few exceptions price movements were against holders, many of them being of substantial proportions. Elsewhere Oil shares were depressed on the reduction in petrol prices, and Mines lost ground on the further reaction in the metal quotations.

Belfast Exchange was more active. War Fives changed hands at 103 13/16, 103 11/16, 103¾, 103⅞. Victory Bonds were done at 94 15/16. Nelson Steams fetched 99, and were marked 99 for business yesterday. Ulster Loans were done at 101½. A small lot of Northern Bank "A" Shares changed hands at 5¼. Belfast Corporation 5½ per cent. Stock repeated last price at 103. Great Northern Railway Stock was done at 20, and Great Southern of Ireland at 18. In Industrials, J. and P. Coats were done at 57s. 6d., and business yesterday at this price was recorded. British American Tobaccos were done at 5 3/16 and 5 3/16; Imperial Tobaccos 96s. 3d. Lever 20 per cent. Prefd. INDUSTRIAL MARKET.

DISTILLERS FLUCTUATE.

TRANS-ATLANTICS RALLY.

Another shock was administered to the Industrial Market yesterday in the passing of the interim dividend payment on the Ordinary shares of United Molasses. The effect was a further marking down of values, while the proposal for a partial exchange of shares between the company and Distillers was also reflected in price movements. A moderate rally, however, was witnessed later, when the tone generally seemed somewhat steadier.

After a doubtful opening, the trans-Atlantic favourites developed a steadier tone on supporting orders from the other side. Brazilian Traction Common improved from 34½ to 36, and Radio Corporations from 35¾ to 36⅞.

The Record leaders gave a mixed display. Both Columbia "Graphs" and "Gramos" (H.M.V.) changed hands freely, the latter dipping under 3 at one time. They eventually finished buyers in the late "street" market at 3 5/16 and 3 3/16 respectively, which left them slightly harder on the day.

Cables and Wireless stocks remained an uncertain market, the Preference closing at 72½, the "A" Ordinary at 23½, and the "B" Ordinary at 12, after being lower.

Some scattered selling occurred among Motors. Austin Ordinary reacted further to the extent of 1s. 3d. to 33s. 9d., and Leylands gave way 1s. to 58s. 6d.

For reasons stated, Distillers were marked down to 58s. 6d. at first, but later there was improvement to 60s. 6d., which, however, still left them with a net loss of 1s. Watney Deferred weakened to 57s., but the other Brewery issues closed steady. Batt Ratcliff hardened to 68s. 9d., Barclay Perkin's Ordinary to 27s. 6d., Guinness to 102s. 6d., and Meux's Ordinary to 37s. 6d.

There was again more interest taken in the Unilever issues, and buyers predominated in the afternoon, when the shares left off firm at 2 3/16, an improvement of 1/16. The new Ords. fluctuated somewhat sharply to finish better at 29s. 3d.

Rayons and Textiles remained on the dull side, though there were a few inquiries for Courtaulds towards the close at 2 3/16. American Celanese Common lost ⅜ at 2⅜, but Canadian Celanese were well maintained around 2¼. British Celanese Ord. dwindled to 7s. 9d. on fears regarding the forthcoming accounts.

Textiles moved within narrow limits throughout, being slightly easier where altered. Calico Printers sagged to 8s. 9d., Fine Spinners to 19s. 6d.

Hudson's Bays were sold in fair numbers in the Land and Investment group, and the shares were scaled down ⅛ to 3.

In the Banking section, National of New Zealand regained ⅛ to 5⅜. Of the Insurance issues, London Assurance recovered fractionally to 9⅝, the rest of the group losing ground.

Cunards held at 19s., but P. and O. Defd. yielded 1s. to 43s., and Furness Withys sagged to 33s. 3d.

At the outset dealers marked down United Molasses shares to 25s., and they subsequently changed hands on a large scale, bargains being recorded down to 23s. 9d. and up to 27s. 6d., the closing quotations being virtually unaltered. Imperial Chemicals attracted purchasers, especially in the later dealings, when the shares were run up to 20s. 7½d., a gain of 1s. on the day, while the Defd. improved a few pence to 5s. 9d.

Kreuger and Toll slipped back ¼ further to 26¼, and Swedish Match eased to 14½. Dunlops recovered to the overnight level of 10s. 7½d. after being easier.

RECENT ISSUE DEALINGS.

Edmundson's Electricity Corporation Debs. were in request up to 2¾ prem., and Kelly's Directories Debs. improved to 2¼ prem. Marks and Spencer Pref. continued to attract fair attention around 21s. 9d., the Debs. being a firm spot at 105.

CHEAPER OIL AFFECTS SHARE PRICES.

Having regard to the heavy tone which has characterised Oil Shares for some time, the market received the news of the cut of 2d per gallon in petrol with comparative calmness. Members assembled at quite an early hour, evidently anticipating that there would be a sharp fall in prices, and their fears proved well founded, quotations throughout the list being lowered, in some cases appreciably. The low levels to which the favourites fell attracted buyers, and an appreciable recovery took place, which was assisted by repurchases by "bears." Shells and Royal Dutch recovered, and eventually both shares registered improvements as a result of the day's business. Anglo-Persians, however, continued dull and further declined, and Burmahs closed lower. The Eagle issues suffered in common with other favourites, but made good initial losses. Among Venezuelans, V.O.C. were depressed in the morning, but buyers came forward later, and a good recovery took place. While price movements in other directions were mostly adverse, the losses were of small amount.

RUBBER SHARES IDLE.

Idle conditions continued in the Rubber Share Market, but the few alterations registered on the day were adverse to holders. Rather easier conditions also characterised the commodity section, spot and October closing no better than 3⅞d. per pound, while November finished at 3 15/16d. per pound, and December at 4d. per pound.

LONDON MINING MARKET QUIET.

SHARP RECOVERIES IN RHODESIANS.

Quiet conditions ruled in the Mining Share Market yesterday, but despite the continued paucity of interest, a slightly harder tone developed here and there. Kaffirs had a fairly steady appearance. In the early hours prices had been inclined to droop, but later they picked up, and in a good many instances early losses were wiped out. There were no actual gains on balance, but the shrinkages which numbered less than a dozen, were individually slight. The depression which prevailed on Monday, and which looked like continuing yesterday, induced some "bear" selling of certain Rhodesians. Later, however, when the general tone improved, the shorts who were never very certain of their position, hastened to retrace their steps, with the result that some sharp recoveries were witnessed, and on balance only about half-a-dozen changes could be recorded. Among Diamonds, De Beers Def., on more cheerful Paris advices rallied the turn. Jaggersfontein were also better, but De Beers Pref. weakened. Tin Shares weakened in the several directions, despite a rally in the metal quotation. The price of silver kept steady, but there was still some offering of Burma Corporation, which again weakened. Panama Corporation were marked down a little. Tigon were flat, but St. John Del Rey were a harder market.

DIVIDENDS AND REPORTS.

GALLAHER, LTD.—Interim dividend at the rate of 3 per cent. less tax in respect of the year ending the 31st December, 1930, payable on October 15. (First interim dividend.)

ARDATH'S GOOD YEAR.—An increase of over £240,000 in net profits is shown in the report of the Ardath Tobacco Co., Ltd., for the year to June 30 last. Net profits amounted to £715,174, against £471,441 in the previous year and £317,995 two years ago. The Ordinary Shares, which are privately held, receive a final dividend of 8 per cent., free of tax, making 12 per cent., tax free, for the year, against 5 per cent., tax free, in the two previous periods, the allocation to the reserve for modernisation of buildings and equipment is repeated at £25,000 (making £75,000), and while reserve receives £150,000 (making £450,000), against £200,000, the carry forward is substantially higher at £125,569, against £29,395 brought in.

BUENOS AYRES AND PACIFIC RAILWAY.—Final dividend of 4 per cent., less tax, making 7 per cent. for the year. (Same.)

BOOTS PURE DRUG.—Interim dividend at rate of 24 per cent. per annum, less tax, on Ord. shares for quarter. (As at this time last year.)

CARLTON SHOE.—Owing to the serious effects of the present industrial depression, the directors announce that they are unable to recommend the payment of the half-yearly dividend on the 560,000 5/- (12 per cent.) Cum. Pref. shares, due October 1. The dividend on these shares is paid to April last.

DIMBULA VALLEY (CEYLON) TEA CO.—Dividend of 3 per cent. on Preference for half-year ending 30th September, 1930, and an interim dividend of 12½ per cent. on Ordinary on account of the financial year ending 31st December, 1930, both less tax. (Same.)

EL ORO MINING AND RAILWAY CO.—In their report for the year to 30th June last, to be issued shortly, the directors will recommend the payment of a dividend of 10d. per share, less income tax. (Last year the dividend was 10d. per share net.)

GENERAL ACCIDENT FIRE AND LIFE ASSURANCE CORPORATION.—Interim dividend of 24 per cent. (6/- per share), less tax. (Last year 22 per cent.)

INDESTRUCTIBLE PAINT AND STANDARD VARNISH.—The directors have had before them the draft accounts of the company's operations for the six months ended 30th June, 1930, and has decided to pay on October 1st next, an interim dividend of 5 per cent., less income tax, on the Ordinary shares. Owing to the difficult prevailing conditions, the directors are not prepared to anticipate results for the current half-year, but, as far as can be foreseen, they do not at present see any reason why they should be materially different from those of last year, and, therefore, feel that it should be possible to maintain a similar rate of final dividend and bonus.

KOTA TINGGI (JOHORE) RUBBER.—The net profit for the year to March 31 last amounted to £9,353, as against £8,644 for the previous year. With £7,342 net brought in, there is an available balance of £16,695. The directors have decided not to recommend a dividend owing to the uncertain position of the industry and to the necessity of conserving the company's finances. They, therefore, propose to carry forward this balance. The dividend for 1928-29 was 7½ per cent.

MARARITI HIGH-SPEED CIRCULAR KNITTING MACHINES.—In their report for the year ended June 30 last the directors state that, after providing £995 for directors' fees and meeting all other expenses, the accounts show a loss of £2,861. It is further stated that the actual results already obtained from the agreements for exclusive licences should in the near future bring the company to the profit-earning stage. In the meantime, satisfactory arrangements have been made to meet the ordinary financial requirements of the company. The previous accounts covered the period April 26, 1928, to June 30, 1929, and showed a debit balance of £2,461, and the adverse balance now standing at profit and loss account amounts to £5,322. The auditors state that they are unable to express opinion as to the value of the company's investments of £138,827, or of the advance to a subsidiary company of £10,851, while other investment at cost of £5,453 showed a considerable depreciation as at date of the balance sheet.

QUALCAST, LTD.—A final dividend of 7½ per cent., less tax, making 12½ per cent., less tax, for the year, leaving £1,656 to be carried forward, against £13,309 brought in.

RIO DE JANEIRO CITY IMPROVEMENTS.—Interim dividend at rate of 7½ per cent. per annum, free of tax. (Same.)

UNITED MOLASSES.

Yesterday United Molasses shares were one of the most active counters in the Stock Exchange, following the directors' statement. Dealings began unusually early, and at a lower price, in accordance with the absence of an interim dividend, though this was not entirely unexpected. Afterwards the market was extremely erratic, the price fluctuating between a range of 1 5/16 and 1⅜; for there is a considerable amount of speculation in the shares, and probably there is now a large bear account. The general opinion of the position, as disclosed by the directors, is that the worst is now known, while the fact that such a strong undertaking as the Distillers Company has agreed to an exchange of shares is considered a bull point for United Molasses. It is to be noted, however that the price of Distillers shares was also marked down sharply, but probably the fall in both descriptions would not have been so pronounced had the general sentiment of the Stock Exchange been less pessimistic than it is at present. It is apparently assumed in some quarters that a fusion is proposed with the Distillers Company owing to the proposed exchange of shares. The official statement on this point might have been more explicit, but apparently the arrangements will only apply to the additional 375,000 shares of the United Molasses which it is proposed to issue.

LEGAL TENDER NOTE FUND.

The amount of Legal Tender Notes outstanding on September 20th was £7,026,026 10s., as compared with £7,052,798 10s. on September 13th. The amount issued during the week was £105,319 10s., and the amount redeemed £132,091 10s.

LIVERPOOL LOAN.

The Finance Committee of the City of Liverpool has decided to postpone any action with regard to the replacement of the Corporation 6 per cent. Loan, of which there is £4,040,000 in issue. The projected new loan, bearing interest at a lower rate, about which Sir Max Muspratt has been in negotiation with the Bank of England, will not, therefore, be offered, as expected, in the immediate future.

MEXICO AND TOURIST TRAFFIC.

The Federal Government of Mexico, desirous of aiding the development of tourist traffic, has passed a decree by means of which import duty is to be dispensed with for the next five years on all materials imported for the purpose of constructing, renovating and adapting buildings destined for hotels. In this grant are also included materials destined for sanitary installations, lighting equipment, heating and water connections and supplies, tapestry and diningroom equipment, with the exclusion of furniture. The only requirement necessary for the exemption is a bona fide certificate to the effect that the goods imported are destined for the precise purpose to which they are intended in conformity with the grant.

UNILEVER ACTIVITIES.

According to reports current in Paris mercantile circles, the Dutch Unilever concern has recently been in negotiation for the taking over of the French companies known as Etablissement Verminck, Huileries Valabretud and Huileries Darier. At present, it is said, there is a temporary lull in the negotiations, but these are to be resumed later.

A. REYROLLE AND CO.

A. Reyrolle and Co., electrical engineers, Hebburn-on-Tyne, proposes to increase the capital from £500,000 to £700,000 by the creation of 200,000 shares of £1 each.

WESTMINSTER BANK.

The directors of Westminster Bank, Ltd., announce, with much regret, that their chief general manager, Mr. John Rae, after a long and successful banking career, has intimated his desire to retire from the active management of the bank at the end of the present month. Mr. Rae filled many important positions in Parr's Bank, having been successively superintendent of branches, assistant general manager and joint general manager, and in 1920 he returned from Edinburgh—where for four years he had been treasurer of the Bank of Scotland—to assume the position of chief general manager of the Westminster Bank, with which the business of Parr's Bank had been merged two years previously. The directors note with satisfaction that Mr. Rae will retain his seat on the board of the bank, thus assuring to them the continuance of his wide knowledge and experience.

RAGALLA TEA ESTATES.—Interim dividend of 7½ per cent., less tax, on Ordinary, in respect of the year ending the 31st December, 1930. (Same.)

SAN PAULO COFFEE ESTATES.—The accounts of the San Paulo Coffee Estates Company, Ltd., for the year 1929 show a loss on the year's working of £53,393, as against a profit of £14,425 for 1928. A credit balance of £60,774 was brought in, and after deducting the loss, a credit of £7,381 remains to carry forward. In the previous year a dividend of 7 per cent. was paid on the Deferred Shares. The report states that the loss was due to the severe fall in the price of coffee, and that the downward trend continues. This, together with the long delay between despatch of coffee from the estates and its arrival at Santos, renders the future outlook very uncertain.

SAN PAULO BRAZILIAN RAILWAY CO.—Interim dividend on account of the year ending 31st December, 1930, of 2½ per cent., less tax, on the Five per Cent. Non-Cumulative Preference Stock, and 5 per cent. free of tax, on the Ordinary Stock. (Same.)

SOUTH WANARAJAH TEA ESTATES.—Interim dividend of 10 per cent., less tax, on Ordinary, in respect of the year ending 31st December, 1930. (Same.)

THE MONEY MARKET.

PLETHORA OF CREDIT.

Supplies of floating credit were again abundant in Lombard street, borrowers rarely paying more than 1¼ per cent. for fresh balances until to-day, while new money was offered before the close down to 1 per cent. One of the clearing banks was again willing to lend until October at 2 per cent.

The tendency in discounts was again easy in sympathy with money and the appreciation of sterling against the principal foreign currencies. For three months' bank bills the effective working rate was again 2 1/16 per cent., while the clearing banks, both November and December dates, at 2 per cent. The "hot" Treasuries began changing hands at 2 per cent.

Silver was a steadier market, prices remaining unchanged at 17d. per ounce for both spot and forward delivery. Gold remained at 85s. 0½d. per fine ounce. At the Bank of England yesterday £90,858 in bar gold was sold, and £10,000 in sovereigns exported.

The chief feature of the Foreign Exchange Market yesterday was the renewed weakness of the principal Continental currencies. Francs depreciated at one time to 123.81, but rallied, and were finally quoted at 123.78½, as compared with Monday's close of 123.77. The German rate rose sharply after the opening, and reached 20.42½, the highest rate touched since early this year. The final quotation of 20.41¼ was ⅛ pf. lower than the previous finish. Swiss francs cheapened by ⅜c. to 25.05⅜, and pesetas by 45c. to 45.10, but Italian lire appreciated by 2c. to 92.79. Among the Scandinavian exchanges the Norwegian rate fell by ⅛ ore to 18.16⅜, and the Danish rate by ⅛ ore to 18.16¼. Sterling on New York was practically unchanged on balance at 4.85 11/16, while Canadian dollars closed steady at 4.85⅛. Argentine dollars showed some improvement, the closing rate being 40 11/16, as against 40 5/16, and milreis advanced 1/16 to 5 5/16.

AUSTRALIAN WOOL SALES.

At yesterday's wool sale at Sydney 11,720 bales were offered, of which 10,778 were sold. Wool sold privately totalled 1,030 bales. There was an average selection. Competition was good for all lines of not less than average quality, which were chiefly taken by continental and Japanese representatives. Limited support was given by Yorkshire. Demand for broad quality and very burry lines was restricted. Greasy merinos made up to 16d., comebacks 10½d., and crossbreds 11¼d.

LONDON WOOL SALES.

Two catalogues were submitted totalling 11,779 bales, including 534 New South Wales, 3,918 Queensland, 1,366 Victorian, 675 South Australian, 118 West Australian, 4,988 New Zealand, 180 Cape. A good clearance was again effected and a steady tone governed the market, all desirable merino growths being readily taken by Continental houses, who also competed with Yorkshire buyers for cross-breds. Slipes experienced a rather quiet movement.

SCHOOLMISTRESS ON TRIAL.

ALLEGED NEGLECT OF CHILDREN.

The trial of Mrs Hilda Caroline Trimm Fearn, Principal of Merevale High School, Bickley, Kent, on charges of neglecting ten children, aged from five to nine years, was opened at the Old Bailey yesterday. It was alleged that Mrs. Fearn neglected the children in a manner likely to cause them unnecessary suffering or injury to their health.

Mr. Eustace Fulton, for the prosecution, said that a number of children were entrusted by their parents to the care of Mrs. Fearn at her school. The prosecution said broadly that Mrs. Fearn, having measles and ringworm in her school, because she was afraid that she might have to close the premises, and so suffer financial loss, minimised the symptoms of these diseases, and, by doing that, brought about the neglect of children in her care in a manner likely to cause unnecessary suffering and injury to their health.

The trial was adjourned until to-day, bail being allowed.

The show of blackfaced horny ewes constitutes a record at these sales. There is also a good entry of store wethers and lambs, as well as 50 rams and ram lambs of the various breeds.

It was decided that in future probationers who had been seriously ill, or who had met with a serious accident, should be admitted to the benefits of grants for afflictions.

The Pastoral Efficiency Committee met on Tuesday evening, the Rev. W. B. Lumley presiding. Business was introduced by the Rev. A. E. Carson, B.A. (Portrush). HORSES FED ON FOREIGN OATS.

KILDARE FARMERS' RESOLUTION.

The Lachagh (Kildare) branch of the Grain Growers' Association has adopted the following resolution:—

"That, as a protest against the use of foreign-grown oats, we resolve to refrain from attending any race meetings where horses trained on foreign oats are running;

"Further, we call upon all other branches of the Grain Growers' Association to adopt this resolution, and to furnish the headquarters with a list of training establishments in their areas where foreign oats, foreign hay, or foreign straw are used, so that suitable action be taken to put a stop to a practice that is creating so much unemployment on the land and driving tillage land to grass.

"No hunting will be allowed during the coming season without a permit, which will be issued to followers of the hunt who satisfy us that no foreign oats, hay or litter is used in their establishments.

"Further, we direct the Executive Committee to draw the attention of the Minister of Defence to the fact that the 160 military horses on the Curragh are being fed at the present time on foreign oats."

The resolution was ordered to be put before the Executive Committee of the Grain Growers' Association at the earliest date possible, with a strong appeal that it should be adopted as the general policy, and made operative in every parish where there is an acre of tillage.

The policy of the Grain Growers' Association in regard to oats, barley, malt, bacon, butter, and condensed milk was approved unanimously by the meeting.

TELEPHONE TEST.

BRITISH POST OFFICE'S £9,000,000 SURPLUS.

Mr. H. B. Lees-Smith, M.P., the British Postmaster-General, speaking at Denholme, Yorkshire, yesterday, said: "The commercial accounts of the Post Office for the last financial year are not yet complete, but it is clear that we shall make a handsome profit, and that the surplus will be over nine and a quarter million pounds, which is the largest surplus the records of the Post Office show."

The telephone service was conducted with both reliability and despatch, and could stand comparison with that of any country in the world.

"The telephone, of course, is by its very nature an annoying instrument. Five seconds on a telephone seems as long as five minutes on a racecourse. Your irritability with the telephone is a test of your own temperament as much as of the service."

LOCAL BODIES AND CONTRACTS.

THE POSITION IN THE FREE STATE.

MINISTER'S STATEMENT.

FROM OUR SPECIAL REPRESENTATIVE.

SLIGO, Tuesday.

The seventeenth annual conference of the Association of Municipal Authorities of Ireland opened to-day in the Town Hall, Sligo.

Mr. Frazer Brown, the Mayor, who presided, welcomed the delegates on behalf of the citizens of Sligo, and hoped that they would enjoy their stay in the town. They ought to have quick results to the matters discussed, as the Minister for Local Government was present.

AN ARMAGH CONTRACT.

A letter was read from the South of Ireland Asphalt Company, Ltd., drawing the attention of the Association to the controversy between that firm and the Armagh County Council. The latter stated that the Armagh County Council accepted a tender from a Northern firm, although the tender submitted by the South of Ireland Company was £426 lower.

Correspondence from the Northern Ministry of Home Affairs and the Armagh County Council showed that the Ministry allowed a margin of five per cent. in favour of Northern Ireland firms.

Mr. T. J. P. O'Hanrahan (Kilkenny) said that local authorities in Northern Ireland were empowered to give preference up to five per cent. to Northern firms when placing contracts. He thought that local authorities in the Free State should have the right to do the same.

MINISTER'S STATEMENT.

Mr. R. Mulcahy (Minister for Local Government in the Free State) said that there was nothing to prevent Free State authorities from giving a preference to Free State firms. The only thing required was that in cases where the lowest tender was not accepted, the auditor should be satisfied of a reasonable reason for not accepting the lowest tender. The Department were fully prepared at all times to give a reasonable preference to genuine Free State firms as against any outside competitor, but there were certain difficulties. Only the previous day he got a strong appeal against the proposal of a Southern local authority to accept an Irish contractor, although the tender was only 2.5 per cent. higher than an outside one. From that it would be seen that there should, first of all, be local agreement on such questions.

There was no law to compel a local authority to accept the lowest tender, and the Department were quite prepared to give reasonable preference to Free State firms against outside competitors, but the circumstances of every case must be considered individually.

RESOLUTION LOST.

Mr. O'Hanrahan proposed that the Minister for Local Government and Public Health be requested to permit local authorities to allow a preference of five per cent. in favour of contractors for public works who were bona fide ratepayers in the Free State.

Mr. John Connolly (Galway) seconded the resolution.

Mr. Maguire (Pembroke) said that he thought that the Minister should give a discretion to local authorities to give a reasonable preference to contractors in the Free State.

Mr. O'Sullivan (Pembroke) said that he thought that direct labour was the best method of road work, because it saved the middleman's cost.

Mr. J. A. O'Connell (Sligo), Mr. James Coburn, T.D. (Dundalk), and others spoke against the resolution.

Mr. Rochford (Dun Laoghaire) said that if they adopted the preference, young men going to England, Scotland, or Northern Ireland looking for work would not get it. They would be told that there was a preference against these countries in the Free State.

PUBLIC UTILITY SOCIETIES.

Mr. T. F. McGahon, in the course of a paper, spoke of the value of public utility societies as a help to the solution of the housing problem, and said that the State had done its part towards a solution by providing a subsidy, which went some way towards bridging the gulf between building costs and economic values. While the private builder had almost ceased to operate, the local housing authorities had done splendid service. Taking advantage of successive Acts of the Legislature, they had built thousands of houses, but even at the rate at which they had been put up the solving of the problem would take many years. There were reasons for fearing that the present policy of the central authorities seemed to be so insistent on a contribution of the rates approximately equal to the State subvention that it was questionable whether the local ratepayer would continue to put up this contribution. The problem of people only able to pay the rent of a small cottage or single room would remain to be dealt with by the local authorities, but for the class able to pay for accommodation the solution lay in self-help.

Mr. McGahon went on to explain the working of public utility societies under the model rules founded by the Dublin Civics Institute, and said that he had reason to know that the Minister for Local Government was keenly interested in such institutions, and any well-considered scheme would have his approval and assistance.

MONEY FOR BUILDING.

Commissioner Ford (Trim) suggested that the money for the erection of houses by utility societies should be obtained from approved societies under the Insurance Acts. They had the money available, and if they lent it to local authorities at a lesser rate of interest than was paid by the National Loan they would be assuring a smaller drain on their resources, because health and proper housing went hand in hand.

Mr. Lynch (Athy) said that there was grave danger in the Government interfering with the funds of such institutions as approved societies, even for the purpose of building houses.

Mr. Forsyth (Pembroke) said that the main problem was the housing of the poorer classes of people who were living in shocking houses in the cities and towns. The State's credit was high, the National Loan was on a par with the English Loan, and he did not think that there was any risk in interfering with funds wherever they were available.

BUILDING COSTS.

Mr. Coburn, T.D. (Dundalk), said that the first step necessary to reduce the cost of building was co-operation between labour and employers. The Government should also see that brick and cement works were established in the country.

Mr. Maguire (Pembroke) said that the problem could not be solved unless they got their factories going and so enable the people to pay the rents. In Pembroke they endeavoured to build houses for the poorer people so that they could be let at from 3s. 2d. to 4s. 2d. a week, but the Government vetoed the scheme. These people were going into bigger rented houses, but were being ejected because they could not pay the rents. If a scheme for cheaper houses was approved it would help in solving the slum problem.

Mr. Commissioner Ford expressed the hope that the Local Government Department would never approve of any local authority building a house of only three rooms. Such houses were a disgrace to civilisation.

Mr. Gavin (Westmeath) and Mr. Nagle (Kilrush) also pleaded for a policy for the erection of houses, the rents of which would not be beyond the reach of the worker.

THE SPIRIT OF SELF-HELP.

Mr. Mulcahy (Minister for Local Government) said that he was glad to have the opportunity of hearing the views of the delegates on the very important problem of housing. He agreed with Mr. McGahon that unless the spirit of self-help was more widely used throughout the country and amongst local authorities they were not going to solve the problem. Mr. McGahon had divided the people needing houses into two classes—those who could afford to pay economic rents and those who, because of small wages or intermittent employment, could not do so. The position, however, was not so simple, because up to the present no attempt had been made to divide the people needing houses in this way. He thought that the time had come when nearly all the money available for housing subsidies, if they were to solve the insanitary conditions under which a great many of the people lived, must be made available for this particular class. He was glad to hear voices from such widely separated districts as Pembroke, Westmeath and Kilrush even complain about their housing problem, because he had come to the conclusion that they were building houses of a much better class than the poorer people were able to pay for.

Mr. O'Sullivan (Pembroke)—The houses are not too good.

The Minister said that the rents were too heavy and above the resources of the workers, and if they saddled them with a rent that they were unable to pay, they were going to destroy them, because they could not hang a millstone around their necks. That would break their moral and their spirit. This year they had a conference on public health, and next year he was proposing to have a similar conference in Dublin, and he was anxious that a whole day should be given to a discussion on the question of housing, and that a day should be given to the question of child welfare, medical inspection of school children, etc.

THE ELECTIONS.

The following were elected Vice-Presidents: The Lord Mayor of Cork, the Mayor of Clonmel, Mrs. Kettle, Rathmines, and Mr. W. F. Cronin, Newry.

Mr. E. P. McCarron, Secretary, Department of Local Government, was present, and there was a large attendance of delegates.

SCENE OUTSIDE A DANCE HALL.

DISTRICT JUSTICE'S COMMENT.

In the Balbriggan District Court yesterday, George Robinson, Sutton, County Dublin, architect and builder, was charged with the larceny of a Morris Cowley motor car, valued at £100, the property of Mr. Henchy, Skerries, at The Tower, Skerries, on August 28 last; with damaging the car to the extent of £12 10s.; with being drunk while in charge of a motor car on the highway; with being found drunk on the highway, and with driving a motor car without being licensed to do so.

Richard Albert Coake, Cornfield, Balinasloe, Co. Galway, a farmer, was charged with the larceny of the same car, with damaging the car, and with using obscene and indecent language. The cases were taken together.

Superintendent O'Halloran prosecuted, and Mr. A. E. Bradley, solicitor, defended.

Mrs. Browne, Skerries, deposed that she was at the dance in the Tower, Skerries, on the night of August 27. About 2 or 2.30 o'clock in the morning she went outside and saw a car that she now knew to be Mr. Henchy's. There were four or five persons round the car, all in a drunken state. The defendant, Robinson, was lying over the radiator of the car. Cooke, whom she identified, and who was standing beside another car, which had drink in it, made a remark. Later at the barrack witness identified the defendants.

Mr. Bradley applied for a direction, stating that there was no evidence that his clients took the car.

The Justice said that he would accede to Mr. Bradley's request as far as the larceny charges were concerned, and he struck those out. In the other charges he found a prima facie case shown.

DEFENDANTS' DENIALS.

The defendant, Robinson, giving evidence, denied that he interfered with Mr. Henchy's car in any way. It was possible that while outside the hall he was standing against an other car, but he did not interfere with it.

Cross-examined—He was not so drunk that he could not remember what happened. He had his senses all the time. He did not know Mrs. Browne, and he could give no reason why she should give evidence against him.

The defendant Coake also denied that he interfered with Mr. Henchy's car, and swore positively that he did not address any insulting remarks to Mrs. Browne or anybody else.

Cross-examined, witness said that he did not drink, but the others went twice to a public-house and had drinks, and one of them brought back a bottle of port, which they drank in the car.

Justice Reddin said that as against the defendant Robinson he dismissed all the charges, save the charge of malicious damage and the charge of being drunk on the public highway. As against the defendant Coake he struck out all charges, save that of malicious damage and of using obscene language.

"I am satisfied," continued the Justice, "that both defendants are guilty of these two charges, and I can only characterise their escapade as a disgraceful one. It would seem to me that the proprietor of this ballroom ought to exclude gentlemen of the type of the two defendants; they are not an addition to the company or the reputation of any dance hall. This offence of removing motor cars from outside public places, restaurants, dance halls and the like, has hitherto been confined to the city, and I shall take steps to see that it does not develop out into the country."

Superintendent O'Halloran here interrupted to say that this was the third case of the kind that had occurred in Skerries within the past eighteen months.

The Justice, continuing, said that it would have been a much better course to have adopted for these young men to have made a clean breast of it.

THE FINES.

Robinson, in respect of the malicious damage, was convicted, fined £5, and ordered to pay £5 compensation and the costs of the prosecution, and for being drunk he was fined 20s. Coake, in respect of the malicious damage, was fined £5, ordered to pay £5 compensation and the costs of the prosecution, and in respect of his insulting remarks to Mrs. Browne he was fined 20s. The costs against the defendants amounted to £1 5s. each.

The Dublin Battalion, in its annual report, thanked the Dean of Christ Church Cathedral for welcoming the Girls' Brigade to Christ Church Cathedral for its annual Church Parade Service, and Canon E. H. Lewis-Crosby for setting the Scripture course. It reported that the Lewis-Crosby Challenge Shield had been won last session by the 12th Company (St. Catherine's); that the Grangegorman Cup and silver medals had been won by the 1st Company (Rutland square Presbyterian) and the bronze medals by the 12th Company (St. Catherine's).

At DUNGANNON grass seed market 1,527 bags were scaled and purchased in half an hour. Perennial realised from 14s. per cwt. downwards.

Rheumatism

"I have been using Kruschen Salts since 1919, soon after I came out of the Army. I suffered a lot from rheumatism. I am a gamekeeper by occupation, and at times I had rheumatism in my shoulders so severe I could not raise my gun to my shoulder. I also play a good deal of cricket and bowl a good bit. At times I could not bowl a ball. I tried everything in the way of outside application, but of no avail. So I was recommended to try Kruschen Salts, and I have been taking them for 11 years with great benefit. I am 52 years of age, and it's quite a common thing to hear someone say when I am fielding, 'That fellow must have had some Kruschen.'"

September 1, 1930. W. L. Oxon.

The Kruschen treatment for rheumatism is simple though soundly scientific. The six salts in Kruschen rid your blood and drive from your system those needle-pointed crystals of uric acid which settle in your joints and tissues, making them swell, torture and inflame. When the cause of your suffering is out of your body, there's no doubt about those anguishing aches going, too!

Free Trial Offer

If you have never tried Kruschen......try it NOW at our expense. We have distributed to chemists 100,000 special "GIANT" 1/9 packages, which makes it easy for you to prove our claims for yourself. Ask your chemist for the new "GIANT" 1/9 package.

This consists of our regular 1/9 bottle together with a separate trial bottle...sufficient for about one week. Open the trial bottle first. Put it to the test. And then, if not entirely convinced that Kruschen does everything we claim it to do, the regular bottle is still as good as new: take it back. The chemist is authorised to return your 1/9 immediately and without question. You have tried Kruschen free, at our expense. What could be fairer?
